SUPREME COURT DEFINES POWERS IN 'YARDS' CASE

Decision Significant in Its Basis.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—In a significant decision today the United States Supreme court established its power to protect citizens from arbitrary, tyrannical actions by the federal burocracy.

The decision was widely regarded as further evidence of the vigilance of the court, as at present constituted, to prevent dictatorship from gaining a foothold in this country.

The court affirmed its power in an opinion upholding Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's fixing of stockyards service charges under the packers and stockyards act, from which ruling the St. Joseph Stockyards company had appealed. The court held that the rates were not confiscatory and that the constitution had not been violated. It ordered the company's complaint dismissed.

Decision Written by Hughes.

Chief Justice Hughes wrote and delivered the opinion declaring the right of the court to pass on the facts supporting the secretary's ruling, a power which would enable the court to revoke a burocratic order if it should prove to be confiscatory or otherwise violative of the constitution. Concurring unreservedly were Associate Justices Sutherland, Van Devanter, Roberts, Butler, and McReynolds.

The court pointedly asserted the judicial power to pass on the validity of legislation when it said:

"Legislative declaration or finding is necessarily subject to the independent judicial review upon the facts and the law by courts of competent jurisdiction to the end that the constitution as the supreme law of the land may be maintained."

The agency to which congress delegates its power is no less subject to constitutional limitation than is congress, said the court. To deny the courts the power to interfere with unconstitutional acts would place constitutional rights "at the mercy of administrative officials" and seriously "impair the security inherent in our judicial safeguards."

Dissent on Jurisdiction.

Associate Justice Brandeis concurred in the dismissal of the company's complaint that the rates were confiscatory, but dissented from the majority opinion that the court had the right to review the facts on which the secretary based the rates. He contended that the court could not question the secretary's findings provided the secretary proceeded in accord with the law. Concurring with Justice Brandeis were Associate Justices Stone and Cardozo.

The decision therefore displayed again the division of the court between six conservatives and three liberals which has held in recent rulings on New Deal legislation.

Definition of Powers.

Under the majority opinion the court could protect the citizen from confiscatory rulings by the multiplying agencies to which congress has delegated vast powers. Under the minority opinion the court would be impotent to go behind the burocrat's act and determine whether it was reasonable.

A large crowd was on hand when the court convened after a recess, for it was generally expected that the decision of the Guffey coal act case would be forthcoming. The decision, however, did not come down. The next decision day will be next Monday.

In the stockyards case the District court had dismissed the complaint of the company, which then appealed from that decision. At the close of a 10,000 word opinion Chief Justice Hughes announced:

"We conclude that the appellant has failed to prove confiscation, and the decree of the District court is affirmed."

Examine Details of Operation.

In reaching this conclusion the court inquired closely into all the details of the operations of the stockyards company, the charges of services, the revenue obtained therefrom, the expenses, and the ultimate profits, which the court found were a little more than 7 per cent on the investment during the period under review, some six or seven years ago. If, as the company contends, rates have more recently ceased to yield a

ITALIANS MAKE THREAT TO BLOW UP ADDIS ABABA

Airman Warns City to Surrender.

ADDIS ABABA, April 27.—(AP)—A warning that the Italians would bomb and "destroy" Addis Ababa if their advance on the capital is resisted was made today in leaflets dropped from a Fascist airplane.

"Our mission is to occupy Addis Ababa and Ethiopia for civilization," said the leaflets, which were signed by the chief of staf of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, whose headquarters are now in Dessye.

"If Addis Ababa is delivered without resistance, we will not bomb it. Otherwise, we will destroy it all."

Warn Resistance Is Useless.

The leaflets urged Ethiopians to desert Emperor Haile Selassie and pledge allegiance to Italy. They warned that resistance was useless, asserting Italy already has captured the entire northern half of Ethiopia.

"We have destroyed Haile Selassie's armies and have occupied Dessye," said the leaflets. "Soon Harrar will be occupied.

"We are your friends. Make no resistance. Otherwise, the Italian forces will destroy all."

Reports Edge in Battle.

A communique from Ras Nasibu, commander of the southern Ethiopian army, which is defending the approaches to Harrar, said:

"In a recent battle we captured two tanks and brought down four airplanes near Sasa Baneh. Two Italian planes bombed Goba Bali province, using a great many incendiary bombs, and killed two Arabs and one Ethiopian."

Advance Guard Fights Foe.

WITH THE MOTORIZED ITALIAN COLUMN, 62 MILES SOUTH OF DESSYE IN NORTHERN ETHIOPIA, April 27.—(AP)—The advance guard of the motorized Italian column pushing toward Addis Ababa fought a swift, short fight today with a band of several hundred Ethiopian irregulars.

Fourteen Ethiopians were killed and many wounded by machine guns in the brisk engagement. The irregulars fled to the hills and the column proceeded undisturbed.

A second column of Askari [native] troops reported to the Fascist command it was going swiftly southward on another route, a short cut of the direct highway.

Press On Toward Capital.

ROME, April 27.—(AP)—Three Fascist columns, two of foot soldiers and the other of motor trucks, climbed steadily tonight toward the central Ethiopian plateau holding the capital city of Addis Ababa.

Italian press dispatches from the northern front disclosed two Eritrean columns have pushed far ahead of the long line of motorized convoys to clear the rough terrain of defenders and protect both flanks.

The advance guard was believed to be at least half way to Emperor Haile Selassie's seat of government.

The advance from Dessye to the capital is being made over some of the most rugged country in Ethiopia. The distance is officially listed as 262 miles. Other estimates give the distance as 175 miles.

Move on Sasa Baneh.

In the south the advance was reported being duplicated as another trio of Black Shirt armies converged on the strategic city of Sasa Baneh, Ethiopian stronghold and gateway to Harrar, second city of the Negus' kingdom.

One force struck at the city directly from the south after an engagement at the junction of the Fafan and Jerer rivers. The second moved eastward on the road to Bulaleh, and the third marched on Daggah Bur, 25 miles northeast.

The clash at the river fork, the Italian dispatches said, resulted in the loss of 1,000 men by the Ethiopians.

GAMBLING CASINO AT MONTE CARLO OMITS DIVIDEND

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

NICE, April 27.—For the second year in succession the Monte Carlo Casino company will pass its dividend at the annual board meeting to be held tomorrow.

Prospects for the future, it is admitted, also are not bright. With the depression, the luxury of gambling has been for most people the first essential economy and even the smaller gambler has become rarer. Economy measures in the casino will be proposed to stockholders, such as a reduction in the croupier staf and, above all, limitation of the participation of the casino in the expense of operation by the government of the principality.

The inhabitants of the principality are still tax free, but increases in gas and electricity rates and some charges for road upkeep, which formerly were borne by the casino, are now being passed on to the consumer.

The casino shares, which once were worth about $500 each, are now around $40.

LEAPS TO DEATH HOLDING COPY OF LORD'S PRAYER

With a penciled copy of the Lord's prayer in her pocketbook, Mrs. Edward O. Heymann, 42 years old, 108 South Kostner avenue, plunged to her death late yesterday from the 9th floor of the Mentor building, 41 South State street. Her body landed in a blind alley at the rear of the building.

There were no witnesses to the fall, but Policeman Adolph Weber found heel marks of a woman's shoe on a window sill at the 9th floor. In the woman's handbag, which was clasped in one hand, police found a piece of paper on which the prayer had been written, apparently in her own hand.

At Mrs. Heyman's home it was learned she planned to go to live with her newly married daughter, Mrs. Violet Vavrock, in a few days. Neighbors said Mrs. Heymann suffered a nervous breakdown six months ago.

The body was taken to the O'Regan undertaking room.

Reports Filipinos Suffering Hunger in Rice Shortage

MANILA, April 27.—(AP)—Widespread suffering from hunger among Filipinos of Pangasinan province due to the serious rice shortage was reported today by National Assemblyman Eugenio Perez. He reported that the situation was desperate. Typhoons destroyed and wrecked the rice crop in two successive seasons. To relieve the situation President Manuel Quezon authorized the new rice commission to import grain from China free of duty.

New Schools Head to 'Chop Out Red Tape'

Dr. William H. Johnson, who was elected superintendent of Chicago schools to succeed the late William J. Bogan last week, promised yesterday as the basic policy of his administration the best educational system Chicago is financially able to support. He spoke before the City club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

"I feel," he said, "that a school system can be good and helpful only in proportion to the service it is able to give the community. My job is to give Chicago the best possible educational advantages, yet at the same time the taxpayers must be considered. Of course, children are vitally more important than the dollar, but it's just plain good business to avoid building a bigger system than the city is able to pay for."

He announced that next Monday he will meet school administrative officers at the board of education offices "to take inventory, to find out how we can improve the system, and to formulate plans for next fall."

Plans to Speed Up Office.

Dr. Johnson said he plans to reorganize the downtown office, not by changing personnel, but by "eliminating red tape and learning whether we all understand our duties."

More speed is needed, he observed, in handling administrative matters at the board office.

In discussing his election last week Dr. Johnson said: "If strife has been the watchword of the superintendency of Chicago schools it might be a worth while experiment to try four years with the board and the superintendent working together.

"I am not a politician. It is unfortunate that I had to be involved during a political campaign, but since I took office as assistant superintendent last July not a single politician has ever entered my door or asked a favor.

The "I-Knew-Him-Whens."

"However, I am much happier to work with a politician who lays his cards on the table than with the sly members of the teaching staf who attempt to gain promotions because they are acquainted with me."

In responding to a question regarding restoration of the teachers' 23 per cent cut, Supt. Superintendent asked: "I wonder just how much the public worries about the teachers. I believe the board will restore the cuts."

Several representatives of teachers' organizations and one school board member, Mrs. William S. Hefferan, attended the meeting. Mrs. Hefferan, the only board member to vote against Johnson for superintendent, was originally scheduled to talk. At her suggestion the club invited Dr. Johnson.

WOMAN IN BABY RACE GIVES BIRTH TO HER 17TH CHILD IN 18 YRS.

TORONTO, April 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Arthur Hollis Timleck, who seeks the $500,000 prize in the Charles Vance Millar baby race, is the mother of a four pound, three ounce baby girl, her 17th child in 18 years, she announced today.

Millar left the money for the Toronto mother giving birth to the most babies in the 10 years following his death Oct. 31, 1926. Although the decision in the unique race comes this year there is still doubt about the winner as contenders have experienced still births, something Millar's will didn't mention.

Mrs. Timleck said her baby girl was "definitly the last." She displayed the birth certificates of 10 babies she claimed were born since the date of Millar's death.

Mrs. Matthew Kenny, who Feb. 3 became the mother of what she said was her 12th child since the Toronto lawyer and sportsman died, claims leadership in the "stork derby." The baby was stillborn. Mothers in the race who have had nine births since the freak will was made known are Mrs. Joseph Bagnato and Mrs. John Nagle. Those with eight are Mrs. Stefano Darrigo, Mrs. Ambrose Harrison and Mrs. Gus Graziano.

Mother, 44, Has 19th Child.

MOTHER OF FOUR GIVES BIRTH TO BOY ON A TRAIN

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—(AP)—Banner Blue Guttierrez slept in a hospital here tonight after his birth and christening today on the Wabash's "Banner Blue" limited between Chicago and St. Louis. A passenger, Dr. O. P. Hamilton, of Forrest, Ill., attended Mrs. Isabella Guttierrez, who, with four children and her mother, Mrs. Abraham Ozuna, was en route from Chicago to Houston, Tex., to rejoin her husband. The four children and Mrs. Ozuna continued to Houston tonight.

Three Illinois Towns Lashed by Wind; Homes Unroofed

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—(AP)—Strong wind and rain swept through the towns of Litchfield, Witt, and Nokomis late today, blowing down trees and wrecking some small buildings. At Litchfield one building was partially unroofed and skylights at two others were damaged. A church and several homes were unroofed at Witt. Windows of the high school at Nokomis were blown in.

Old Pop's Boy Splashes Into Bathtub Trial

That back scrubbing business in the home life of the Michael Farbers took somewhat of a back seat yesterday in the Circuit court of Judge Michael Feinberg where Mr. Farber, who is 30 years old, is suing for $25,000 on the ground that a 65 year old fellow got the 28 year old Mrs. Farber away from him.

The elderly fellow with the masculine wiles, according to Mr. Farber, is Charles E. Parker of Maywood, a bald and jovial ironworker known as "Pop" to the courtroom spectators. Mr. Parker, it appears by the evidence, was the one who had his back scrubbed.

All the parties also seem agreed that the one who did the scrubbing—which occurred in the bathroom of the Farber home in Norwood Park one July night of 1934—was Mrs. Farber herself [Georgia to her friends].

Where the Differences Begin.

The similarity in evidence ends at this point, however. Mr. Farber testified last Friday that he returned home that July night after a hard day in the mail order house where he is employed and to his surprise found his wife scrubbing the Parker back. Mrs. Farber and Mr. Parker maintained on the witness stand yesterday that the scrubbing was the result of a dare given to Mrs. Farber by Mr. Farber and was even applauded by Mr. Farber himself as a bit of good clean fun during a happy party in the Farber home.

Thus it will be seen there was no jack of detail about back scrubbing in Judge Feinberg's courtroom yesterday. But the high point of the day was reached during the afternoon when Mr. Parker's son, Charles S. Parker, 24 years old, a machinist, took the stand as a witness for his father, who in case it has not been mentioned before is the defendant in Mr. Farber's suit for alienation of his wife's affections.

Story of a Redheaded Boy.

The younger Parker is of sizable proportions. He has red hair and an infectious grin.

Under questioning by Attorney David Alswang, the Parker lawyer, he corroborated the description of the back scrubbing episode given by his father and Mrs. Farber.

Then he was cross-examined by Attorney Herman Aschin, counsel for Farber. Although young Parker did not detract from his father's experience as the bathtub scrubbee he testified that he had made several visits to Mrs. Farber after she left her husband in November of 1934. [Farber divorced his wife last February.]

Young Parker said that in August, 1935, he took Mrs. Farber and her two daughters, Mary Louise, 12 years old, and Gloria May, 7, to Eagle River, Wis., where they spent two weeks in a two room cottage. He had one of the rooms alone, he said. During the two weeks his father, who lived in another cottage, visited them once, he declared.

He Recalls Being Warned.

NEW DEAL COST $1,250 A FAMILY; MORE TO COME

G. O. P. Leader Hits Extravagance.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Debate in the house today on President Roosevelt's 803 million dollar tax bill grew heated, with a prospect that the Democrats will rush it through for passage by the end of the week. The debate brought forth from Republican Leader Bertrand Snell of New York the assertion that New Deal appropriations since March 4, 1933, will have amounted to 32 billions, 675 millions of dollars by the time congress adjourns.

"This means that the New Deal will have taken $1,250 from every family in the United States," he said. "And the money has been spent in a wasteful, extravagant manner. No sober minded man should vote for new taxes to further encourage this shameful extravagance."

Will Destroy "Little Fellow."

In his speech Representative Snell ripped into the measure hammer and tongs. No one has yet been able to predict the amount of revenue which the bill will produce, he declared. He charged that it would destroy many small and struggling business organizations and was "entirely in favor of the large corporation which already has an adequate surplus."

"It will create monopolies and place additional hardships on small organizations which have depleted their reserves during the depression," he asserted. "It will destroy for all time the backlog that business had at the beginning of this depression. It is a direct threat to employment."

Carry Fight to People.

After a special conference late tonight, the first such of the present session, the Republican minority of the house confessed the futility of trying to cope with the power of the White House and an overwhelming Democratic majority. The conference decided to carry to the people at the November elections the issues raised by the President's demand for 803 million dollars additional revenue.

For three hours the representatives, summoned by Minority Leader Snell, debated heatedly various methods of fighting the administration's measure which would place heavy penalties upon corporations seeking to withhold reserves from income to guard against emergencies.

"We finally agreed that the only effective opposition we could offer at present was to vote against it," Snell announced after the conference. "It would be foolish for us to think we could defeat the bill against the power of the administration and a 200 majority, or even to amend it.

Proven Policy vs. Experiments.

"It is a question to put squarely before the people. It is up to them to decide whether a tried policy of taxation, which has produced pretty good results over a period of 20 years, should be substituted for a purely experimental policy which discourages corporations from laying up a backlog for times of depression.

"If the people decide that thrift in business and saving for a rainy day is bad policy, then they can indorse the new taxes by their votes. I am confident that they will conclude otherwise."

General debate on the bill was virtually concluded today. The measure will be subject to amendments tomorrow and Wednesday, with its passage scheduled for Wednesday night or Thursday. It then goes to the senate, which already has started consideration of the proposed new taxes. Indications are that the bill will be completely rewritten in the senate as a result of the many defects brought out in the house debate.

La Follette for Income Tax Hike.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin Radical, served notice that he would press amendments to boost individual income and surtaxes when the bill comes up for consideration. His proposals include lowering of personal exemptions from $2,500 to $1,500 for married persons and from $1,000 to $800 for single persons; an increase in surtaxes on net incomes up to $50,000, and a boost from 4 to 6 per cent in the normal income levy.

The embarrassment of house leaders in their defense of the bill approached a state of panic today when the charge was made on the floor, and not answered, that chain stores are exempted in the measure from the heavy penalties on all other business concerns.

The same leaders, attacking what they termed "the menace of monopoly" by chain stores, have been backing the Patman-Robinson bill to curb trade practices through which, they claim, powerful trade groups exact price and service concessions which enable them to forestall legitimate competition.

Quick Turnover Saves "Chains."

Therefore, there was much confusion today when Representative John B. Hollister [Rep., O.] pointed out that the corporate income tax sponsored by the administration would not touch chain stores which operate on quick turnovers and stand in no need of big reserves. Such industries as those dealing in heavy, durable goods, on the other hand, which sometimes operate on two or three big contracts a year and need large reserves, would be severely handicapped, Hollister declared.

"The ridiculous feature of this corporation tax is that it attempts to put all these different businesses in the same straitjacket," Hollister commented.

Vinson Attempts a Reply.

This aroused Representative Fred M. Vinson [Dem., Ky.], one of the Democratic majority on the ways and means committee which drafted the bill, to a violent harangue in which he shouted: "You can't intimidate me!" but there was no denial of Hollister's interpretation of the bill's meaning.

Representative Vinson spent more than an hour today in an attempt to explain technicalities of the bill to members. They listened in growing bewilderment, Vinson's phraseology being fully as involved as that in the bill, which, according to one congressional wag, must have been written by Gertrude Stein.

Vinson apparently was aware that his explanations were somewhat confused, because he ordered the official stenographer not to allow the transcript of his talk to be made public until he had "revised" it.

PWA ENGINEER SUSPENDED FOR DELAYING LOAN

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Secretary Harold Ickes today said J. L. Vandiver, Nevada public works engineer, has been suspended, effective immediately, for violation of an administrative order.

An announcement from Ickes' office said:

"A letter has been written to Vandiver telling him of his suspension and instructing him to show cause why he violated administrative order No. 76 requiring the transmission of applications received in the field into Washington within 30 days."

Vandiver has held the Nevada post 2 years but never has been confirmed by the senate.

PWA officials refused to divulge the nature of the particular violation of which Vandiver was accused. It was learned elsewhere it had to do with an application filed with him by the city of Las Vegas for a loan and grant of $250,000 for a municipal light plant.

The application, it was reported, was filed with Vandiver Sept. 11, but was not received in Washington until late in February or in early March.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY IS SLAIN BY RIFLE IN MATE'S HANDS

Roland Jonason, 13 years old, was fatally wounded last evening when a .22 caliber rifle was accidentally discharged by his friend, Peter Castelli, 13 years old, in the home of Mrs. Mary East, postmistress of Highwood, at 40 Prairie avenue, in the suburb. The gun is owned by Mrs. East's son Lee, 13 years old, who was showing it to the other boys at the time of the accident. The wounded boy, a son of Peter Jonason, 230 Highwood avenue, was taken to the Highland Park hospital, where he died. Peter, who lives at 236 Highwood avenue, was held for the inquest. All three boys are freshmen at the Deerfield-Shields High school in Highland Park.

Brothers Parted 50 Years Hold Long Distance Chat

For the first time in fifty years William W. Mitchell, 61 years old, 418 Ridgeland avenue, Waukegan, and his brother, Robert Alexander Mitchell, of Portland, Ore., 58 years old, have talked with each other, it was learned yesterday. On William's birthday Sunday, his son, Russell, arranged a long distance telephone call with the brother, from whom he was separated when their father died. Russell Mitchell, who is assistant manager of the Waukegan telephone office, succeeded in locating his uncle through phone company records.

Provide Burial for Boy, Drowned in Quest of Food

Funeral services for Frank Vanik, 13 years old, 1620 Throop street, who drowned Saturday while fishing in an effort to provide food for his destitute family, will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Sacred Heart church. The Rev. James Walsh, pastor of the church, arranged for burial in St. Adalbert's cemetery at Niles. Daniel O'Regan, 425 Plymouth court, the undertaker, provided the casket, and Otto Wagner, owner of a livery service at 5348 West Chicago avenue, will supply the herse and funeral cars.

Leaps from Stalled Auto Ahead of Flyer; Then Faints

Mrs. John Ayers, 6789 Ogden avenue, Berwyn, was driving her automobile across the Burlington railroad tracks in East avenue in the suburb yesterday when her engine stalled. A crossing signal bell started ringing. Mrs. Ayers jumped from the car just before an eastbound flyer knocked the automobile off the tracks. Mrs. Ayers fainted, but was revived and walked home.

Deaths of Two Convicts Attributed to Suicide Pact

Marquette, Mich., April 27.—(AP)—Warden Walter F. Gries said today that the deaths of two life term inmates yesterday resulted from a suicide pact. The men were Edward Stewart, 54 years old, of Detroit, and Theodore McDermott, 50, of Lapeer. The warden said the men wrote a note saying "there was nothing in life for either of us," and then took poison.

WPA IS 'WASTING PUBLIC ASSETS,' ENGINEER AVERS

Harsh on Worker Morale, Says Leslie Johnston.

"The letters W P A stand for 'Wasting the People's Assets.' They signify the heaviest government extravagance. The Works Progress administration destroys the morale of the men it employs by subjecting them to political terrorism."

In these words Leslie M. Johnston, head of the department of public works of Pittsburgh, speaking here last night, assailed the New Deal's "unadulterated waste of public money." He addressed a meeting of the Western Society of Engineers in the auditorium of the Engineering building, 205 West Wacker drive.

With McNair at Washington.

Mr. Johnston accompanied Mayor William McNair of Pittsburgh when the militant executive appeared before the ways and means committee of the house at Washington, D. C., on March 31. Both men, who are Democrats, were invited to address the committee at the hearings on the proposed bill to levy heavy taxes on surplus earnings of corporations. The committee became angry when Mayor McNair attacked the bill and the waste of public funds and would have ejected him if he had not walked out.

"When I talked before the committee," Johnston related, "I said that half of the federal money sent into the state of Pennsylvania was wasted. They didn't like that.

Assails Committee Methods.

"No one has a Chinaman's chance before the congressional committees. They don't let you talk if they don't like your answers. I asked them to imagine the situation that would have occurred in Pittsburgh after the floods last month if the surplus earnings of that city's corporations were taxed. Business would never have been able to rebuild after the tragedy."

Johnston, who was appointed head of the department of public works in Pittsburgh in 1934 by Mayor McNair, said the city was paying the federal government $100,000,000 in taxes each year and therefore the city is "not averse to getting $20,000,000 of that amount back for federal projects if we are allowed to help plan the projects and avoid waste."

The Individual Is Ignored.

"Under the WPA," he declared, "a man can't get work unless he goes on relief. He must make himself a pauper and take work he is not fitted for. Nothing is done to increase his earning power or improve his morale—that is the great tragedy.

"Political terrorism in the WPA is so outrageous that it can hardly be believed.

"We discovered in Pittsburgh that in order to get work on government projects a man had to register as a Democrat. But most of those men aren't going to vote as they registered. The nation can't be bought in this way, it will not countenance this dastardly political crime.

Explains Heavy Relief Load.

"Why are there still so many people on relief? Because those people who have gone back to work in private enterprise realize they can shift the burden of nonworking members of their families from themselves to the government.

"I voted for Roosevelt in 1932, but I have reformed, recanted, and reregistered."

JONES OFFERS AID TO WPA GOLF PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Plans of the Works Progress administration to finance the building or improvement of 600 municipal golf courses were revealed today when Bobby Jones offered his services as an expert adviser.

The exact number to be built and the number to be remodeled will depend, WPA officials said, upon the desires of communities in which municipal golf courses are located. The WPA has no specific schedule of courses that are to receive attention, but is prepared to extend aid to municipalities desiring it.

Jones discussed the project with Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator. He gave the idea his enthusiastic indorsement.

"It will go a long way toward reducing the costs of the game for the average person," Jones said. "That is what is needed to popularize golf."

Two Parolees Sentenced to Cell, One for Assault

Frank Kallis, 35 years old, 2101 Marmora avenue, a paroled convict, was sentenced yesterday to one year in the Bridewell on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court. Arthur Miller, 28 years old, 7136 North Hilldale avenue, also a paroled convict, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail on a charge of reckless driving by Judge Eugene L. McGarry in the Safety court.

SEE ROOSEVELT TRYING TO EVADE BLAME FOR DEBT

Philadelphia, Pa., April 27.—[Special.]—James P. Warburg, former treasury financial adviser, recommended tonight that the federal budget be balanced by broadening the base of the income tax "so that governmental economy will become popular and governmental extravagance unpopular."

He told members of the Union league "at least half of the money now on relief is wasted."

Warburg said it was quite clear that President Roosevelt had no intention of balancing the national budget at this time.

"It is equally clear," Warburg added, "that the President does not fancy his rôle of the greatest peace time spender of borrowed money in our history. He knows his fiscal record is one of the weakest spots in his armor, because the country as a whole has given ample evidence that it fears a continuation of reckless extravagance and resents the political capitalization of distress.

"He would like very much to have people believe that his record of piling up some twelve billion dollars of deficits is due to unforeseen circumstances."

RUSSIAN COUPLES WITHOUT BABIES MUST PAY A TAX

MOSCOW, April 27.—(AP)—The increasing importance which the soviet union is attaching to the raising of families was shown tonight in an announcement that new laws were being drawn up to curb childless marriages and to extend financial responsibility for children's upkeep to bachelors.

The laws will set up a special tax for single men and childless couples, will provide state financial aid for families with many children and will put a tax on divorces. The taxes will be graduated to conform to incomes.

Regulations also will be enacted to prohibit abortions except where they are demanded in the interests of health. This is a reversal of the former soviet viewpoint which facilitated such operations.

Aaron Soltz, chairman of the Supreme court and member of the committee framing the new laws, asserted they were necessary to give the soviet union more people.

TELLS FAMILY TO PRAY, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Arvid Jepson, 45 years old, a Works Progress administration worker, sat down to read the newspaper last night in his home at 3021 North Clark street, after the evening meal. Sitting near him were his wife, Mamie, and their four children, Verma, 20 years old, Jeanette, 10, Betty, 8, and Leonard, 3.

Jepson glanced up from his reading and suddenly announced: "We will all kneel down and pray." His wife asked for a reason. Without replying Jepson drew a revolver and shot himself in the head. He died a short while later in the Illinois Masonic hospital. Mrs. Jepson told Lieut. Henry Hanson that her husband had been worrying over money matters.

U. S. BUSINESS SCORES THREAT TO DEMOCRACY

Socialism Under New Deal Termed Perilous.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Criticism of the socialistic schemes and continued squandering of the New Deal tinged with fears for the future of American democracy marked the opening here today of the 24th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Underlying this sentiment was unmasked censure for President Roosevelt's remarks in his recent relief message in which he threatened industry with more government control unless it arbitrarily expands employment. The predominant feeling among the delegates was that employment would skyrocket if the administration would leave business alone.

Plan Survey Committee.

Without mentioning the President by name or his reëmployment mandate, the chamber's board of directors authorized the appointment of a special committee to survey the situation to determine what measures could be taken to absorb employables now without jobs. The committee will be named after the convention.

John W. O'Leary of Chicago, president of the Machinery and Allied Products institute, urged the action. He declared it was useless to blame any one or any group for unemployment or to expect to force reëmployment.

Roosevelt Ignores Parley.

The President coolly ignored the gathering of more than 2,000 leaders of business from all parts of the nation. Mr. Roosevelt sent neither a greeting nor a message to the assemblage.

This coolness, at times mixed with open friction, has existed since business first had the temerity to question some of the New Deal acts. Last year when the chamber sent Mr. Roosevelt a questionnaire on policies he refused to answer the queries, dismissing them with the wisecrack that they were similar to asking a man whether he had stopped beating his wife.

Philip J. Fay, vice president of the chamber, and well known insurance man of San Francisco, struck the keynote at today's opening session. He charged that New Deal actions had crippled and retarded business rather than helped it toward a revival.

Holds Schemes Curb Trade.

"I submit that no man who himself has any practical acquaintance with business processes and methods and who is not utterly blinded by partisan political considerations," asserted Mr. Fay, "can examine the securities act, the stock exchange act, the successive revenue acts of recent years, the social security act, the utilities act, the Tennessee Valley authority act, and many of the arbitrary regulations devised under a dozen other recent acts and arrive at any verdict other than that they cripple and retard business rather than help and revive it.

"The fact is so clear that it is hard to keep from wondering if such a result were not actually intended."

The paramount task of business, Mr. Fay declared, was to foster the development of a wider popular understanding of American political, economic and social institutions; in short, to make "the voice of business heard above the babble of demagogs."

Cites Mandate of Business.

"The need which becomes the clear mandate to business organizations," he said, "is to help the American people to see, not only that we have been drifting away from American institutions and traditions in recent years, but, even more important, to see that those institutions and traditions were right in the first place and upon their preservation rests the well being of every American citizen and the hopes of future happiness of every American family.

"Too long have we introduced carelessly into the stream of our national life alien philosophies of government control and foreign ideas of repression of the individual that have no place in this land of freedom.

"It is time to rout them out. It is time for all of us to realize that we want and intend to have for our own and later generations the American pattern of life and the American freedom of opportunity which these foreign ideas and theories and plans have been shouldering out of the picture.

Takes Utilities as Examples.

"Too long have we remained silent while demagogs attacked unfairly the integrity of our business institutions and business processes. Too long have we allowed men, intent only upon the political benefit of the moment, to go unchallenged in their muckracking of American business and in their efforts to make isolated instances of dishonesty seem to be typical of the whole."

Mr. Fay took as an example the public utility companies as "fair game for every political opportunist who wants to take a whack at them."

"Cannot the average American—and I have implicit faith in his fairness when he knows the facts—" he continued, "be made to see that the amount he spends every month for electric light and for the power to run a half dozen magic devices that save the labor of himself and his wife is but a pittance alongside such items as rent, food, clothing, and the luxuries which he and his family buy without a second thought?

Points to Public Jobs.

"Certainly his electric bill is a trifle alongside the taxes levied to finance the activities of those who in many instances get public jobs only on the strength of destructive attacks upon the electric industry which is serving the average man so cheaply."

Power in the United States has shifted, Mr. Fay pointed out, from groups of party leaders, bound together by a common platform, to the hands of persuasive individuals—whether in or out of public office—who can attract a personal following for a distinctive personal creed or formula, who browbeat elective officers by organizing high pressure blocs intent on a single issue only, and who gain attention to their views by the sheer force of the number of voters who can be rallied emotionally to their standards.

This has resulted, he declared, in a condition in which decisions of national policy are controled by the volume of clamor at a given moment rather than by wise judgment or experience.

"We have seen this process illustrated all too eloquently in the swift rise to prominence and positions of such movements as the share-the-wealth, the Townsend Old Age pension drive, the veterans' efforts to coerce payment of the bonus, and the agricultural and labor campaigns for class preferences, to say nothing of our own EPIC movement in California," said Mr. Fay.

Urges Positive Action.

In urging the board of directors to create a committee on reëmployment Mr. O'Leary declared that action must be positive rather than negative.

"We realize that there is not just one unemployment problem and that the solution is not in one prescription, but in many, to meet widely different conditions," asserted Mr. O'Leary. "Action must be positive, not negative—that is, it must provide for creation of new wealth and new jobs to furnish the unemployed with income.

"One of the most important requisites of an intelligent approach to unemployment problems is knowledge of the specific places where employment has declined and where it can be increased. What we need is a broad national survey of reëmployment possibilities.

Would Measure Possibilities.

"Business and industry, through chambers of commerce, trade associations and individual merchants, stores, services, professions throughout the country, can determine our reëmployment possibilities with a degree of accuracy which cannot be equaled in any other way. We should proceed to piece together the many threads of information and then make available to all a concentrated exhaustive knowledge of reëmployment possibilities.

"We all know that no individual or group caused the present unemployment; nor is any one desiring that it should continue. Every individual knows that his own welfare is bound up with the welfare of the entire nation. Most of our problems could be solved much easier and more intelligently if each of us recognized that the other feels the same way about it.

O'Leary Asks Understanding.

"It is useless to blame any one or any group for unemployment, or to expect to force reëmployment. We must understand each other and our problems and coöperate in achieving reëmployment."

O'Leary will preside tomorrow afternoon at a special round table conference on problems of increasing employment.

The state of Illinois sent a delegation of widely known business and professional leaders to the convention. Among them were Silas Strawn, Chicago attorney and former president of the chamber, and R. E. Wantz, Rockford manufacturer and former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. Sterling Morton of Chicago, secretary of the Morton Salt company, is a candidate for membership on the board of directors of the chamber.

REFUSES TO CUT BAIL FOR JOHN TORRIO IN FEDERAL TAX CASE

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, who said a bail jumper once embarrassed him, refused today to free John Torrio on a writ of habeas corpus or trim his $100,000 bail on tax evasion charges.

His counsel said Torrio, who is accused by the government of having failed to pay taxes in huge liquor operations, operated a legitimate liquor business for four years and sold out. Government attorneys told the court Torrio hadn't sold out until agents began to investigate him.

In reply to representations that Torrio was a substantial real estate holder and hence would not flee bail bond, prosecutors said the real estate was held in many names—but not in Torrio's. They said two witnesses in a Rhode Island liquor case, in which Torrio was described as an associate of the principal defendant, were missing and that one's body had been found.

ABANDON HOPE FOR KING OF EGYPT; KIN CALLED TO BEDSIDE

CAIRO, April 27.—(AP)—Premier Ali Pasha Maher, announced tonight hope for King Fuad, seriously ill with a mouth and throat infection, had been practically abandoned. The premier, who remained at the palace throughout the day, said gangrene was spreading and had reached the monarch's throat.

The king's condition became worse during the night, the royal physicians said in a bulletin. Circulatory troubles increased with the spread of infection.

King Fuad has taken no food for more than four days and he was reported to have fallen into a coma. The royal family was summoned to his bedside. The premier announced Crown Prince Farouk has been recalled from London, where he has been studying. He is returning by train and boat.

OTHERS SOUGHT IN KIDNAP CASE OF PAUL WENDEL

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Evidence already assembled in the case of Paul H. Wendel, who claims to have been kidnaped and tortured into confessing to the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., involves four or five and perhaps six additional persons, District Attorney Geoghan of Kings county said today.

Five men, including Ellis H. Parker Jr., son of the chief of Burlington county detectives, already have been indicted, although three, including Parker, are still fugitives.

Mr. Geoghan said that some of those who may be brought into the case are New Jersey officials, although he pointed out that he was "not saying" they were elected officials.

At the same time a hint that "something might happen at any time" came from Wendel, who has been spending most of his time in the district attorney's office. Without elaborating, he said that a "bombshell" was about to be dropped into the case.

PIQUETT LOSES APPEAL; MUST GO TO PRISON

Supreme Court Rules Out Double Jeopardy Plea.

The United States Supreme court yesterday denied the appeal of Attorney Louis Piquett from a sentence of two years in the penitentiary and a $10,000 fine imposed upon him by the federal District court here for conspiracy to harbor Homer Van Meter, henchman of John Dillinger.

On the plea that he was acting legitimately as Dillinger's attorney, Piquett was acquitted more than a year ago of concealing the outlaw chief himself. He was tried and convicted later in the Van Meter case. Piquett's chief point in his appeal to upset this conviction was that he was found guilty on the same facts as in the Dillinger case, therefore, he was put in jeopardy twice for the same crime. The Supreme court in its ruling yesterday rejected this plea.

Expected to Depart May 8.

No petition for a rehearing on the ruling is planned, however, according to Piquett's counsel, and the gang lawyer, who was city prosecutor under a former Republican mayor, is expected to leave Chicago on May 8 for a federal prison. He is now free on $10,000 appeal bill.

Attorney Piquett was arrested in the fall of 1934 after Arthur O'Leary, previously an investigator for him, told federal officers that Piquett engaged two surgeons to alter the features and finger tips of Dillinger and Van Meter so that they might escape detection. Despite these operations both outlaws eventually were found and slain.

First Tried for Dillinger Tieup.

The two surgeons, Dr. William Loeser and Dr. Harold Cassidy, admitted the plot at once and joined O'Leary in testifying against Piquett. The doctors and the investigator received light sentences.

Piquett, tried at first on a charge of harboring Dillinger, convinced a jury that he was merely acting as the gang chief's attorney and was at the moment endeavoring to arrange for Dillinger to surrender. In fact, he said, he met Dillinger in Chicago the day after the killer escaped from the jail in Crown Point, Ind., on March 3, 1934.

Before Bar in Similar Case.

In January, 1935, the government brought Piquett to trial again for conspiring to conceal Van Meter. The prosecution charged his relations with the gangsters were not to aid justice but to frustrate it. The government introduced testimony that the gang attorney got a $10,000 fee for arranging the face lifting operations. The jury voted guilty.

Piquett appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals, then to the Supreme court, alleging he had been placed in double jeopardy; had been refused permission to disprove the testimony of self-styled accomplices about the $10,000 fee; and had been denied the constitutional right of keeping evidence on the record that he was acting all the time as attorney for Van Meter.

Born 52 years ago in Wisconsin, Louis Piquett came to Chicago and got jobs in west side saloons as a bartender. He studied law and busied himself in politics, obtaining in 1920 the post of city prosecutor.

Arrest Escaped St. Charles Inmate and Pal as Bandits

The Chicago Lawn police announced yesterday that they had solved at least 15 recent robberies with the arrest of two young men with police records and a bartender who admitted that he took care of their pistols. The alleged robbers are Rudolph Holecek, 20 years old, 3930 West 66th street, who escaped from the St. Charles School for Boys last September and who is on a Criminal court probation for robbery, and Thomas Pulaski, 21 years old, 3928 West 66th street, who has previously been arrested as a thief. The bartender is John Shannon, 34 years old, who was employed in a tavern at 1034 West 69th street.

Two Women Are Convicted in Oldest Vote Fraud Case

Two women who served as polls judges in the 48th precinct of the 27th ward in the primary of April 10, 1934, were found guilty of contempt of court by County Judge Jarecki yesterday. The judge postponed sentence until Friday. It was the oldest election fraud case on his docket. The women are Mrs. Mercedes E. Tuttle, 40 years old, 1261 Washington boulevard, wife of Harry Tuttle, Democratic captain of the precinct, and Mrs. Viola Wojcik, 35 years old, 1137 Washington boulevard. A similar charge against Miss Bonnie Horton, 36 years old, 38 North Elizabeth street, was dismissed.

GUARD SIX GOLF CLUBS AS GREENS MEN GO ON STRIKE

100 Keepers Walk Out on North Shore.

Labor organizers called more than 100 greenskeepers on a strike for higher wages at six leading North Shore golf clubs yesterday.

Police of two suburbs—Lake Forest and Highland Park—assigned special guards to the golf courses to prevent disturbances. They acted after club officials reported that threats had been made to damage the greens and fairways unless the workers were permitted to join local 152 of the Hodcarriers and Building and Common Laborers' union.

Union Agent Denies Threats.

Tony Rossi, business agent of the union, denied that any threats had been made either to the clubs or the employés. He said the strike would be conducted peacefully, but that pickets would surround any club which attempted to bring in nonunion labor.

None of the caddies or other employés of the clubs are concerned in the strike. The clubs affected are the Lake Shore Country, Glencoe, the Northmoor Country, Exmoor Country, and Old Elm, in Highland Park; and the Knollwood club and Albert D. Lasker's private course at his estate, Mill Road farm, both in Lake Forest.

Spurn Strike at Bob o' Link.

Rossi admitted that the greenskeepers at the Bob o' Link club in Highland Park had refused to heed the strike call. He declared, however, that he expected to line up the men at the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest and the Shore Acres club, north of Lake Bluff.

Rossi said the men want 75 cents an hour for an eight hour, five day week, with time and a half for Saturday and double time for Sunday. At present, Rossi said, the men are paid 40 cents an hour for a nine hour day.

Vote to Indict Two Youths in Shooting of Policeman

True bills were reported voted yesterday on three charges of robbery against Arthur Gasparro, 19 years old, and Henry Marzullo, 17 years old, who were captured after a revolver battle last Wednesday when they attempted to rob Policeman John Fried behind his home at 1256 Independence boulevard. Their companion, Dan Danno, 15 years old, who was shot by Fried, died of his wounds Friday. Marzullo and Fried were wounded.

Drop Relief Fraud Charge After Restitution Is Made

A charge of defrauding the Illinois Emergency Relief commission of $454 against Charles Quinlan, 29 years old, 1154 East 67th street, Chicago manager for the Excelda Paint company, was dismissed in the South State street court after Quinlan had made restitution, it was disclosed yesterday.

CONVICT IS KILLED IN FIRST ATTEMPT TO FLEE FROM ALCATRAZ

San Francisco, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Joe Bowers, first convict to attempt escape from forbidding Alcatraz Island federal prison, was killed today by a 60 foot plunge over a cliff as guards fired at him.

The 40 year old mail robber, struck in his right shoulder and thigh by bullets, died of a broken neck received when he crashed on rocky shores surrounding the prison in San Francisco bay.

Warden James Johnston said Bowers, transferred here from Leavenworth, tried to scale a wire fence around the work area on the island's west side, facing the golden gate.

Guards shouted at him, but Bowers ignored them. The guards opened fire. Bowers toppled from the fence and plunged down the sheer side of the island, a solid rock which juts out of the bay more than a mile from shore.

OPEN HEARINGS ON 200 PAROLE APPLICATIONS

The sub-committee of the state board of pardons and paroles yesterday held a visitors' day hearing at Joliet on applications of 200 convicts who are eligible to parole next month. Sixty-one of the convicts had been sentenced on robbery charges.

Among the prisoners seeking release is Lloyd Braithwaite, 39 years old, who on May 16 began serving a one to ten year sentence on a charge of embezzling $27,500 from the Seneca Petroleum company, of which he was secretary. O. E. Hulse, president of the company, appeared yesterday to oppose the parole.

Joseph Biata, former convict who was sentenced to from one to ten years on a charge of conspiracy to embezzle $54,000 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, also applied for parole. He began his sentence on March 7, 1935. Biata was indicted with David [Long Count] Barry, prize fight referee, on charges of attempting to mulct the Lincoln National Life Insurance company of Springfield of its assets. They were acquitted.

Joel Hunter Assails Slow City Collection of Garbage

Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent of United Charities, urged a better year around garbage collection service in a "Clean-up" week report on the subject yesterday. "The laxity of garbage collection service, particularly in the slum district, is both a danger and a disgrace," Dr. Hunter said. "A six month survey of forty-one families in the Morgan Park and Englewood sections revealed that in only 18 cases was garbage collected once a week. Ten had monthly collections and twelve were without the service."

FORMER CONVICT ADMITS 100 WEST SIDE BURGLARIES

$6,000 Loot Is Seized in Attic Cache.

Louis Dyon, 30 years old, a former convict living at 2521 Lexington street, confessed committing more than a hundred burglaries in the Austin district yesterday after police found $6,000 worth of loot hidden in the attic of his home. He was paroled from Joliet prison in 1932.

Five members of Dyon's family were questioned by police about the loot and released. They are his mother, Elexena Dyon, 54 years old; his brother Clarence, 21; his twin sisters, Bernice and Dorothy, 11, who live at the Lexington street address, and another sister, Mrs. Edna O'Connell, 25, of 419 South Kildare avenue. Held with Dyon for further questioning is his sweetheart, Miss Anne Schwartz, 30 years old, 2600 North Kedzie avenue.

Seized by Chance.

Louis, who has served terms in the Bridewell as well as Joliet for burglary, was arrested early yesterday by Policeman Frank Podlesak of the Austin station while loitering near 3310 Crystal street.

Louis gave a false address, but the correct one was found on his auto license card and police invaded his Lexington street home. In the attic they found 14 revolvers, a rifle, 200 men's suits, 75 overcoats, a postman's uniform, 5 radios, several vacuum cleaners, three 9x12 rugs, 3 suitcases filled with silverware and inexpensive jewelry, and cartons of socks, underwear, sheets, table cloths, and razor blades.

Other Property Seized.

Louis' mother, brother, and twin sisters were in the home, and Mrs. O'Connell was taken into custody when she came to visit the family. Later Miss Schwartz came to the Dyon home and she also was seized. At her apartment the police found more property, which they said was stolen, including a $300 fur coat. Miss Schwartz, who works in a loop department store, declared that the coat was given to her by Louis, but she failed to explain the presence of the other property.

Louis told police that he operated alone in the burglaries and that no member of the family knew anything about the stolen goods. Police doubted this and they are hunting accomplices.

Victim Identifies Silver.

Late in the day Mrs. O. M. Ulvestad, 2517 North Sawyer avenue, appeared at the station to identify some of the silverware in the Dyon loot as taken from her home in a burglary on March 9.

As Louis Dean, Dyon was sentenced to the penitentiary at Joliet on Sept. 8, 1930. He was paroled on Sept. 15, 1932, after serving slightly more than two years, and on Nov. 29, 1935, was released from parole.

RESUME WORK ON OUTER DRIVE BRIDGE TODAY

Installation of equipment for erection of steel on the outer drive link bridge will be started today after a suspension of more than four years, it was announced yesterday by James B. Black, project engineer for the Public Works administration. The actual steel work can be resumed in about three weeks, since the fabricated metal is in storage at Gary.

The Chicago parks district is expected today to award the two principal contracts for construction of the Randolph street viaduct. A contract for fabrication of 2,720 tons of steel is to go to the Joseph T. Ryerson Steel company on its bid of $241,057, and another for the erection of steel is to go to Oscar Daniels company on a bid of $40,720.

Head of Lantern Concern Finds Wife Dead in Bed

Mrs. Edna Helmholtz, 45 years old, 4638 Clarendon avenue, was found dead in bed yesterday by her husband, Carl, when he returned from a four day business trip. An empty bottle which had contained sleeping tablets was at her side. Mr. Helmholtz, who is president of the Economy Electric Lantern company, 325 West Huron street, said his wife had been suffering from a nervous disorder.

Auto Injuries Fatal to Boy Hit While Playing in Street

Bradfield Yates Jr., 7 years old, 3230 Home avenue, Berwyn, died yesterday in the Berwyn hospital of a skull fracture incurred Sunday when he was struck by an automobile as he was playing in front of his home. Anthony Fischer, 23 years old, 2345 Home avenue, Berwyn, driver of the car, told police the boy ran in front of his machine. He was charged with reckless driving.

A woman and four men were injured early yesterday in a collision of their machine and a stolen automobile at Joliet and Willow Springs road in Lyons township. The two occupants of the stolen car fled, but were arrested later when they applied for treatment at the Hinsdale sanitarium.

One a Former Convict.

They gave their names as Walter Kurzaz, 20 years old, 2730 41st street, and Adolph Kierzek, 20, of 3055 39th street. The two denied they had stolen the car, but were held by police. Kierzek served a year in the Pontiac reformatory for the theft of an automobile, police said.

The machine in which they were riding had been stolen from Robert Quinlivan, 3618 South Washtenaw avenue, from in front of a dance hall at 4069 Archer avenue.

The occupants of the other car were Mrs. Blanche Frost, 24 years old, 5403 Parker avenue; her husband, Christ, 27; Howard Jepson, 24, of 3823 Wabansia avenue; Mathias Frost, 24, of 4201 North avenue, driver of the car, and Julius Anderson, 33, of 3168 Cambridge avenue.

Give Crossing Crash Verdict.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death at the inquest yesterday into the automobile-train crash in which a family of four were killed Saturday night when their automobile was struck by the International Limited of the Grand Trunk railroad at the Wood street crossing in Harvey.

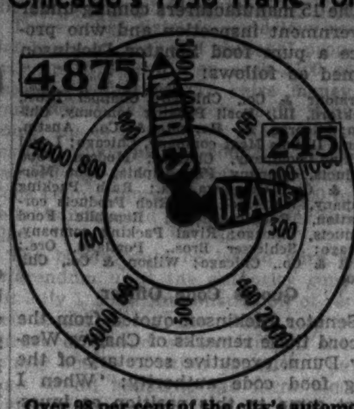
Their deaths brought the total to 31 who have been killed at that railroad's crossings in Harvey and Dixmoor in the last five years.

Village officials pointed out that the only way to avoid further fatalities will be by building grade separations at the crossings.

Speed and inattention on the part of drivers are the chief causes of automobile accidents, George W. Fleming, executive secretary of the Keep Chicago Safe committee, told the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs at a meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

John Vaughn, 33 years old, 189 155th street, Harvey, driver of the car which killed Herman Rhode, 45, a section hand, was recommended held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge by a coroner's jury yesterday. Testimony was introduced to show that both Vaughn and a companion, John Underwood, 32 years old, also of Harvey, had been drinking.

The two fled after the accident but were caught by motorists who gave chase. The coroner's jury recommended that Underwood be held on a charge of accessory.

Walter Zells, 20 years old, 6718 South Karlov avenue, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter as the result of the automobile collision last March 15 in which Mrs. Voda Laird, 43 years old, 6005 Morgan street, was killed and her husband, Ross Lee Laird, former asisstant state's attorney, was injured seriously.

Lloyd Kenney, 9131 Houston street, was killed and his wife was injured last night when their automobile collided with another on U. S. 20 near South Bend, Ind. Harold Ball of South Bend, driver of the other car, was slightly hurt. Mrs. Florence Keene of South Bend, received serious injuries.

Injured Pedestrian Identified.

A pedestrian injured seriously Saturday by a hit and run motorist was identified yesterday at the County hospital as Roy Marks, 32 years old, 2856 Elston avenue. He was found unconscious in the street in front of 1410 North Ashland avenue.

Fillmore street police began a search for a truck driver who struck two women pedestrians at Douglas boulevard and St. Louis avenue Sunday night and then fled after he had taken his victims to the County hospital. The two women are Miss Fannie The two women are Miss Fannie Hertzman, 65 years old, 3153 Carlisle place, and Mrs. Pauline Schreft, 47 of 3132 Carlisle place.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 308 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. In the same period 245 were killed and 4,875 injured within Chicago.

STICK TO SUICIDE EXPLANATION OF STUDENT DEATH

Capt. William Byrne of the Hyde Park police station announced yesterday that all evidence in the death of Jack Schiffer, 21 years old, medical student at the University of Chicago, indicated the young man stabbed himself with a dissecting knife. His body was found Sunday night in his bedroom in Hitchcock hall, a men's dormitory on the Midway.

From the first police were certain Schiffer killed himself, Capt. Byrne said. E. T. Baumgart, who occupied an adjoining room, and other friends of the young medical student, Capt. Byrne said, told him that Schiffer had been threatening suicide for several days. His friends said he was homesick and worried over his studies.

Joseph Lichtenstein of New York, an uncle of Schiffer, arrived by plane last night to attend the inquest today. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Schiffer, the parents, do not plan to come here, according to university officials.

ASKS BROOKFIELD BOOKS FOR QUIZ ON $30,000 CHARGE

Assistant State's Attorney Ben Nelson requested yesterday that the books and records of the village of Brookfield be turned over to him for investigation of charges made by John Bergman, president of the village board. On the basis of an audit submitted to the board on Friday night, Bergman alleged irregularities involving $30,000 in special assessment funds collected from 1931 to 1934.

During this period, Fred A. Schultz was village collector. In July, 1935, Attorney Guy C. Guerine filed on behalf of the village a suit for an accounting, which named as defendants Schultz and three bonding concerns that furnished surety for him.

At the request of the bonding companies, this suit was transferred to the federal court and now is pending before Judge William H. Holly.

DOG FOOD DIET IS FORCED ON U. S., SAYS DICKINSON

Senator Blames New Deal Scarcity Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Senator Lester J. Dickinson [Rep., Ia.] in a speech today charged that human beings, under the "planned scarcity" of the New Deal annually are consuming 100 million pounds of dog food—"food unfit even for dogs to eat!"

Dickinson supported his charges with abstracts from a hearing before the NRA code authority of the dog food industry, held in Washington more than a year ago. He quoted L. J. Becker, former secretary of the National Dog Food Manufacturers' association, as estimating that one-fifth of the entire output of dog food in the United States, 500 million pounds, is eaten by human beings.

Quotes Roosevelt on Plan.

"I understand prosperity is here" Senator Dickinson declared in beginning his address. He then quoted President Roosevelt's recent declaration: "We planned it that way—and don't let anybody tell you different."

The senator maintained that it is only when at least a majority of the people have enough to eat that "prosperity" or "recovery" really is here, and in support of this contention he again quoted President Roosevelt.

The President, speaking at Atlanta last Nov. 29, declared that the average of our citizenship lives on a "third class diet" because "the masses of the American people have not got the purchasing power to eat more and better food."

Byrnes Tries Ridicule.

Senator James F. Byrnes [Dem., S. C.], a New Dealer who is running for reëlection this year, attempted to ridicule Senator Dickinson's charges and refused to be interrupted while doing so. Senator Dickinson, however, managed to get in the retort that "you can't laugh away this evidence taken by your own NRA code authority."

Calling Senator Dickinson "my candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination, Byrnes chided Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] and William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] for not discussing "dog food, the issue in the coming campaign."

"The senator from Iowa, my candidate, has discussed the issue fearlessly and eloquently," Byrnes said, affecting great merriment. "There could be no more burning issue than dog food! "

Reads from Prepared Release.

Byrnes then read extracts from a prepared release on Senator Dickinson's speech, issued by the Republican national committee, and said "the real issue is not canned food but canned speeches." He demanded that Senator Dickinson produce some of the dog food, which the prepared release had described as being on his desk when the speech was delivered.

"It's in my office," replied Senator Dickinson.

"Mr. President, I hate to hear that the senator has been storing dog food in his office," Byrnes remarked. "I didn't know he had been eating it. I hope it is fit for human consumption."

The Iowa senator charged the New Deal with double responsibility for the conditions under which human beings eat dog food—the "scarcity economics" of the AAA and failure on the part of the agriculture department to enforce the pure food and drug law. Only 15 of the 200 plants manufacturing dog food are under regular inspection by the department, he said. He called the character of the uninspected product one of the most alarming facts of the present situation.

"It comes from two sources—carrion, made from dead animals, or else from the diseased lungs, livers and fibrous tissues which make up the refuse from slaughter houses," the senator declared. "On the farm and around the stockyards it is known as tankage. Before this bonanza in dog foods began it was used exclusively in the manufacture of fertilizer, and that is all it actually is fit for."

One reason why human beings eat such stuff, Senator Dickinson declared, is because "an administration which boasts of its humanitarian purpose . . . permits shipment of offal in interstate commerce and permits its flagrant mislabeling as 'fit for human consumption.' Such is the exact wording which some of the labels carry."

Quotes Government Statistics.

Senator Dickinson said the department of agriculture estimated that the per capita consumption of all meats in 1933 was 142.9 pounds. In 1934 meat from government slaughtered animals, such as was not destroyed, increased the consumption to 152.6 pounds. But, the senator added, "only last year did the true results of the policy of scarcity become apparent.

"Meat consumption went into a tailspin. The department has not yet released its figures for 1935, but, by applying the percentage change in production of federal meats to the total consumption in 1934, which is the identical method the department has used in the past, we find that total per capita consumption dropped to 126.7 pounds. And remember, during 1935 this country imported no less than 346 million pounds of meat in addition."

Declaring that during the past three years the standard of living of the American people has progressively declined to new lows, the senator asserted that "every gangster, every counterfeiter, every dope peddler, now incarcerated in a federal penitentiary, not only lives better, but actually has twice as much to eat as the average of our free citizenship in this year of Roosevelt, 1936. . . . And remember that the President spoke only of the general average. Many a good American—too proud to accept government help—is trying to last out the Roosevelt 'prosperity' on a daily ration of potatoes, and the administration did its best to take the potatoes away from them!"

The 15 manufacturers coming under government inspection and who produce a pure food Senator Dickinson named as follows:

Armour & Co., Chicago; Chappel Bros., Rockford, Ill.; Foell Packing company, Chicago; George A. Hormel & Co., Austin, Minn.; Illinois Meat company, Chicago; Loyal Packing company, Chicago; Modern Food Products company, Philadelphia; John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Ia.; Rath Packing company, Waterloo, Ia.; Rich Products corporation, Rockford, Ill.; Republic Food Products, Chicago; Rival Packing company, Chicago; Schlesser Bros., Portland, Ore.; Swift & Co., Chicago; Wilson & Co., Chicago.

Quotes Code Officer.

Senator Dickinson quoted from the record these remarks of Charles Wesley Dunn, executive secretary of the dog food code authority: 'When I first came to this position as investigating the dog food business one of the first things I learned was that this phrase 'fit for human consumption' was actually working out to induce, according to the reports I received, the consumption of dog food in different parts of the country by human beings, and I was informed that some of the dog food which was being so consumed was not fit for human consumption."

C. P. Rich of the Rich Products corporation, Rockford, Ill., testified: "I believe the government department of agriculture has evidence that a great deal of canned dog food is being used for human consumption. From our own experience, we are sure that canned dog food is being used for human consumption."

P. M. Chappel of Chappel Brothers, also of Rockford, testified: "I think that the department of agriculture has some figures on this. I do not know if those gentlemen have been familiar with this or not, but there have been some tests made of districts and I was notified that in one ally there were 68 cans and there was not a dog in the block. I wanted to check up on some of them and I made some tests of our own in Chicago, and I was quite astonished at the number of people that were eating dog food."

NATIVE AMERICAN APPLICANTS LACK PENSION PROOFS

Native Americans are having the most difficulty in proving their age and citizenship when applying for old age pensions, and they are largely responsible for the fact that applications from the 40,000 on file are being forwarded to Springfield at the rate of only 50 a day, according to Miss Anna J. Bigus, county director of pensions.

"Applicants of foreign birth always have records such as passports and naturalization papers to prove their age and citizenship," Miss Bigus said yesterday. "But American born applicants lack documentary evidence on these points, never having had any need for them."

Miss Bigus said that the first pension checks are not expected in Cook county until May 15 at the earliest.

Business Man Arraigned as Bogus Bill Passer

Vincent Loguidice, 35 years old, part owner of the North Side Distributing company, 1489 Clybourn avenue, was arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Bradley Eben informed the court the government had evidence that Loguidice was a distributor for a syndicate operating in nearby states. Hearing on the charge was set for May 1 and Loguidice was held in bonds of $40,000.

SENATE VOTES TO REVEAL BIG AAA PAYMENTS

Orders Publicity for All Getting Over $10,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—After prolonged, partisan debate, the senate this evening passed without a record vote a resolution by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] calling upon Secretary Wallace for the names of all AAA beneficiaries who received in excess of $10,000.

The Democrats, forced into a position where they could make no logical objection to Senator Vandenberg's resolution, nevertheless succeeded in burdening it with amendments calling upon the tarif commission for the names of corporations which have benefited from the manufacture of tarif protected products, such as steel and iron, rayon, chemicals, cellophane, plate glass, etc.

Republicans Open Up.

It was contended by Senator Alben W. Barkley [Dem., Ky.] and Senator Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.], authors of similar amendments calling for the tarif information, that the AAA bounties to farmers were "mere pittances" compared with the indirect "subsidies" to corporations accruing through tarif protection.

When the New Dealers made repeated protestations of a hunger for knowledge, the Republicans took them at their word and began flinging amendments from that side. Senator Warren Barbour [Rep., N. J.] wanted to know all about the activities of the resettlement administration, its expenditures, projects, and employés, etc., but Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson quickly moved to table the amendment and the motion carried, 32 to 30.

Seeks Civil Service Data.

Senator Robert D. Carey [Rep., Wyo.] wanted the civil service commission to supply the names and salaries of all civil employés of the United States not covered by the civil service laws, and pointed out that the same resolution was introduced by Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], a fervent New Dealer, during the 72d congress.

"There are 250,000 more such employés now than there were at that time, so the information should be all the more pertinent," Senator Carey declared.

Robinson, however, moved to table this amendment, and his motion carried, 41 to 16.

Attacks Voting Record.

Senator Robinson charged that Senator Vandenberg's resolution was "prompted by partisan, political considerations." He said the Michigan senator had been more consistent than some of the other Republicans who had voted for the AAA, but that Vandenberg himself had voted for "the one act connected with this program which contemplated necessarily large benefit payments—the Jones-Costigan sugar control act."

Robinson said sarcastically that Senator Vandenberg had "suddenly become a great champion of publicity," now that a presidential campaign was in the offing, but that, in 1932, when he was not a candidate, he vehemently opposed the Norris resolution calling for publicity of RFC loans. Again last year, Robinson said, Vandenberg opposed the La Follette amendment to the pink slip repealer on the ground that income tax returns should not be made public.

Denounces Objection.

"It is a curious thing," replied Senator Vandenberg, "that every time I ask for simple information regarding these AAA payments some one changes the subject. The secretary of agriculture spent two weeks making excuses. He finally conceived the brilliant objection that publicity might result in the kidnaping of farmers' daughters. But it developed that the daughters would necessarily be soulless wenches, for the huge payments went to large corporations and not natural persons.

"I simply asked for information regarding the public business, the payment of a billion dollars out of the treasury on the ipse dixit of a nonelected public official who spent it when he pleased, where he pleased, and how he pleased."

Denies Inconsistency.

Senator Vandenberg defied any challenge of inconsistency in his voting record and said he voted for the Jones-Costigan act with "a double barreled shotgun" at his head. Those who spoke for the domestic producers of beet sugar had no choice except to ask for the passage of the bill, he declared, because of unrestricted imports from the Philippines and the President's announced intention of reducing the tarif on sugar.

"The President declared in his Baltimore speech prior to his election that in not a single instance would he reduce the tarif on an agricultural commodity," Senator Vandenberg added. "Yet, within eighteen months, he had reduced the tarif on two agricultural commodities."

ARABS STONE AUTHOR SHOLEM ASCH ON PALESTINE HIGHWAY

JERUSALEM, April 27.—(AP)—Sholem Asch, Jewish novelist whose "Three Cities" was one of the best sellers in America several years ago, was attacked today by Arabs near Nazareth while he was motoring from Haifa to the Jewish settlement of Kinnereth, on the lake of Galilee.

Police hastily arrived and dispersed the crowd. The windows of the car were smashed by the mob but Asch and his companions were unhurt. They completed their journey safely.

PLAN WAR GAMES AT LUNCHEON FOR GENERAL McCOY

Plans for field army maneuvers next August were discussed at a luncheon in the Racquet club yesterday in honor of Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, who has been relieved of the command of the Sixth corps area here to become commander of the Second corps area in New York.

Informal confirmation was given at the luncheon to previous reports that Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, who will succeed Gen. McCoy, plans to retire to enter private employment soon after assuming his command here.

If Gen. Hagood does retire as planned, Brig. Gen. Charles D. Herron, chief of staf of the Sixth corps area, will become acting commander.

NASH AND MOORE TO HEAD PARTIES IN COOK COUNTY

Democrats Back Horner; G. O. P. Harmony, Too.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Harmony pervaded the Cook county conventions yesterday of the Republicans and Democrats. At neither was a dissenting voice raised.

The Republicans, meeting at the Hotel La Salle, by unanimous vote elected Edward F. Moore as county chairman. From top to bottom the G. O. P. ticket named in the April 14 primaries was indorsed, and the convention took up a slogan from Mr. Moore: "Get on the job now instead of waiting for September, and we'll win in November."

Mr. Moore and the other county committee officials were all elected by a "white ballot" of 440,545 to 0. Each committeeman has in conventions a vote equal to the total party votes cast in his ward or township in the last primaries.

"It's 100 per cent harmony in the party organization and for the ticket," declared Moore.

Democrats Reëlect Nash.

The Democrats, at the Morrison hotel, reëlected Pat A. Nash as county chairman, and indorsed him for reëlection as national committeeman by the Illinois delegates at the national convention in Philadelphia in June. Nash was given a series of ovations, and the roll call saw him reëlected as county chairman by a vote of 946,156 to 0.

Honey seemed exuding from every pore of the Democratic convention. The tomahawks of the primary campaign were buried, or at least parked outside, and the Democratic ticket was indorsed all the way up and down.

The indorsement was presented by Thomas D. Nash [Nineteenth ward], and it contained four sheets of names of party candidates, starting with Franklin D. Roosevelt for President, James Hamilton Lewis for senator, and Henry Horner for governor.

Horner and Kelly Absent.

Neither Gov. Horner nor Mayor Kelly was present, nor in town, not being committee members. At Springfield the governor expressed gratification at the indorsement, while at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Mayor Kelly stated: "I'm a Democrat and I'll go along with the entire Democratic ticket. There's nothing personal in my attitude towards Gov. Horner."

The position taken by Chairman Nash was that Gov. Horner had cracked the slate in the primaries but that the organization had not cracked. "There is no friction in Cook county," he said. "I'm glad harmony prevails and I believe every man is as anxious as myself that everyone on the ticket be elected and roll up a big majority in Cook."

Nash said he would be in Springfield tomorrow. He is to confer with the governor. One main item will be the make up of the delegates-at-large to the national convention to be picked at the Democratic state convention in Springfield next Friday. Cook county will send 1,913 delegates, and is expected to be in control.

Harmony in the G. O. P.

All the groups got together beforehand at the G. O. P. convention. William H. Weber, retiring chairman, was lauded as "the grand old man of the G. O. P." in a resolution, and as "a great old guy" in a poem by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th].

Patrick Sheridan Smith [6th], who had been rated chief contender against Moore for the chairmanship, did not let himself be nominated. He moved that Moore's election be made unanimous. Other officials of the Republican county committee were elected as follows:

SECRETARY—Robert C. Rohn [19th].

VICE CHAIRMEN—Oscar de Priest [3d], Charles E. Peace [42d], L. A. Westcott [Oak Park], John T. Dempsey [33d], John A. Massen [48th], William V. Pacelli [20th], Eden T. Brekke [30th].

ASSISTANT SECRETARIES—John J. Hoellen [47th], William S. Finucane [11th], Miss Lorraine Ford [executive secretary].

SERGEANT AT ARMS—Frank Kalteux [38th]. Assistants: C. J. Fleck [45th], George O. Lohr [13th].

TREASURER—George F. Harding.

ATTORNEY—John F. Tyrrell.

HONORARY CHAIRMAN—William H. Weber.

Pledge Aid to Knox.

A resolution was adopted pledging the 881 delegates from Cook county to the Republican state convention at Peoria May 22 to "use all honorable means" for the election of eight delegates-at-large to the national convention who will suport Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, for President. The resolution said in the primary Knox had the preference on the state-wide vote over Senator William E. Borah.

Borah carried ten downstate districts, with 20 delegates, and one district is in doubt. The preferential vote is "advisory" on district delegates by the vote in their districts, and on delegates-at-large by the state-wide vote.

Mr. Moore, the new county chairman, was an original supporter of Wayland Brooks, G. O. P. nominee for governor. He was lauded as a "battler in the dark days, as well as the brighter days of the party," and as a man esteemed by all factions.

The harmony was accounted to increase the strength of George F. Harding as a candidate for national committeeman against Frank L. Smith of Dwight. Harding leaders say at least 35 of the 57 national convention delegates from Illinois will be for Harding on the first roll call at Cleveland June 9.

Gill Democrat Secretary.

The Democrats, besides reëlecting Mr. Nash as county chairman, reëlected Joseph L. Gill as secretary, George F. Ross as executive secretary, and Thomas D. Garry as sergeant at arms.

Plans are to carry the Democratic state convention through at Springfield on Friday. Among those mentioned for delegates at large to the national convention are Senators Lewis and William Dieterich, Gov. Horner, Carter H. Harrison, five times mayor of Chicago, and Edward F. Dunne, former mayor and governor. This is a matter which Nash and Horner are expected to discuss tomorrow. The aim is to wind up the state convention Friday, giving time for Democrats who choose to do so to attend the Kentucky Derby on Saturday.

Changes His Party

Des Moines, Ia., April 27.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, for years "a Democrat in feeling," formally became a Democret in name as well today.

His party affiliation and that of Mrs. Wallace were changed from Republican to Democratic by the filing of their declarations with the county auditor here. It was understood a friend filed the notices for them.

Wallace had said the change, deferred until after the Democratic state convention here, is "just a formality and really a recognition of my membership in the Democratic party."

RE-ELECT MILLER G. O. P. CHAIRMAN OF LAKE COUNTY

Attorney Benjamin H. Miller of Libertyville was reëlected chairman of the Lake county Republican committee yesterday afternoon at the party convention in the county courthouse in Waukegan. He was a leader of the campaign for Wayland Brooks in the recent primary.

The Lake county Democratic convention, held last night in the Waukegan hotel, elected Dr. Robert H. Bosworth county chairman. Dr. Bosworth, a Chicago dentist who lives in Highland Park, supported Gov. Horner in the primary campaign. He has been acting chairman for several months.

OFFICIALS SHUSH BLAME FOR WPA PAVING CRACKS

Officials of the city and of the Works Progress administration refused to blame each other yesterday for defects found in asphalt paving of the $32,000,000 street repair program. The asphalt is laid by the city on base-work done by WPA.

Cracks were found at Ballou street near Drummond street, and in a number of places along Wrightwood avenue, between Central Park and Kimball avenues, and between Crawford and Lawndale avenues. The work is continuing on another section of Wrightwood avenue.

Concerned Only with Repairs.

"All that I am interested in is having the flaws remedied," said Oscar Hewitt, city commissioner of public works. "And that will be done immediately."

He ordered Patrick Donovan, acting superintendent of streets, to have a gang at work on the cracked pavement this morning. Mr. Hewitt added that instances of cracking would be found in any large scale resurfacing.

"I'm not going to say anything about whose fault it was," said H. K. Seltzer, director of WPA for Chicago, "but I will join Mr. Hewitt in seeing that the street is fixed and in preventing a reoccurrence.

Denies Cases Are Typical.

"Such imperfections are incidental, to some degree, in any extensive resurfacing program. With 140 miles of resurfacing, ours is the largest ever carried out. We can expect a few flaws and failures, but they are not typical of the program. No one need fear that the other streets will crack."

RUSH TO RESCUE YACHT ON ROCKS OFF CUBA COAST

Miami, Fla., April 28 [Tuesday].—(AP)—The Fort Lauderdale coast guard base intercepted a radio message at 1:08 a. m. [Eastern Standard time] today from the 98-foot motor yacht Jane II., dangerously pounding on rocks off the southwestern Cuban coast, saying "ship from Havana has hove in sight."

It was not known immediately whether the rescue vessel was the Cuban coast guard cutter Habana dispatched from the north Cuban port of Esperanza to aid the stranded yacht, grounded 60 miles from Havana.

Shortly before receiving this brief message, two others were intercepted at Miami and at Fort Lauderdale. The first called for "immediate assistance," and the second from the yacht's master, Capt. John Lowery Jr., said: "Broadside to sea, pounding badly. Will try to float at high tide."

Coast guard divisional headquarters at Jacksonville reported that two United Fruit company steamers, Limon and Turrilba, near the scene have been requested to "stand by."

BELGRADE, April 27.—(AP)—Rebecca West, British novelist, was ill tonight in a Belgrade hotel. She was reported to be suffering from erysipelas. The condition of the writer, who in private life is Mrs. Henry Maxwell, was said to be not serious.

ROOSEVELT GETS FIRST VOTE TEST IN PENNSYLVANIA

Opposed by Breckinridge in Today's Primaries.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will be opposed for the first time in a state-wide test in Pennsylvania's primary tomorrow, with Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York, New Deal critic, entered against him.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho will be the lone presidential candidate on the Republican ballot.

For a presidential year the primary campaign lacked zest. Democrats appealed for a large Roosevelt vote, but lacked active competition. No one appeared in the state in behalf of Breckinridge, who was described by anti-New Dealers as offering an opportunity to any who wished to register opposition to Roosevelt.

Predict Roosevelt Victory.

The Democratic organization, headed by Gov. George H. Earle and Chairman David L. Lawrence, tonight predicted the organization's entire slate of delegates to the Philadelphia convention, to be pledged to Roosevelt, will win, as well as "regular" candidates for congress and the state senate nominations, the only offices outstanding in an otherwise dull campaign.

Former Governor Backs Landon.

Boston, Mass., April. 27—[Special.]—Former Gov. Alva T. Fuller tonight urged Republicans and unenrolled voters throughout the commonwealth to participate in tomorrow's presidential primary election to the extent of writing in the name of Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas as their preference for the Republican nomination for president.

Extoling Landon's qualifications for the office, Fuller declared that he "would make a great President." Such an expression of opinion he said, would serve as a guide to the delegates to the national convention at Cleveland in June.

Although all of the thirty-three delegates who will be elected to the Republican national convention at tomorrow's primary technically will be unpledged, many of them have publicly promised to cast their votes to nominate Landon.

Denies Move for Hoover.

A brisk denial by John Richardson, Republican national committeeman, that the Massachusetts party organization was attempting to put over a Hoover slate of national convention delegates took the primary campaign out of the doldrums tonight.

Richardson, a personal friend of former President Hoover and himself a candiate for a seat at the convention form the 13th congressional district, declared he was "entirely open minded on the question of who is to be our next President."

The Democrats will elect thirty-eight delegates to their national convention, but only in isolated instances are there any anti-Roosevelt candidates. Two of them are running for places as delegates-at-large against the slate of eight named by Democratic State Committee Chairman Joseph McGrath, who will have the "pledged for Roosevelt" designation after their names.

MISSOURI G. O. P. ASSURES LANDON OF 4 MORE VOTES

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—(AP)—Booing down opposition, Missouri Republicans tonight adopted by an overwhelming majority a resolution pledging the state's four delegates at large to work for the presidential nomination of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas at the national convention.

The pledging of the "big four" raises to 20 the Landon instructed delegates who will represent Missouri at Cleveland in June. Sixteen delegates, instructed for the Kansan, were named at district conventions.

Three districts indorsed Landon and in two the four delegates were uninstructed. The state has 30 votes.

New County Plan for Relief Advanced in Illinois House

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—The new county plan for financing and administering relief to the poor in Illinois was submitted to the Illinois house of representatives tonight by Warren E. Brockhouse [Dem., Jacksonville] and sent to second reading without objection.

The objective of the bill is to raise $36,000,000 in the counties to supplement the $24,000,000 that is diverted annually to relief from the sales tax. This total amount of $60,000,000 yearly has been estimated by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission as necessary to provide for the 190,000 resident families, a total of 612,000 persons, 65 per cent of them in Cook county, now on relief.

IERC to End on May 1.

Relief is administered to these people now by the IERC, but the commission ceases to function on May 1 and has given notice to all its offices in the state to close their doors Thursday night. However, a bill is pending to keep it in existence to allocate sales tax money to whatever agencies are set up to take its place in administering relief.

Another program before the legislature is to keep the relief commission going with its present full powers until July 1 and give it six millions from the state treasury for May and June. This program weathered two storms in the house tonight and was put on the passage stage.

The county plan, as explained by Demitt C. Billman, secretary of the legislative reference bureau, would create 102 new taxing units in the state, a relief district in each county. Members of the county boards would be the directors of the relief districts, and the county treasurers would be the relief district treasurers.

These relief districts could levy relief taxes on real and personal property up to 30 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation. To raise money immediately the districts could issue bonds up to 5 per cent of their assessed valuations, the bonds to be redeemed by the property taxes. In Cook county more than $150,000,000 in relief bonds could be issued under the plan.

The bonds could be issued with a referendum until the authority runs out July 1, 1937. Administration of relief would be in the Cook county bureau of public welfare and in the county boards of other counties. The plan would supplant the farm bloc legislative measures for the city of Chicago and township relief tax levying scheduled to go into effect on July 1.

Plan Indorsed by Horner

Gov. Horner has indorsed the new county plan, but was reported tonight as having had trouble in finding a sponsor in the house for it. Brockhouse, who is not a candidate for reëlection, was said to have agreed to introduce the bills after one Horner downstate leader at least had refused to do it, asserting bluntly that he is opposed to the plan.

Although the plan escaped attack on its introduction, it was assailed bitterly later by Representative Richard J. Lyons [Rep., Libertyville] when an attempt was made to kill the bill of Representative Benjamin S. Adamoski [Dem., Chicago] appropriating $6,000,000 from the state treasury to meet relief needs in May and June.

Calls Proposal Vicious.

"The administration says there is no money in the state treasury to appropriate for relief," said Lyons. "Yet before the primary the state sent in 15 new inspectors for two weeks' work on part time salaries. If the money in the state treasury is not to go to relief, for what end will it be used?

"All you Democrats think of is more money, new taxes, and now the governor has this plan for 102 new taxing bodies. It is wrong, vicious, inexcusable, and I'm absolutely against the plan."

Further references to state payroll padding as charged against Gov. Horner by his primary opponents were made by Representative Leroy M. Green [Rep., Rockford], minority leader.

"Prominent Democratic leaders charged that the state paid $497,000 in salaries to persons who were only doing political work in the interest of the governor," said Green. I believed them and also believe that if the pay rolls were cut down there would be money for relief."

REPUBLICAN WILL SEEK OFFICE ON OWN REPUTATION

St. Paul, April 27.—(AP)—Arch D. Campbell of Mankato pledged himself to "do no pointing with pride or viewing with alarm" when he filed today for the Republican nomination for congress in the Second district. Three weeks ago he admitted he "drafted himself" to run.

Among other promises he made today were:

"I will not try to get in office or stay in office on Abraham Lincoln's reputation. He has been dead 70 years."

"I will not mention the rock bound coast of Maine or the sunkissed shores of California."

"I will not cry on the shoulders of anyone to get their vote. My folks taught me that sweat on my back was the cure for most troubles and I still think it is."

TOWNSEND AID BARES PLAN TO BLEED PUBLIC

Fired After Warning Not to "Go Too Fast."

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—[Special.] T. Leasia, former manager of the Townsend old age pension plan organization in Michigan, testified before a congressional committee today that a Townsend official had warned him "not to get this job done too fast; we want to milk this crowd for two more years."

The hearing, which is being conducted by Rep. Clare Hoffman, Michigan Republican, opened today before an audience composed largely of elderly people.

Leasia testified the warning was given him by H. H. Schwinger, who then was an official in the Townsend organization's Chicago office. The witness said he had gone to Chicago to protest that organizers in the congressional districts were "starving to death" on their pay of five cents for each new member enrolled.

Bares $23 Night Club Check.

Leasia testified Schwinger spent $23 in an expensive night club for a dinner for Leasia, another man and a girl. Schwinger subsequently told him, the witness said, that "there's a lot of money in this thing for men above the level of organizers," and explained that the organization work was to be drawn out to permit "milking" the contributors.

"I was in the upper strata then, but I didn't stay there long," Leasia said. He was dismissed as Michigan manager on March 17, he said, and was succeeded by F. Manley Goldsberry, Chicago regional director of the organization.

Complaints of "Going Too Fast."

Goldsberry told him, he said, that complaints had "gone right to headquarters" that Leasia "was going too fast," and that it was reported he was trying to build up a big organization.

"They thought I was going to turn it over to some politician, perhaps my associate, Gov. Brucker, who then was being talked of as a candidate for senator," Leasia testified.

Leasia was secretary to Wilber M. Brucker when Brucker was governor of Michigan. Brucker now is seeking the Republican nomination for United States senator in opposition to Senator James Couzens.

$11,000 Sent to Chicago Office.

Mrs. Minnie Hathaway, bookkeeper in the Detroit Townsend office, testified that about $11,000 was collected from Townsend club members in the Detroit region between Nov. 21, 1935, and April 25, this year, and that all of it had been sent to the Chicago office.

Both Mrs. Hathaway and George E. Gullen, one of the organizers of the Michigan group, said they had believed before the recent disclosures by a congressional committee that Dr. Francis E. Townsend and Robert E. Clements received only $50 a week each as heads of the national organization.

Reading from a transcript of Clements' testimony, Hoffman asked Gullen if he knew that Townsend and Clements received $59,000 each from the organization, and that they had testified that they made a profit of $32,000 in one year from the Townsend weekly.

"At a meeting in the Chicago regional office, we were told that Townsend and Clements each got a salary of $50 a week and expenses," Gullen said. "As far as we knew that was all the money they got."

Judges Desort, McKinley on the Convalescent List

Judge Rudolph Desort of the Superior court was reported yesterday to have gone to his farm near Winfield to recuperate from the nervous exhaustion which caused him to collapse in his courtroom last Saturday. It was said that the judge plans to visit the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a thorough examination as soon as possible. Chief Justice Michael McKinley of the Superior court was at home at 5555 Sheridan road recovering from a streptococcus infection of the throat which will keep him off the bench until the end of this week.

PRESIDENT DUE BACK IN CAPITAL TODAY AFTER VISIT TO HOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., April 27.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt spent today in seclusion at his family estate here as he prepared to return to the White House after a brief absence occasioned by his visit to New York City Saturday night to address the National Democratic club.

During the forenoon he read over the few telegrams and letters sent to him here weighing his speech. A cross section of the public's reaction to the address will be submitted to him on his return to Washington, where the bulk of the messages is awaiting his return.

Mr. Roosevelt was alone in the home with his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt. His wife went to New York yesterday and his youngest son, John, with whom he inspected the trees on his estate yesterday, returned to his Harvard classrooms.

Mr. Roosevelt was to board his train at Hyde Park about midnight. He will arrive in Washington early tomorrow morning.

END REND CASE TODAY IN SUIT AGAINST BANK

The case for the estate of the late Joseph P. Rend, Chicago coal merchant, seeking to recover $1,500,000 from the City company of New York, will be concluded this morning before a jury in the court of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. Rend's widow, Mrs. Agnes E. Rend, who is executrix of his estate, alleges that her husband lost that amount in the collapse of the stock of the National City bank which he purchased in 1929 and 1930 through its security affiliate, the National City company, predecessor of the City company.

Following the close of the plaintif's evidence, defense counsel, headed by Max Steuer, noted New York attorney, will argue for a directed verdict for the defendant. If Judge Woodward refuses such instruction to the jury, the defense will present its case, probably concluding by the end of the week.

Yesterday the estate called as a witness Lawrence Crump, who was a salesman for the Chicago office of the National City company in 1929 and 1930.

Weight Handicap Vanishes Before Mary's Sugar Bowl

Mrs. Mary Moreno, 24 years old, 1030 South Morgan street, who weighs 90 pounds, was arraigned before Judge George B. Weiss in the Women's court yesterday on an assault charge brought by her husband, Jesse, 34 years old, a steelworker who weighs 200 pounds. Judge Weiss continued the case until May 8 because Moreno is in the county hospital with a fractured skull. The fracture occurred, Mrs. Moreno admitted, when she threw a sugar bowl at him Sunday.

Abel Davis Recovering in St. Luke's from Bronchitis

Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company, is recuperating at St. Luke's hospital from a severe attack of bronchitis, it was learned last night. Mr. Davis, who is 61 years old, went to the hospital a few days ago when he returned from California, where he contracted the illness. Dr. Maurice Rubel, his physician, said Mr. Davis should be back at work within a week.

DETROIT INQUIRY IN FUND THEFTS REOPENS MONDAY

One Man Jury to Resume Study of Finances.

Detroit, Mich., April 26.—[Special.]—The one man grand jury called to investigate municipal finances here following disclosures that nearly $500,000 had been stolen at the city hall will resume hearings next Monday after an eleven day adjournment.

The inquiry is one of four investigations started since Budget Director Harry M. Tyler killed himself March 12 and it was discovered that municipal funds had been stolen systematically for the last four and a half years.

One inquiry involves James J. O'Shea, former vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, who faces trial June 6 in federal court, on a charge of violating national banking laws as an alleged conspirator with Tyler in the embezzlements.

O'Hara to Report Soon.

Another investigation is being conducted by Assistant Attorney General Chester P. O'Hara, not for criminal prosecution, but to discover the weaknesses in Detroit's fiscal system and possibly to recommend corrective legislation. O'Hara collected evidence from a score of witnesses for three weeks and soon will make his report.

The fourth inquiry was a coroner's inquest into Tyler's suicide, at which Mayor Frank Couzens, son of Senator James Couzens, and other prominent city officials testified.

The one man grand jury, which was adjourned Thursday to allow the state time to consolidate testimony and prepare for new witnesses, is being conducted by Recorder's Judge George Murphy, with Duncan C. McCrea, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, representing the state.

Occupies Delicate Position.

Judge Murphy occupies a delicate position in the hearings inasmuch as he is the brother of Frank Murphy, Philippine high commissioner and former mayor of Detroit. It was during Frank Murphy's tenure of office here that Tyler's thefts began.

Frank Murphy also is remotely connected with the case by reason of the fact that in 1924 he placed O'Shea on probation when the latter pleaded guilty to larceny by conversion of $1,800. In the same year O'Shea was given probation in federal court, where he was charged with using the mails to defraud. Both charges grew out of a scheme to sell automobile accessories under the market.

Judge Murphy further is embarrassed by the presence of Prosecutor McCrea in the current inquiry. McCrea, a Roosevelt Democrat, is the orphan boy of local politics, which have been dominated by Republicans for years.

McCrea Up for Reëlection.

A great headline maker and vote getter, up for reëlection this coming fall, he is sure to make the most of the grand jury quiz. The inquiry probably will last through the summer. Whether or not he produces any indictments, McCrea can be relied upon to bring out strong criticism of the Republican city hall when the hearings end.

Judge Murphy, on the other hand, faces this dilemma: If the inquiry fizzles out he will be suspected of covering up his brother, who is bound to be a prominent lieutenant of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the presidential campaign this year. If indictments are returned Judge Murphy will be accused of persecuting the Republicans here.

For obvious reasons the hearings so far have been secret. In other local grand juries those in charge usually have made public enough clews to the testimony being heard behind closed doors so that the gist of the evidence could be inferred.

An item yesterday gave the address of Miss Joan Reynolds, who was charged with the theft of a ring, as 1117 North Dearborn street. J. L. Chenault, manager of the 1117 North Dearborn apartments, said that no one by that name is living in the building.

An item Sunday said Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Sullivan, 5062 Kenmore avenue, would celebrate their golden wedding anniversary yesterday. The anniversary will be observed next Monday at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

UPROAR IN JERSEY ASSEMBLY BALKS RELIEF SOLUTION

Jobless Speaker Causes Halt in Proceedings.

Trenton, N. J., April 27.—[Special.]—Before a crowd that filled galleries and doorways and overflowed into adjacent corridors, the state assembly was thrown into an uproar tonight as it met to consider the relief tangle.

After less than an hour of the stormy session, the legislators adjourned without taking action, leaving the critical relief question still unsettled. They will not meet again until Wednesday. Meanwhile the senate adjourned also until Wednesday, after passing a few routine bills.

Drawn by the recent action of unemployed demonstrators who camped in the assembly chamber, men and women massed on all sides of the house, blocking exits and in some cases filling the ailes as the session opened.

Jobless Pack Gallery.

One gallery was packed with unemployed workers. In some corridors there were similar jams, while outside a thousand persons who had come to Trenton by automobile and truck stood on the sidewalks awaiting news of whatever action might be taken by the assemblymen.

The incident that precipitated the greatest disturbance developed in the course of a speech by Ray Cooke, chairman of the Workers Alliance of New Jersey. He had been granted the privilege of the floor, with four other members of the Workers Alliance, all of them members of the group that held a mock legislative session during the week that the "hunger army" occupied the chamber.

Cooke read a report from agricultural workers of Cumberland county. The report charged that a state of peonage existed on large farms in the Cumberland county area.

Remark Brings Outburst.

"I'm now going to say something personal." Cooke continued. "Assemblyman J. Parnell Thomas of Bergen, in a message to the governor, charged that we were professional agitators. I am here to say that he is a liar."

Several members on the Republican side of the house leaped to their feet with objections. The speaker rapped repeatedly to restore order.

Then, after several indignant speeches, Cooke was denied the privilege of the floor. He had been given permission to speak by a resolution carried over strong opposition, in accordance with a plan formed after the legislators had been asked by Gov. Harold G. Hoffman to make another attempt to solve the relief impasse.

Passage of the motion to withdraw Cooke's floor privilege ended the relief discussion for the night. After a few minutes delay, while the speaker consulted with his advisers, the chamber adjourned. As the members marched out, the unemployed again took their seats and the "mock legislature" resumed its session.

LAST OF GIANT SPANS FOR TRI-BORO BRIDGE READY TO BE HOISTED

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The last of the four great spans that make up the over water sections of the $44,000,000 PWA financed Tri-Boro bridge will be raised off the barges on which it was fabricated and swung into place 55 feet above the Harlem river early Sunday, Wharton Green, resident project engineer for the PWA, announced today. The bridge will be the largest lift bridge in the world.

When in place, the 4,200,000 ton steel span will provide for six lanes of vehicular trafic and two walkways connecting Manhattan with the Randall's Island section of the Tri-Boro bridge project. This span of the bridge measures over 300 feet in length and is almost 100 feet wide.

ILLINOIS SYNOD DENIES APPEAL OF DR J. O. BUSWELL

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—(AP)—The judicial commission of the Illinois Presbyterian synod tonight denied the appeal of Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton, Ill., college, from a Chicago presbytery judicial commission decree finding him guilty of "insubordination" against the church.

Dr. Buswell was tried at Chicago after he and several associates refused to disband an independent board of foreign missions which they formed.

The Chicago commission voted "censure" of Dr. Buswell.

Dr. John P. Thomas of Springfield, a member of the state commission, said in announcing its decision that he was informed Dr. Buswell would appeal to the general assembly of the church, meeting next month at Syracuse, N. Y.

CIVILIANS TURN SLEUTHS AND DO GOOD JOB OF IT

Gilbert Schmidt, 8053 South Hermitage avenue, and his friend, Bert Ganenale, decided to turn policemen last night when Miss Violet Orth, 6546 South Albany avenue, told them a pair of young toughs had snatched her purse containing $3.30 and a compact.

The sleuths set out on a tour of the neighborhood and at 66th street and Kedzie avenue saw two youths who answered Miss Orth's description of the thieves. Schmidt and Ganenale pounced on them and searched them, finding $3.30 and a compact.

At the Chicago Lawn police station, where Miss Orth signed a complaint charging larceny, the youths gave their names as Kenneth De Young, 21 years old, 4551 Ellis avenue, and Kenneth McVeagh, 19, of 3314 West 67th street.

BLAME MIND FOR SUICIDE.

QUINTS HUNGRY, PARENTS CHARGE; CRITICIZE DIET

Dr. Dafoe Insists Infants Get Enough Food.

CALLANDER, Ont., April 27.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne said today they believed their quintuplet daughters are not getting enough to eat and that their diet should be changed.

The parents, who visit the children twice daily in their private hospital, added that the five "don't say a word that can be understood," although "we have tried them in every manner."

However, Dr. Allan R. Dafoe, the babies' physician, said that they get ample food, but that their weight was being kept down purposely, because babies not burdened with excess weight were better able to resist disease.

Have Plenty of Energy.

As for "restlessness" commented upon by Mrs. Dionne, the doctor said that was a direct result of their plentiful energy—an energy which had to be worked off.

Mr. and Mrs. Dionne have been at odds with the guardians of the quintuplets.

They indicated they believed the 23 month old youngsters would thrive better if fed soup made from fresh meat, mashed potatoes with a sprinkling of meat gravy, cooked vegetables, particularly carrots, rice, and all the milk they desire instead of what the parents termed "greenish mush"—mashed fresh fruit, and oatmeal.

Mrs. Dionne, who frequently presides at the noon feedings, said she found the children turn away from their main part of the meal, the "greenish mush," although it was flavored by adding a little mashed banana.

Not Enough Milk, Mother Says.

At this feeding, said the mother, there was "barely a third" of a small cup of milk for each child and "they drank it greedily."

Mrs. Dionne said the children do not sleep in the morning as well as they did and that they are more or less restless in the afternoon. She gave her opinion, concurred in by her husband, that this was because the children's hunger was not appeased.

"Are they being taught to dance?" the Dionnes were asked.

"We don't know," replied Mrs. Dionne, "but there are a number of things that can be taught them before being shown how to dance."

Regarding the parents' statement that the children do not talk intelligently, Dr. Dafoe said they are beginning to build up a French vocabulary of their own, now confined to such words as "le docteur" and "au 'voir."

Taught Table Etiquet.

He added they are learning names of simple articles about the hospital and understand commands and instructions. By the example of their nurses who eat with them, he said, the quintuplets are taught table etiquet.

Their daytime sleeping periods have been reduced, he stated, and now total between two and a half and three hours daily. If they sleep longer during the day, Dr. Dafoe said, they wake too early in the morning for their own good.

The five little sisters will be 2 years old May 28.

HERRIOT TO SEEK TO END ITALIAN POISON GAS USE

LYONS, France, April 27.—(AP)—Edouard Herriot, former premier of France, agreed tonight to seek to end Italy's alleged use of poison gas in Ethiopia after an appeal from the daughter of Emperor Haile Selassie.

Princess Tsahai urged Herriot to intercede as a representative of "better humanity." The former premier, who himself is struggling for reelection to the chamber of deputies, announced he would ask the French government to act.

The princess' appeal came in a telegram to Herriot.

OUSTED TEACHER SHOOTS SUPERIOR AND KILLS SELF

Tragedy Enacted on U. of Nebraska Campus.

Lincoln, Neb., April 27.—[Special.]—John P. Weller, 40 years old, who was dismissed last Saturday as an instructor in languages at the University of Nebraska, today shot and wounded Dr. Harry Kurz, head of the department, and then killed himself on the university campus before the eyes of scores of students.

A few minutes after Weller entered the offices of Dr. Kurz both men ran out into the corridor, the department head in the lead. As Kurz backed against a wall of the hallway Weller fired two shots at him.

The first shot missed but the second struck Dr. Kurz in the right wrist and he fell to the floor. Apparently believing he had killed his former superior, Weller fled.

Students See Suicide.

Pursued by students, instructors, and university employés who had been attracted by the shooting, Weller ran out onto the campus. As the crowd closed in he pressed his revolver against his own breast and fired again. He died before an ambulance could reach him.

The university's board of regents had ordered Weller released from his contract and last Saturday gave him a year's leave of absence at half salary, effective next Sept. 1, "without the privilege of return at the close of his leave."

On Faculty Since 1928.

"Weller's instruction in the department was not considered good and his relations with the chairman of the department were not satisfactory," said Chancellor E. A. Burnett.

Weller joined the faculty here in 1928. He received his master's degree from Stanford university and then taught there, as well as at the Universities of Texas and Tennessee and at a New York school, before coming here.

Dr. Kurz came here in 1934 from Knox college at Galesburg, Ill.

BROTHER OF SURGEON RESCUED FROM MINE RETURNS TO CHICAGO

During the ten days that Dr. D. E. Robertson, Toronto surgeon, was trapped in the Moose River gold mine in Nova Scotia, members of his family were confident he would emerge alive, his brother, Dr. Duncan P. Robertson, 6943 Jeffery avenue, a dentist, said yesterday when he returned home.

The Chicago dentist hurried to Toronto when he learned of his brother's plight, going to the surgeon's home to be with their sister, Lillian, and the imprisoned man's sons, Donald, 17 years old, and Graham, 16. The surgeon's wife was at the mine.

Dr. Robertson of Chicago said he was not certain whether his brother would be able to fulfill his scheduled speaking engagement next month at medical association meetings here and in Milwaukee.

SHOW IMPROVEMENT.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 27.—(AP)—Physicians attending Charles Alfred Scadding, one of the two survivors of the Moose river gold mine cave-in, reported "definite improvement" in his condition tonight.

Dr. D. E. Robertson, who with Scadding was rescued after a ten day entombment in the mine, was reported recovering "very satisfactorily."

Doctors were awaiting the arrival of a second plane load of medical equipment from Toronto which will be used in treating Scadding's aggravated case of "trench feet." Although Scadding's condition has improved greatly Dr. H. K. MacDonald said the danger of the spread of the infection and possible amputation had not yet passed.

BRITISH SLAYER OF 2 LOSES PLEA TO CHEAT NOOSE

Must Die for Crime at "Devil's Beef Tub."

LONDON, April 27.—(AP)—Crisply and with only a few seconds deliberation, the Court of Criminal Appeals decided today Dr. Buck Ruxton must hang for the "Devil's Beef Tub" murder of his wife, Isabella, and Mary Jane Rogerson, nursemaid.

Rejection of Ruxton's appeal by the court of three judges left only two possible avenues to prevent the Manchester physician from going to the gallows—and neither of these was considered likely to halt execution of the sentence.

Ruxton's counsel, the famed defense lawyer Norman Birkett, might appeal the case to the house of lords, the nation's highest court, but gave no indication such action was planned.

Stunned by Decision

Or, to save the Indian blooded Ruxton, King Edward might intervene. The latter course, however, is hardly a possibility since Home Secretary Sir John Simon, representing the king, has already refused a request for clemency.

Stiff and with hunched shoulders, Ruxton heard the curt announcement from the red-robed judges: "The appeal is dismissed." A smile which had lighted his face during the long argument by Birkett faded to a stunned look of despair as he was led back to a cell by two guards.

Ruxton had been brought secretly to London from the Manchester jail where he has been held since his conviction March 13. The original execution date of April 1 was postponed pending the outcome of the appeal hearing.

Approve Judge's Remarks.

Testimony at his trial showed he had murdered his wife and servant girl Sept. 15, 1935, dismembered their bodies, and thrown the mutilated corpses into a Scottish ravine called "The Devil's Beef Tub." Ruxton denied all the crown's accusations.

Birkett based his appeal on a claim the trial judge had misdirected the jury before it brought in a verdict of guilty. The appeal court denied his contention, asserting the trial judge's remark that Ruxton was convicted on evidence which could leave no doubt in the mind of anyone was proper and correct.

LONDON, April 27.—Dr. Karl Pearson, emeritus professor of eugenics and formerly director of the Francis Galton laboratory for national eugenics at the University of London, died today at the age of 79. He has been described as one of "the best loved and most hated figures of modern science."

Governor for a Day Has His 'Fling.'

Frankfort, Ky., April 27.—(AP)—Seventeen thousand Kentucky colonels, admirals and similar honorary aids were restored to "good standing" today by Acting Governor James E. Wise exactly one month after Kentucky's attorney general, Beverly M. Vincent, ruled them all out of office.

The acting governor was serving as chief executive in the absence of both Gov. A. B. Chandler and Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson, who were in Cincinnati at a ball game.

Vincent Won't Comment.

Informed of the action of Wise, who is president pro tem of the state senate, Vincent declined to comment other than to say he was sticking to his original opinion holding that there was no constitutional provision for appointment of colonels in the first place. Both the state and federal constitutions, Vincent pointed out, provide that no titles of nobility shall be issued, and because colonels have no duties, terms of office or authority, he said the commissions amount to titles of nobility.

Gov. Chandler, who hasn't issued a colonel's commission since he took office and has repeatedly said he doesn't intend to, said it was all right with him if the acting governor "creates a lot of Kentucky colonels."

Text of Order.

In his executive order Acting Governor Wise said:

"In order to remove any doubt that may exist as to the status of said colonels, admirals, and aids, it is hereby ordered and directed by me as acting governor of this commonwealth that all persons who have been heretofore commissioned colonels, admirals, and aids on the stafs of all preceding governors are hereby declared in good standing and entitled to all the honors, emoluments, privileges, and authority heretofore given them."

Most of the Kentucky colonels, scattered all over the world, were commissioned by former Gov. Ruby Laffoon, who preceded Gov. Chandler in office.

A resolution introduced on April 1 to pay a bonus to the decommissioned colonels is pending in the house. It was offered shortly after Vincent gave his opinion.

ARMS SCANDAL PERILS CABINETS IN SOUTH AMERICA

Nab Chilean Customs Man as Chief Smuggler.

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 27.—A first class armaments scandal threatening to involve several South American cabinets has been uncovered here as a result of Washington state department inquiries regarding munitions shipments to Bolivia through the Chilean port of Arica.

Thanks to clews provided by Washington, the Chilean foreign office tonight considered it was on the track of one of the biggest secret arms trafic conspiracies since the United States government imposed an arms embargo after the outbreak of war in the Gran Chaco between Bolivia and Paraguay.

The specific charge which the Chilean government is investigating in collaboration with the Washington state department covers a shipment of aerial bombs valued at $178,197, but evidence is accumulating that the secret trafic had been proceeding through Arica for many months and involved shipments running into millions.

Seize Customs Officer.

The Peruvian port of Mollendo is believed also to have played its part in the leakage to Bolivia, and the triangular international complications involved by this disclosure were said to have been the reason for a recent secret session of the Chilean congress when the foreign office took the deputies and senators into its confidence.

Later it was announced that Carlos Koch, government customs dispatch officer at Arica, had been arrested and brought by plane to Santiago, and that Ernesto Reinhardt, German, and Hernan Diaz and Juan Mevinsky, Chileans, had also been detained.

Koch was arrested at the direct petition of Foreign Minister Miguel Cruchaga, who had been informed by the United States embassy here that Washington had proof of clandestine trafic through Arica.

Signature a Forgery.

The proof was a photostat of a Chilean government order, signed by Assistant Foreign Minister German Vergara, for 2,190 aerial bombs, for account of the army, from the American Armament corporation [Miranda Brothers], New York, valued at $178,197 and to be shipped within sixty days to Carlos Koch, Chilean government dispatch officer at the port of Arica. The order was based on a "reserved decree" No. 807 of the minister of national defense, Emilio Bello Codesido.

The signature of German Vergara proved to be a forgery and reserve decree No. 807 was declared nonexistent. The investigation was immediately set in motion and United States Ambassador Hoffman Philip asked to secure the tranmission of the original order from the United States as this is required in accordance with Chilean judicial practice.

Further delving into shipments through Arica found that during 1935 an "enormous amount" of arms and war stores had been consigned in the name of Koch, for the Chilean government, to Arica, and from there passed on to Bolivia.

Ship Number of Planes.

Three Curtiss-Falcon scouting planes and two Curtiss-Hawk demonstration planes, from the United States; another planes shipment from an unnamed South American country [this is believed to have been a transhipment]; shells and miscellaneous arms from the Schiller corporation, Germany; and two consignments from Norwegian ports were included in contraband shipments.

More light was turned on the Hugh S. Wells squadron flight which was held up at Lima, Peru, by order of Washington. It was discovered that these four planes were consigned to Koch in Arica. The excuse that these were not war planes was disposed of by the revelation that the corresponding armaments were shipped on the steamer Nordylis to Valparaiso and reshipped to Koch in Arica.

It is recalled that the Norwegian delegate to Geneva drew the league of nations' attention to Norwegian shipments to Arica during 1935 and that the Chilean delegate, in turn, protested that his government had no knowledge of such shipments.

Part of $250,000

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—(AP)—The Detroit News says it has learned that part of a reported $250,000 settlement with Mrs. Elizabeth Carmichael Witherspoon in her claim against the 40 million dollar estate of William H. Yawkey already has been paid.

Mrs. Witherspoon, a former Detroit actress, asserted she was the daughter of the lumberman who once owned the Detroit American league baseball club. Friends here said she now was in Hollywood.

The News quotes Dr. Harold Conn, friend of Arthur O. Carmichael, Detroit attorney and Mrs. Witherspoon's foster brother, as saying he understood the suit was settled in New York several weeks ago.

OLD POP'S BOY SPLASHES INTO BATHTUB TRIAL

That Parker-Farber Mix-up Reaches New High.

ment in Oak Park after the separation? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you stay overnight? A.—Once or twice. [Slowly] Maybe three times.

The witness said Mrs. Farber now lives with her daughters in the Parker home at 417 North 9th avenue, Maywood, and pays $5 a week for her rooms. She sells corsets, he added.

With this young Parker was excused from the witness stand. "I'd better get out of here," he muttered as he stepped down.

Mrs. Farber on the Stand.

Mrs. Farber, a large and radiant brunette who described herself as a "corsetiere," spent a longer time on the stand. As she settled into the witness chair she crossed her knees under her red dress, revealing a shapely set of ankles. She denied all the allegations of misconduct. She declared that her leaving her husband had nothing to do with the elder Parker or with the scrubbing of his back. Farber sometimes imbibed too freely and then he would beat her, she said.

Talking rapidly, Mrs. Farber described two of these alleged beatings and then launched into the story of the bath.

"It was Saturday night and real hot," she said. "We were drinking and having a good time. Mr. Parker said: 'I think I'll take a bath.' Soon he called out from the bathroom: 'Who's going to scrub my back?'

"Kidding, I said I would. But I made no move to do it until he called again. Then Mr. Farber said: 'I dare you to.' And of course I'd had just enough to drink to take the dare. Everyone, including Mr. Farber, thought it was a swell joke."

Her husband also thought it was swell, she said, when Parker bought new linoleum for the Farber kitchen when Farber was ill in the hospital. This was in October, 1934. Before this, said Mrs. Farber, Parker had purchased and installed a hot water tank and a sink for them. That was before he took the famous bath.

Interested in the Kids.

The elder Parker's story of the back scrubbing was similar to that of Mrs. Farber. He testified that he was not interested in her; "only in the kids." He said he visited the Farber home some 70 times, and slept there as protection for the family, at Farber's request, when Farber was in the hospital.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Aschin he admitted that the Maywood home where he lives in the basement "because I like it" was his property until recently when he transferred it to his son.

Q.—How many times did you take a bath in the Farber home? A.—About a dozen.

Q.—Who scrubbed your back? A.—Mrs. Ferber scrubbed it just once.

Q.—Who scrubbed it the other times? A.—It wasn't scrubbed.

A Question of Dress.

Parker had appeared to testify in bedraggled work clothes and Attorney Aschin tried to make a point of this. "You don't have to dress as you are today, do you?" he asked.

Attorney Alswang objected. Aschin explained: "I'm only trying to show your client is a high class man who don't have to dress this way or live in a basement."

On redirect examination Attorney Alswang asked this question of Parker:

"Have you ever had relations with Mrs. Farber?"

'WOMAN IN RED' GOES TO ELLIS ISLAND FOR DEPORTATION BY U. S.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Anna Sage, "the woman in red" who betrayed the desperado, John Dillinger, to his death at the hands of department of justice agents on the night of July 22, 1934, in Chicago, arrived today at Ellis Island to await deportation to Rumania.

Her battle to avoid extradition lost, she was brought to Jersey City in the custody of federal agents, was hurriedly taken off the train and placed aboard a coast guard cutter which took her to Ellis Island, her last stop before she is put aboard the liner Vulcania next Saturday.

The deportation of the 44 year old Chicago woman who also gained notoriety as the operator of vice establishments at Gary, Ind., marks the end of a long fight between Mrs. Sage and government immigration authorities.

Mrs. Sage, who received $5,000 for "putting the finger" on Dillinger, said she had made a bargain with Melvin H. Purvis, then chief of the Chicago division of the bureau of investigation in the department of justice, by which she was to be permitted to stay in the United States in return for betraying Dillinger.

GOERING IS MADE NAZI DICTATOR OF RAW MATERIALS

Also Placed in Control of Foreign Currency.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today appointed Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of air and second strongest man in Germany, supreme controler of all raw materials and foreign currencies with instructions to coördinate all the problems dealing with these matters.

This empowers the former war ace to issue orders to all party and state departments dealing with these problems, from Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank and minister of economics, down to the ministers of finance, agriculture, and labor. This virtually makes Goering vice chancellor of Germany.

As a former army officer trained in the old Prussian school Goering will also attempt to solve the question uppermost in the minds of army officers—the preparation for adaptation of the entire economic system of the country to the needs of the army in case of war.

Got Bitter Lesson in War.

The German army learned a bitter lesson during the world war when officials and officers were suddenly confronted with the necessity of administering and stretching the all too small supplies of foodstuffs and raw materials.

Since Goering is not able to operate the ministries dealing with raw materials and foreign currencies himself, he may delegate his powers to competent ministers. Besides his new job of "coördinator" and arbitrator of economic problems, Goering controls military and civil aviation and anti-aircraft artillery with the title of colonel-general.

He is premier of Prussia, chief of the Prussian GSP [secret police], president of the Prussian state council, chief of the Prusian state theaters, president of the robot reichstag, national master of the hunt and national forest controler. Today's decree makes him a close second to Premier Mussolini in the number of posts he holds.

Schacht's Position Weakens.

Goering's appointment was due largely to the fact that Dr. Schacht's position was weakened recently. The economic dictator was attacked by Nazis who disliked his "capitalistic methods." He also was criticized by industrialists were were disgruntled over his inability to help them get foreign loans and his failure to bow to their wishes and oppose some of the Nazi measures they disliked.

The Nazis feel that with Goering holding the reins of power, the grumbling industrialists will come to time quickly and express less criticism than they did in recent weeks of Schacht's economic dictatorship.

Political circles asserted Goering will visit Hungary in the near future. He is expected to attend a hunting party with Premier Julius Goemboes and other Hungarian statesmen.

Eye Austria and Hungary.

Since the conference of Hungarian and Austrian ministers with Premier Mussolini, German leaders have been nervous. They fear the reich might lose the friendship of Hungary. Germany's eyes also are glued on Austria. Nazi authorities are watching closely what is believed to be a "fight for power between Prince Ernst Ruediger von Starhemberg, the vice chancelor, and Chancelor Kurt Schuschnigg," which may easily lead to serious clashes in Austria.

GERMANS ARREST PASTOR; ANOTHER RUN OUT OF CITY

BERLIN, April 27.—(AP)—One Lutheran pastor was run out of a city and another taken into custody for failure to support the reichstag election March 29, confessional synod officials learned today.

The Rev. Mr. Wolter of Auerstaedt was ordered to leave his parish because he declined to cast a ballot.

The Rev. Mr. Ewert of Salzwedel was arrested for refusing to turn his church over for a campaign rally on the night before the elections. Preceding his arrest he was dragged through the town amid insults and catcalls from a mob.

POLICEMAN SLAIN BY FOUR BANDITS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Gang Escapes After Gem Theft in Ohio.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Four gunmen who robbed a Lima, O., jewelry store of $15,000 worth of gems earlier in the day, shot and killed a policeman and escaped here tonight after they were surrounded in a house.

The men fled in an automobile following an exchange of shots with a posse of police and deputy sherifs. A short time afterward they changed cars, and were reported to be heading south from Indianapolis.

Second Visit for Gang.

A watchman who was forced to witness the robbery after being disarmed, said the robbers were the same gang that raided the store last March 19 and took jewels and cash amounting to $15,000.

Several hours after the Lima robbery Indianapolis police were informed that the gang had driven to this city and had halted here while a physician dressed bullet wounds of one of their number who had been hit by Lima police. The tipster informed police of the location of the hideout.

Shortly after the house was surrounded the gang emerged and the shooting became general. Sergt. Richard Rivers, who was in charge of an Indianapolis police squad, was killed.

Neck Broken in Crash.

Lima, O., April 27.—(AP)—Patrolman Ed Swaney lay near death tonight, victim of an auto accident that ended pursuit of a bandit gang which obtained $15,000 from the Kay Jewelry store here today.

Swaney, who exchanged shots with the robbers in a noon holdup, received a broken neck when the police cruiser manned by himself and Patrolman Jess Ford crashed into another car.

Judge Orders Chiropodist to Pay His Father $12,000

Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court yesterday ordered Clarence Larsen, 3413 North Clark street, a chiropodist, to turn over $12,000 to his father, Christian, 77 years old, 3228 Wilton avenue. The elder Larsen charged the money represented his life savings and that his son had taken the funds from a safety deposit box they held jointly. This was denied by the son who said part of the money is his and part is from the estate of his mother of which he is the administrator. The son claimed the funds amounted to only $7,000 but Judge Hartigan ruled that he was responsible for the larger amount.

REDS AGREE TO JAPAN'S PROPOSAL FOR PROBE OF BORDER DISPUTES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, April 28 [Tuesday].—The first break in the tension between soviet Russia and Japan occurred yesterday. Konstantin K. Yurenev, soviet ambassador, on instructions from Moscow informed Premier Koki Hirota that Russia accepts Japan's proposal that frontier commissions to settle the Manchukuan-soviet border disputes shall limit their work to the section east of Lake Khanka, instead of taking up the entire frontier.

[Lake Khanka is north of Vladivostok on the Siberian border.]

Tokio generally looks on this concession as having eased the tension greatly and gratification was expressed in all quarters. It is understood the settling of disputes on the Mongolian border was left for future consideration.

The commissions will be composed of local Japanese, Manchukuan, and soviet Russian officials and will have headquarters in Suifenho [Pogranichnaya] with branches at several strategic spots. One will consider the settlement of the border clashes and the other the demarcation of the frontier. It is understood the two sides will have equal representation.

JUDGE CONTINUES JURY PAY CASES; INQUIRY GOES ON

A hearing on charges of conspiracy against Alonzo Bigley, 5498 University avenue, and Stanley Golata, 1120 Cornell street, accused of defrauding the county through forged jurors' pay vouchers, was continued until May 18 by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court yesterday. May 18 is also the date when Hugh Falvey, 2300 Lincoln Park West, will be arraigned on a similar charge.

Bigley is a sherif's bailif, Falvey is a clerk in the jury room in the county building. Golata is said to have admitted that he got a pay voucher for $50, issued by Bigley, for jury services he did not perform.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan questioned twelve former veniremen in whose names pay vouchers are said to have been issued and cashed. All said they were excused from jury service and never received pay. Coghlan said he intends to question about 400 other men whose names have been on the jury lists in the last six months.

BAIL $75,000 IN AUTO THEFTS.

James P. Hammond, 29 years old, 4837 Kenmore avenue, arrested by the Summerdale police Wednesday while entering an automobile reported stolen on April 9, was held to the grand jury in total bail of $75,000 by Judge Joseph A. Graber yesterday in the Automobile court.

KESSLER'S PRIVATE BLEND

Initial Gains at Expense of Party Allies.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 27.—It became apparent today that the left wing Popular Front combination will be subjected to serious strain before next Sunday's runoff election. This prospect looms despite the big vote polled yesterday on the first ballot for the chamber of deputies, which presumably would entitle the radical parties to a sweeping victory.

The importance of the vote polled by the communists and the fact that their potential gains will be at the expense of the Radical Socialists and the Socialists is causing pale pink circles considerable hesitation.

There were 1,500,000 communist votes yesterday compared, with less than 800,000 four years ago. Curiously, even after the first ballot victory, the Red newspaper Humanité declared prominently on the front page: "Forward for France, free, strong and happy," thereby continuing the "pro patria" campaign.

Market Takes a Dip.

At the same time the center and moderate press opened up with a bombardment demanding that left wing victors declare themselves. The right wing Socialists were special objects of attack.

On the bourse today the tendency of the election and the success of the communists was marked by a quick drop in government rentes [bonds] and by weakness in French securities led by the Bank of France. At the same time the business world was not inclined to regard the ultimate outlook pessimistically.

The situation must remain unclear for another week until the final vote is cast, and there discipline will count. Observers are generally agreed that the discipline of the Popular Front is much stronger than that of its right wing Nationalist opponents. In other words, it is expected that next Sunday the left wingers will win hands down because they are more willing to give way to whatever candidate is most likely to win. In most cases that will mean the communist candidate will take it away from his Socialist or Radical Socialist colleague.

Doubt Loyalty to Reds.

Although communists apparently will be the chief victors in the election, their victory will be insufficient to let them play any active rôle.

In many cases there is doubt, however, that the Radical Socialist and even the Socialist candidates will be willing to sacrifice themselves to see a communist elected. One of the most striking examples of this situation is Château-Thierry, where Henri Guernut, Radical Socialist, minister of education, failed to get a majority in the first balloting and the question arises as to whether he ought to cede his chances to his communist competitor.

Even where the Popular Front discipline is strictly enforced it is not always certain the voters will ballot accordingly.

Only 183 Already In.

Results of yesterday's balloting showed leftists and the center with 63 seats each and rightists with 57. Runoffs will be necessary to fill 433 seats, or more than two-thirds of the chamber.

The official standing of the parties is:

RIGHTISTS — Republican Parties, 51; Conservatives, 6.

The vote was one of the heaviest in the history of France with about 85 per cent of the 10,000,000 persons eligible going to the polls.

America becomes a Nation of Car Owners
WITH THE AID OF Instalment Buying

Twenty-five years ago you had to be wealthy to own a car. Automobiles were expensive to buy, costly to run and terms were strictly cash.

Then mass production turned out automobiles at lower prices, and instalment terms brought them within the reach of moderate incomes.

Everyone Knows What Happened

With lower prices and instalment buying, millions instead of thousands of cars were required each year. More reliable, more economical and more powerful models appeared. Prices continued to drop and sales to soar—benefiting both cash purchasers and those who buy on the C. I. T. Budget Plan. Today there are 2 cars to every 3 families in America.

When mass production and instalment selling join forces, mass consumption is made possible—luxuries are turned into everyday conveniences.

C. I. T. was one of the first to make instalment buying possible. Today, more than 150 C. I. T. Local Offices are an essential part of their communities, yet each is backed by the resources and experience of a nation-wide institution. Through these local offices, the C.I.T. Budget Plan is helping responsible families everywhere to enjoy finer cars and such modern conveniences as washing machines, refrigerators and automatic heating plants.

Interesting 16-page Booklet, Free

The C. I. T. Budget Plan is for those who spend wisely and manage well. "Buying out of Income" tells you what the Plan will do for you. Write for a free copy to C. I. T. Corporation, 1 Park Ave., New York, Dept. B.

WIDENS THE SCOPE OF BUSINESS

SUPREME COURT DEFINES POWER IN 'YARDS CASE'

Decision Is Significant in Its Basis.

Before going into the facts on which the secretary acted in fixing the rates the court took elaborate pains to justify its right to go behind the secretary's ruling.

"The fixing of rates," said Chief Justice Hughes, "is a legislative act. In determining the scope of judicial review of that act there is a distinction between action within the sphere of legislative authority and action which transcends the limits of legislative power. Exercising its ratemaking authority, the legislature has a broad discretion. It may exercise that authority directly or through the agency it creates or appoints to act for that purpose in accordance with appropriate standards. The court does not sit as a board of revision to substitute its judgment for that of the legislature or its agents as to matters within the province of either.

Limitation of Delegated Authority.

"When the legislature itself acts within the broad field of legislative discretion its determinations are conclusive. When the legislature appoints an agent to act within that sphere of legislative authority it may endow the agent with power to make findings of fact which are conclusive, provided the requirements of due process which are specially applicable to such an agency are met, as in according a fair hearing and acting upon evidence and not arbitrarily."

"In such cases the judicial inquiry into the facts goes no further than to ascertain whether there is evidence to support the findings, and the question of the weight of the evidence in determining issues of fact lies with the legislative agency acting within its statutory authority.

"But the constitution fixes limits to the ratemaking power of prohibiting the deprivation of property without due process of law or the taking of private property for public use without just compensation. When the legislature acts directly its action is subject to judicial scrutiny and determination in order to prevent the transgression of these limits of power. The legislature cannot preclude that scrutiny or determination by any declaration or legislative finding."

Curb on Legislature.

"Legislative declaration or finding is necessarily subject to independent judicial review upon the facts and the law by courts of competent jurisdiction to the end that the constitution as the supreme law of the land may be maintained. Nor can the legislature escape the constitutional limitation by authorizing its agent to make findings that the agent has kept within that limitation.

"Legislative agencies, with varying qualifications, work in a field peculiarly exposed to political demands. Some may be expert and impartial, others subservient. It is not difficult for them to observe the requirements of law in giving a hearing and receiving evidence. But to say that their findings of fact may be made conclusive where constitutional rights of liberty and property are involved, although the evidence clearly establishes that the findings are wrong and constitutional rights have been invaded, is to place those rights at the mercy of administrative officials and seriously to impair the security inherent in our judicial safeguards. That prospect, with our multiplication of administrative agencies, is not one to be lightly regarded.

Power of Courts Uncurbed.

"It is said that we can retain judicial authority to examine the weight of evidence when the question concerns the right of personal liberty. But if this be so, it is not because we are privileged to perform our judicial duty in that case and for reasons of convenience to disregard it in others.

The principle applies when rights either of person or of property are protected by constitutional restrictions. Under our system there is no warant for the view that the judicial power of a competent court can be circumscribed by any legislative arrangement designed to give effect to administrative action going beyond the limits of constitutional authority.

"This is the purport of the decisions above cited with respect to the exercise of an independent judicial judgment upon the facts where confiscation is alleged. The question under the packers and stockyards act is not different from that arising under any other act, and we see no reason why those decisions should be overruled.

Must Consider Evidence.

"But this judicial duty to exercise an independent judgment does not require or justify disregard of the weight which may properly attach to findings upon hearing and evidence. On the contrary, the judicial duty is performed in the light of the proceedings already had and may be greatly facilitated by the assembling and analysis of the facts in the course of the legislative determination. Judicial judgment may be none the less appropriately independent because informed and aided by the sifting procedure of an expert legislative agency.

"Moreover, as the question is whether the legislative action has passed beyond the lowest limit of the permitted zone of reasonableness into the forbidden reaches of confiscation, judicial scrutiny must of necessity take into account the entire legislative process including the reasoning and findings upon which the legislative action rests.

Burden on Complainant.

"We have said that 'in a question of rate making there is a strong presumption in favor of the conclusions reached by an experienced administrative body after a full hearing.' The established principle which guides the court in the exercise of its judgment on the entire case is that the complaining party carries the burden of making a convincing showing and that the court will not interfere with the exercise of the rate making power unless confiscation is clearly established.

"A cognate question was considered in Manufacturers Railway company vs. United States, 246 U. S. 457, 470, 488, 490. There, appellees insisted that the finding of the interstate commerce commission upon the subject of confiscation was conclusive, or at least that it was not subject to be attacked upon evidence not presented to the commission.

"We did not sustain that contention. Nevertheles, we pointed out that correct practice required that 'in ordinary cases, and where the opportunity is open,' all the pertinent evidence should be submitted in the first instance to the commission. The court did not approve the course that was pursued in that case 'of withholding from the commission essential portions of the evidence that is alleged to show the rate in question to be confiscatory.'

Requires "Clear Case."

"And it was regarded as beyond debate that, where the commission after full hearing had set aside a given rate as unreasonably high, it would require a 'clear case' to justify a court, 'upon evidence newly adduced but not in a proper sense newly discovered,' in annulling the action of the commission upon the ground that the same rate was so unreasonably low as to deprive the carrier of its constitutional right of compensation. With that statement, the court turned to an examination of the evidence.

"The principle thus recognized with respect to the weight to be accorded to action by the commission after full hearing applies a fortiori when the case is heard upon the record made before the commission, or as in this case, upon the record made before the secretary of agriculture. It follows, in the application of this principle, that as the ultimate determination whether or not rates are confiscatory ordinarily rests upon a variety of subordinate or primary findings of fact as to particular elements, such findings made by a legislative agency after hearing will not be disturbed save as in particular instances they are plainly shown to be overborne."

Minority Opinion Given.

In the minority opinion Justice Brandeis said:

"I agree that the judgment of the District court should be affirmed, but I do so upon a different ground.

"Like the lower court, I think no good reason exists for making special exception of issues of fact bearing upon a constitutional right. The inexorable safeguard which the due process clause assures is not that a court may examine whether the findings as to value or income are correct, but that the trier of the facts shall be an impartial tribunal; that no finding shall be made except upon notice and opportunity to be heard; that the procedure at the hearing shall be consistent with the essentials of a fair trial, and that it should be conducted in such a way that there will be opportunity for a court to determine whether the applicable rules of law and procedure were observed.

"Suits to restrain or annul an order of the secretary of agriculture are governed by the provision which congress has made for reviewing orders of the interstate commerce commission. That provision does not, in my opinion, permit a District court to set aside an order on the ground that the secretary erred in making a finding of fact, and the jurisdiction of this court to review its judgment is necessarily subject to the same limitation.

"As the District court concluded that no applicable rule of law was disregarded by the secretary; that for his findings there was ample support in the evidence; that taken together they support his conclusion that the rates are compensatory, and that the proceeding was in no respect irregular, it was in duty bound to dismiss the bill without inquiring into the correctness of his findings of subsidiary facts.

"The supremacy of law demands that there shall be opportunity to have some court decide whether an erroneous rule of law was applied, and whether the proceeding in which facts were adjudicated was conducted regularly. To that extent, the person asserting a right, whatever its source, should be entitled to the independent judgment of a court on the ultimate question of constitutionality.

"But supremacy of law does not demand that the correctness of every finding of fact to which the rule of law is to be applied shall be subject to review by a court. If it did, the power of courts to set aside findings of fact by an administrative tribunal would be broader than their power to set aside a jury's verdict. The constitution contains no such command.

Effect of Decisions.

"In deciding whether the constitution prevents congress from giving finality to findings as to value of income where confiscation is alleged, the court must consider the effect of our decisions not only upon the function of rate regulation, but also upon the administrative and judicial tribunals themselves.

"Responsibility is the great developer of men. May it not tend to emasculate or demoralize the ratemaking body if ultimate responsibility is transferred to others? To the capacity of men there is a limit. May it not impair the quality of the work of the courts if this heavy task of reviewing questions of fact is assumed?"

DISAPPEARS

MRS. EBEN DRAPER.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The disappearance of Mrs. Hazel Archibald Draper, wife of a former Massachusetts state senator, Eben Draper, remained clouded in mystery tonight following failure of efforts to connect her with reports that a woman had jumped overboard from the Cunard-White Star liner Georgic at sea.

The Georgic arrived at Cobh, Ireland, today but did not report a drowning on the trip from New York and there was no Draper on the passenger list.

Mrs. Draper, 42 years old, disappeared after leaving a sanitarium at Katonah, N. Y.. She was traced to a New York hotel, where, police said, a woman answering her description left a note saying she intended to stow away on the Georgic and commit suicide at sea.

VOTE TO INDICT RAPIST SLAYER IN GIRL'S DEATH

CRIMINAL COURT.

Mike Maxcanisi, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe.

Clarence Murray, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; Andrew Turnowy and Edward Solankowski, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Walter Wawrzaisek, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary, by Judge Cornelius Harrington.

Konrad Ricker, forgery, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

Otto Pech, 33 years old, of Hillside, a grave digger, who has confessed the rape and slaying nine years ago of Edna Mueller, 15 years old, was reported named in a true bill charging murcer voted yesterday by the grand jury.

One of the witnesses before the jury was Mrs. Bertha Steinhauer of Elmhurst, who brought about the arrest of Pech last Thursday when she told police he boasted of the crime. Pech has been examined and found sane by Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, director of the Criminal court behavior clinic.

During the day Sherif Robert Roche of Columbus county, Wis., and Harry Leng, whose daughter, Helen, 14 years old, was raped and shot to death near Portage, Wis., two months after the murder of the Mueller girl, visited the state's attorney's office and questioned Pech. The prisoner denied the crime but the two men took back pictures of the grave digger to show to the person who sold a gun to the rapist.

STOLEN TRUCK FOUND BURNED.

A truck bearing signs advertising a loop dancing school, which was taken from its driver by three gunmen at Grand and Racine avenues Sunday, was found burned at May and Hubbard streets yesterday. Jack Siddell, owner, blamed business rivals.

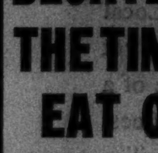
BLOATED ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP



"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better."—Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves gas and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

ASSESSOR FIGHTS TAX BOARD OVER VALUATION CUTS

Refuses to Obey Order to Make Reductions.

Hot words were exchanged by county tax officials yesterday over the question of whether the tax board of appeals can overrule Assessor John S. Clark in his refusal to reduce 1934 assessed real estate valuations for 3,136 property owners.

Emmett Whealan and Paul Drymalski, the two members of the appeals board, announced in a joint statement that on Saturday they gave County Clerk Michael J. Flynn a set of books containing their certification of the reduced valuations.

The statement quoted the statutes in support of the board's contention that it has authority to order such "corrections." It declared that, in opposition to Clark, members of the board have "for two months taken the position that the small property owner is entitled to correction in assessment where error is found, in the same measure as large corporations or estates which can afford expensive counsel."

Clark Challenges Board.

Assessor Clark quickly challenged the board in this action, adding some caustic criticisms of Mr. Whealan.

"The only request Mr. Whealan made of me with respect to 1934 assessments," Clark said, "was that I reduce the assessed valuation of the City Hall Square hotel. I refused his request.

"I shall send my own certifications to the county clerk, and I shall expect him to follow them, rather than the board's. The board has not the power that it has here assumed."

Clark said the law specifies that a taxpayer may protest his assessment only within 60 days after a quadrennial reassessment, unless there has been a physical change in the property. That time has long since passed for the majority of the objectors, he said, since the last quadrennial reassessment was in 1931.

Clark Approves 394 Cuts.

"I approved reductions in 394 of the 3,530 cases in which the board ordered reductions only because there had been physical changes in the property," Clark said. "Any additional reductions would be illegal. I acted as I did only after getting an opinion from Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell."

County Clerk Flynn was not disturbed by the controversy.

"I'll ask a written opinion from Mr. Bell," he said, "and I'll accept whichever certification he upholds."

Mr. Bell, who is in charge of tax matters for the state's attorney, declared that the appeals board, in certifying corrections to the county clerk, is "acting in direct opposition to the statutes, which say that the assessor shall certify the reductions."

Gill Discusses Court Ruling.

County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill commented yesterday on last week's decision by the Illinois Supreme court that a taxpayer who has paid his tax bill without protest is not entitled to recover on the ground of excessive assessment. The decision means, Gill said, that he will not have to make refunds estimated at $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 from current collections.

County Treasurer Allen J. Nelson of Lake county announced yesterday in Waukegan that 145,000 real estate and personal property tax bills for 1935 have been mailed to taxpayers of the county. The total levy for the year is $4,984,736, an increase of $328,822 over the total for 1934.

Divorcee Found Dead in Car with Tube from Exhaust

Police were investigating last night theories that despondency over a love affair or ill health caused Miss Dorothy Brown, 31 years old, a divorcée, to commit suicide with carbon-monoxide gas from her automobile motor. Her body was found earlier in the day in her car in a garage which she rented at 4582 Washington boulevard. A piece of garden hose extended from the exhaust to the tonneau. Miss Brown was an accountant at the Western Fuel company, 2627 Adams street. Officials there said her books were in order. She was divorced four years ago from Fred Olson, 1721 West 106th street.

There are eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

$250,000 JEWEL THEFT IN DIXIE HOME REVEALED

Camden, S. C., April 27.—(AP)—A $250,000 jewel robbery at the handsome winter home of Ernest L. Woodard, retired capitalist and sportsman of Leroy, N. Y., was disclosed here tonight.

The jewelry was taken from Holly Hedge, the Woodard home, March 28 while Mr. and Mrs. Woodard were attending the running of the Carolina cup steeplechase, but the theft was kept secret in the hope that recovery might be expedited.

The officers said a $5,000 reward for arrest of the thieves and return of the property had been offered by Albert R. Lee & Co. of New York, an insurance adjustment firm.

Insurance of more than $180,000 was reported carried on the missing jewelry.

CHICAGO LAGS ON GIFTS AND TAXES FOR HOSPITALS

Cleveland Gives 6 Times as Much Support.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A survey made public yesterday by the Chicago hospital council shows that hospitals here received far less aid from tax relief sources and from private contributions than hospitals in other cities.

The figures, made public by Perry Addleman, executive director of the council, show that voluntary or privately endowed Chicago hospitals receive less than one-sixth as much as Cleveland hospitals received and about one-fourth of that received by New York City hospitals.

Tax relief and community fund sources, the figures show, provided a total average of $335.95 per bed for Cleveland hospitals, and $350 for each bed in New York hospitals. In Chicago these combined sources amount to only $126.61 for each bed.

Chicago Pays 19 Cents Per Capita.

When populations are considered, the Addleman figures show that these income sources provide $1.18 per capita in Cleveland and 98 cents in New York, while in Chicago the same sources provide only 19 cents per capita.

Mr. Addleman said that in New York 79 voluntary hospitals with 20,000 beds receive $5,000,000 from tax sources and $2,000,000 from voluntary subscriptions. Cleveland, with about one-seventh of New York's population gives through taxes and voluntary support about one-seventh as much to hospitals as New York or slightly more than one million dollars, about 45 per cent of which is derived from the community fund.

Contributions Here $71,000.

In Chicago, voluntary hospitals receive a total of $668,000 from both taxation and community fund sources, the latter here contributing a total of $71,000, according to Mr. Addleman.

If, said Mr. Addleman, Chicago's voluntary hospitals were supported equally with Cleveland's, 7,000 beds would be provided by public support here instead of about 5,000. Twenty thousand beds are provided in New York with less than double the population of Chicago. Government supported general hospitals in Chicago such as Cook county hospital, offer a total of one and one-tenth for each thousand or population. Similar institutions in New York, he said, provide one and 44 hundredths bed for each thousand, and in Cleveland slightly less than 2 beds for each thousand.

HARRY PEARSONS SEEKS A DIVORCE UNDER NEW LAW

Ex-Mayor of Evanston Cites 2 Year Support.

Harry P. Pearsons, former mayor of Evanston, filed suit for divorce yesterday in the Superior court against Mrs. Elizabeth Pearsons, 6003 7th street, Kenosha, Wis. Pearsons has conducted a legal fight since 1932 to set aside a separate maintenance decree won by his wife at that time. He bases his current petition for a divorce upon the new state law, recently held constitutional by the Illinois Supreme court, which makes two years of separate maintenance basis for a divorce on the ground of desertion.

Recites Payments to Wife.

In the bill filed yesterday Pearsons alleges that he has paid $8,515 to his wife since their separation. This amount, he states, includes solicitor's fees and expenses to fight a writ of error brought by him in an attempt to set aside the original findings which awarded Mrs. Pearsons $40 a week for her support.

Last Feb. 22, at the time the state Supreme court refused to hear Pearsons' appeal from an Appellate court ruling that the separate maintenance decree was proper and valid, Mrs. Pearsons' lawyer, Frank Cantwell, said the former mayor owed his client some $9,000 in unpaid alimony.

Suit Bitterly Fought in 1932.

The separate maintenance hearing before Judge Harry B. Miller in 1932 was bitterly contested. At its end Pearsons' story that he had married Mrs. Pearsons to save her name was discredited. Pearsons also was severely criticized for his defense by Judge Kickham Scanlan in the Appellate court's opinion.

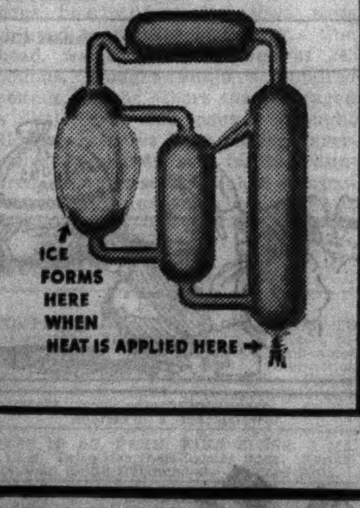
SILENCE IS THE FIRST THING YOU NOTICE ABOUT ELECTROLUX

NO MOVING PARTS HERE!
This simplified diagram shows why Electrolux has no moving parts—needs none. Parts that do not move cannot wear. This means long years of satisfactory service—real savings on depreciation.



USES NO WATER
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Remember, this silence means more than comfort... it indicates a basically different operating method that offers many important exclusive advantages

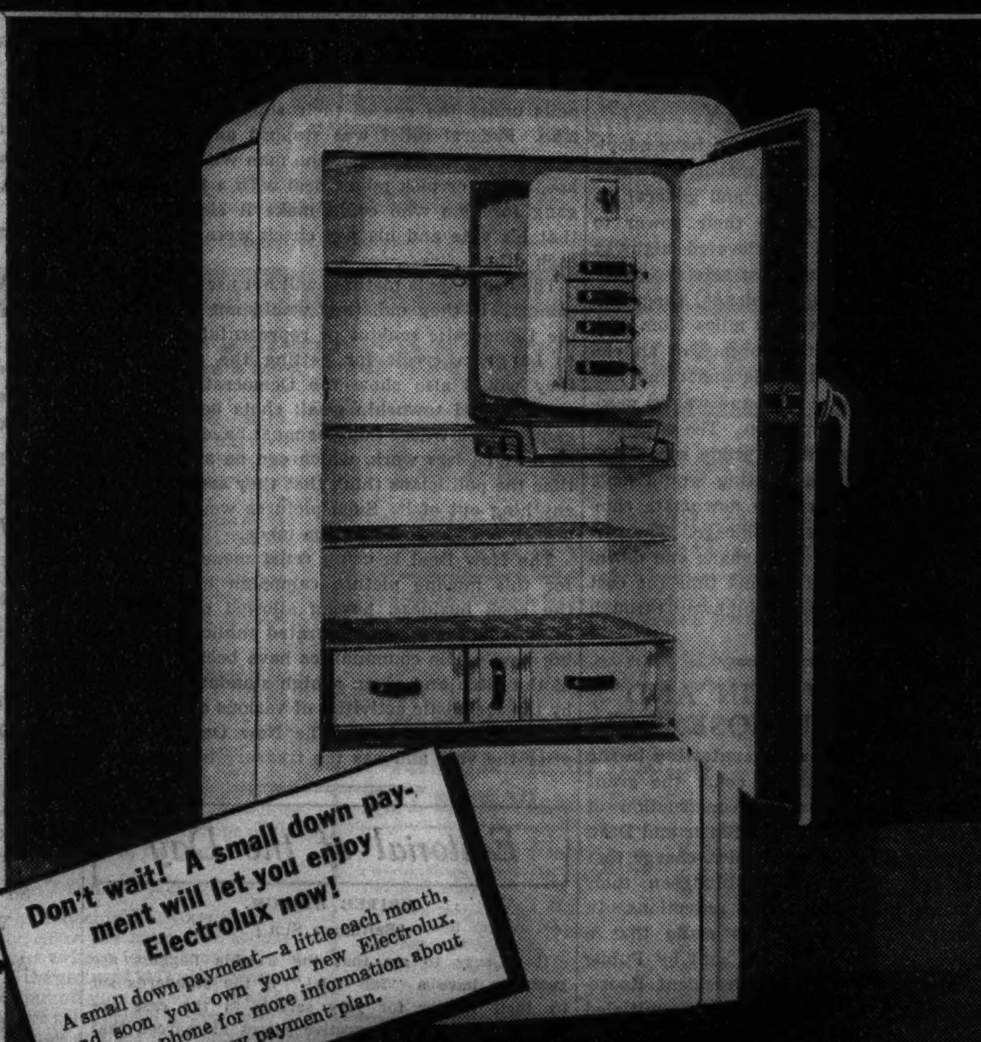
TO MOST people the amazing thing about Electrolux is its permanent silence. Actually this silence is simply the outward evidence of something far more important—the basically different operating method that sets Electrolux apart from all other automatic refrigerators.

There is no force... no friction... no noise... not a single moving part in Electrolux. A tiny gas flame keeps a simple refrigerant circulating. By being alternately heated and cooled, this refrigerant freezes ice and maintains constant cold.

This is automatic refrigeration made simple. And this simplicity offers you extraordinary savings. Parts that do not move cannot wear—there's a saving in that. Constant perfect food protection means that you can buy in quantity and take advantage of special discounts—another saving. And the remarkably low running cost of Electrolux saves pennies every day—dimes every week!

And there's nothing theoretical about these savings. Many owners tell us they have actually paid for their Electrolux with these savings over a reasonable period. You'll probably find that a new Electrolux will cost you less over a period of years than "getting along" with a less efficient refrigerator.

Electrolux popularity has reached the proportions of a national trend this year. See why—by visiting your own gas company or any of the local dealers listed below. Find out why owners all agree that "Electrolux offers you more." Servel, Inc., Electrolux Refrigerator Sales Division, 549 West Randolph Street, Chicago, Illinois.



Don't wait! A small down payment will let you enjoy Electrolux now!
A small down payment—a little each month, and soon you own your new Electrolux. Write or phone for more information about this easy payment plan.

FOUR DISTINGUISHED REPUBLICANS.

Many Republican leaders in many sections of the country have let their eyes wander from the ball. What they should be concentrating upon is the selection of the candidate who can win. Instead they are showing a tendency to divide into pro-Landon and anti-Landon factions, the one convinced that the choice must fall to Landon, the other that the candidate must be any one except Landon.

Both factions are in error. The pro-Landon group is failing to recognize the fact that there are four candidates—Landon, Vandenberg, Borah, and Dickinson—each of whom is well qualified for the presidency. One has served as a governor, the other three as United States senators, and all of them have distinguished records. Advocacy of Gov. Landon's cause should not blind men to the fact that the other candidates are also possessed of high character and attainments.

The anti-Landon men fall into the same kind of error. They have become convinced that Mr. Landon is unsuitable, though the basis for this conclusion is pretty flimsy. It is true that Mr. Landon was ill advised on the California situation. He should have joined with the other candidates in support of an uninstructed delegation, but his having failed to do so does not disqualify him from consideration, for otherwise his record appears to be sound and his popularity is undoubtedly great.

We repeat: All four of the candidates who are now out in front are qualified for the office. The attention of Republican leaders should be concentrated upon the selection of the strongest of the four. Preoccupation with convention maneuvers is leading many to forget that after the convention comes an election and it is the election which the Republicans must win if the country is to be spared another four years of misgovernment. Extreme factionalism now will go far to destroy the party's chances in November.

ROCKFORD FAVORS THE SUPERHIGHWAY.

Representative citizens of Rockford have adopted a resolution calling upon the mayor and council of Chicago and the governor and general assembly of Illinois to do all in their power to speed the construction of an elevated highway through Chicago's congested west side.

Rockford is 90 miles from Chicago, geographically speaking. It is about 120 miles from Chicago, motorwise, because the absence of an elevated road through the city adds something like 30 per cent to the running time and wastes gasoline in about the same proportion. The construction of the kind of continuous grade separation requested at the Rockford meeting would have the effect of moving all of the downstate communities 20 or 30 miles nearer Chicago. The saving of time and money to Chicagoans and downstaters would repay within a short time the cost of constructing such a modern highway through the congested areas.

HEADS THEY WIN AND TAILS YOU LOSE.

Certain utility companies are contesting in the District of Columbia Supreme court the grant of subsidies by PWA for the construction of municipal power plants. Newton Baker and Dean Acheson, representing the companies, charge that the grants are being used to bludgeon their clients into making ruinous rate reductions. In this connection the charge was made that a letter bearing on the point was sent by Public Works Administrator Ickes to President Roosevelt last summer and that a reply, initialed F. D. R., had been penciled upon it. Mr. Baker and Mr. Acheson asked that this letter be entered in the record.

This request was opposed by Jerome Frank, formerly general counsel for AAA but now acting as special assistant to the attorney general in this case. He insisted that the utilities were on a fishing expedition and had no proof of the existence of such a note. They were trying merely to turn up some correspondence which would be helpful to their cause, Mr. Frank argued, and the court sustained him.

The New Deal lawyers ought to get together on their story. The Black inquisitors, operating under New Deal auspices, stole 5,000,000 private telegrams. They had no warant for the seizure. They didn't specify what messages they wanted nor why they wanted them. They were engaged in as brazen a fishing expedition as ever was conducted in violation of the constitution of the United States.

Mr. Baker and Mr. Acheson, one a former Democratic secretary of war and the other a former Democratic assistant secretary of the treasury, said a particular letter written by one government official to another government official existed. They asserted that it was relevant to the controversy. This time it was the New Deal's ox which was in danger of being gored. The New Deal's lawyer denounced the proposal as an outrageous fishing expedition.

The conclusion seems clear enough. No private citizen is to be secure in the possession of his papers and effects, as guaranteed by the constitution, if the New Deal has its way. And, contrariwise, no government official's papers bearing on a public question are to be subjected to scrutiny under any circumstances. There is to be one law for the subject and another for his political overlords.

COAL BY THE GALLON.

When a representative of the National Coal association recently suggested the possibility of transportation of that fuel through pipe lines if railroad freight rates continue to advance smiles appeared on the faces of his audience. They had congregated in the hearing rooms of the interstate commerce commission to argue the question of making permanent the so-called surcharges that are now being added to freight rates to carry the railways through their financial crisis.

According to the speaker, coal can be pulverized and transported in water under pressure. The scheme, he asserted, was "not any more of a dream than was trucking a few years ago." A few listeners recalled that Dr. Diesel's patent, issued in 1892, described an engine for burning powdered coal blown into the cylinders by compressed air.

Most transportation men, and prominent among these are the majority of the trafic managers of the railways and all of the staf of the interstate commerce commission, fail to realize that there are few, if any, commodities that must move by rail. They ascribe losses in business to the depredations of the highway and waterway, entirely overlooking an immense potential freight volume that is being destroyed outright by ingenuity. It is not to be supposed that coal pipe lines, or gasoline pipe lines, for that matter, could be extended to every village and hamlet in the country, but either this novel system or some other device will reach the great centers of consumption. The result will be a forcing upward of the freight rates on coal to smaller centers until those prices, too, reach an economic top and the trafic seeks other means of transport; and so on ad infinitum.

On the whole, freight rates are too high, but there are outstanding instances where they are too low. All are dislocated with commodity values and badly in need of revision; not burocratic revision, however, that considers nothing save an artificial regularity, but an overhauling that weighs the economics of individual movements and which may be undertaken only by the railways themselves. The country is already groaning under the load of a sixty billion dollar investment in transportation, much of which is duplicate effort induced by the very situation described by the witness in this case.

MR. HOPKINS GOES HOLLYWOOD.

Bertrand H. Snell, leader of the Republican minority in the house of representatives, says it has come to his attention that the Works Progress administration is preparing fifty campaign news reels, some in technicolor and all talking pictures, illustrating the various activities of the great boondoggle. To Mr. Snell it was a shocking distortion of the relief program to use money for special pleading and political effect. He said that he is informed that each movie will flash the name of the Democratic senator or representative who sponsored the project.

Certainly Mr. Snell has not just been informed that the Works Progress administration is a vote getting organization. If his information is not complete he should cross over to the senate some day when young Senator Holt, a Democrat, is giving the details of the political use of the relief money in his own state and accusing Mr. Hopkins of covering up the story of how Senator Neely, Democrat, has used the made work for patronage.

He might also look at the figures of the recent Illinois Democratic primaries in which 235,000 WPA workers and a like or larger number of their women folk and dependents went to the polls under the eye of their supervisor or foreman. Federal relief was stopped and pay rolls were set up in order that the man with the rake, hoe, spade, or pick might deal with a Democratic gang foreman who could make it clear to him that his vote and his pay check were related to each other.

The boondoggle pictures will not use the candid camera. If they did, they would not only show the Democratic senator or representative who is to be given credit for getting the money but they would also show the Democratic precinct workers and township small shots bossing each gang of men whose families must have what they earn at useless work, which can be stopped any time the politicians think that they aren't getting anything out of it. Such pictures would be very useful, but they will not be made.

The New Deal is using relief money not only for this moving picture campaign but it is in the book business, having allowed over a half million dollars for an illustrated publication showing how whole communities have been lifted out of the ditch and given a high standard of living by the socialistic activities of various alphabetical agencies from A to Z. The New Deal is going after the vote and has the treasury behind it.

Editorial of the Day

OBITER DICTUM.

[Baltimore Sun.]

It is easy to see that the Florida floggers are going to have a "fair trial" if the standards set by their lawyer for jury service in the case are adhered to. The prospective jurors all agreed that they are opposed to communism, which, according to Attorney Whittaker, stands for racial equality and the destruction of "our homes, our churches, and our Anglo-Saxon civilization." The obvious intent of this line of inquiry is to imply that the murdered man, being a labor leader, must have been a communist and, as a communist, must have stood for the nefarious objects cited.

If the prosecution in this notorious case is not half asleep it could make the point, in questioning members of the panel, that jurors who believe that it is the function of citizens and policemen to kidnap labor leaders and beat them to death are also ineligible for service on a Florida jury. The "destruction of our Anglo-Saxon civilization" will not be long delayed if such miscreants cannot be apprehended, prosecuted and convicted without attacks by the legal profession on the political opinions of the murdered man, which, if Anglo-Saxon civilization is worth preserving, have nothing to do with the case.

IT'S A FUNNY THING about a Welsh rabbit. You can call it a Welsh rarebit if you want to, but just the same its name is Welsh rabbit. It's one of the seven jokes used by newspaper and magazine comic writers. They always say that if you eat a Welsh rabbit at night you'll have all your grandmothers back to Eve promenading through your room when you're trying to sleep and that some of the grandmothers will be swinging by their toes from the chandelier. A grandmother should never do that; it is most undignified. But what I was going to say is that I know a young person who makes a Welsh rabbit that doesn't bring any grandmothers or even polka dotted chimpanzees into your dreams. Or you don't even think for a while that a big black bear wearing a silk hat and a bathing suit is trying to poke a butcher knife through your gizzard. This Welsh rabbit is a sedative. You can eat it at supper time or midnight and, instead of awakening screaming in agony at the horrible nightmare you've just had, you sleep without any dreams at all. And some old philosopher, I can't remember who, said: "The happiest night is the one in which we have no dreams."

LOVE MACHINE WORKS.

Life is progressing by leaps and by bounds,
Developing all kinds of quirks;
Science is serving sweet Romance at last,
And fancy—a Love Machine works!

Do you think that it runs like a coffee machine,
Slowly, then faster it perks?
Oh, what do we care how the wheels go around
As long as the Love Machine works!

So listen, sophisticates, skeptics and such;
Hearken, spring poets and Turks;
Attendez, Frenchmen, L'Amour she is saved!
For Halsted Street's Love Machine works!

Oh, life moves along most deceivingly
And little we know what lurks;
A modest sign over on Halsted street
Is announcing a "Love Machine Works"!

DAVIDA.

HERR HITLER has it all over American authors. He has decreed that his book, "My Struggle," must be presented as a marriage gift to every couple in Germany by the registrar at the marriage ceremony. It's impossible to say at this distance whether the registrar or Germany gets stuck for the price of the book, but as 700,000 couples get married every year in Germany it can readily be seen that Herr Hitler's book will be away ahead in the best seller class. On the other hand, the presentation of "My Struggle" may cause an awful drop in the number of marriages over there. No matter how much a young man may love a girl, the thought that if he marries her he will have to read Herr Hitler's book may cause him to go right over to the Rhine and wade out in it until his hat floats.

IT'S VERY DISCOURAGING. The people who are exhibiting the first television machines say they're being improved very fast, but right now they are like a home movie. Then I don't want one of 'em now. I've seen many home movies and they always make me break down and cry and have terrible pains in the neck and the left ankle.

BLUEBIRD BY THE WINDOW.

My verses lagged—yes, that I knew,
Although I wondered why;
Then, well within my window's view,
A bluebird flitted by.

A bit of woodland violets,
Of cool spring sky at dawn,
Or mountain lake, or haze that nets
Far hills when day is done.

Though just a flash of softest blue,
Enough of it had spilled,
So that it seemed, with this same hue,
The air around was filled.

And the effects for which I sought—
To lift my verse along,
A tiny flying bird had caught
And made a wordless song.

A mote of color swinging,
In arcs that rose and fell,
To set my fancy ringing
With springtime's silvery bell.

I took my stilted rapture
And tore it right in two,
And wished that I could capture
A bird wing's flash of blue.

LOOK OUT FOR MASTOID TROUBLE.

WHEN infection occurs in the loose tissue beneath the skin, its presence is announced by an obvious swelling which is painful, red, and hot. We know also that the skin itself may become attacked. Occasionally bacteria will lodge in the oil glands [sebaceous], the sweat glands, or the hair follicles. The result is a boil [furuncle]. As pus gathers it will either rupture to the outside or a proper opening may be made to facilitate its escape.

When bacteria flourish within a bony cavity and remain confined to that area, there may be no external swelling and hence their presence may be difficult to recognize. The symptom of pain, however, is nearly always present and is nature's demand for an investigation.

Pain is usually a rather prominent symptom in mastoid disease, in which the honeycomblike cells within that part of the skull are involved. In adults the bony process may be felt directly back of the ear as a ridge approximately one and a half inches in length.

Mastoiditis occurs commonly in childhood as a complication of some acute infection which has reached the middle ear [inside the drum] either via the blood stream or by direct extension along the Eustachian tube. It should be recalled that this tube connects the middle ear with the throat. Many a foundation stone for future deafness is laid as the result of acute or chronic disease of some part of the hearing mechanism.

We can all understand that when inflammation is set up within the ear that pressure may develop because of the confined pus. The earliest symptom—earache—is often accompanied by an outward bulging of the drum. This may not mean mastoid disease at all, as the infection may subside rather promptly if the drum is opened and the pus allowed to escape to the outside. It is often necessary to perforate the drum with a tiny incision to prevent spontaneous rupture with the possibility of greater damage.

Because of the peculiar anatomical structure of that part of the skull which houses the delicate hearing apparatus, pus under pressure may find its way into the brain or burrow through the bone. In the first instance meningitis may result. We may be deceived in our interpretation of ear symptoms because of the existence of some other infection such as pneumonia or an intestinal inflammatory state. Any child with earache, a temperature, and vomiting spells should be considered a possible mastoid victim.

There are but few acute, blazing conditions which demand immediate surgical attack. If the appendix can be removed before it has ruptured and infected the peritoneum, well and good. On the contrary, the middle ear and the mastoid should, as a rule, not be interfered with until the acute phase of the disease has passed. Fine discrimination is required on the part of the physician in determining whether operation is necessary and, if so, when. Each patient presents an individual problem. How ill is the youngster? Much will depend on the kind of organism that is causing the infection. Then, too, the resistance of the patient must be considered. Has some other disease sapped his strength? Watchful waiting, with the child under competent medical supervision, until the infection has localized, is the wisest plan.

Care must be taken, however, not to wait too long. Sometimes pus will find its way through the bone and a bulging area back of the ear will be observed. This pathway lies either through a suture [where two bones join] or through the bone itself which may be dissolved away [necrosed].

An X-ray is often of value in making the diagnosis, and if there is any question as to bone involvement it is well to have the patient in a hospital where X-ray facilities are immediately available and where the operation, if necessary, can be performed without delay. Drainage is the cardinal principle, and all the infected cells must be opened so as to permit free exit of the confined pus. When the procedure is skilifully carried out there is nothing quite so satisfactory. The child recovers, as a rule, without complications, although it may be necessary to keep the mastoid wound open for several weeks.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Third article.]

JERUSALEM.—"Any person found in possession of any knife, stick, bludgeon, iron bar, stone, or weapon of any sort or description . . . and any person singing a song or making use of words or gestures which in the opinion of a police officer are likely to lead to a breach of the peace may be arrested without warant and is liable to fine and imprisonment."

That proclamation, posted by the authority of the district commissioner, and appearing in the three languages of the country—English, Hebrew, and Arabic—greeted the inhabitants of Jerusalem from every street corner recently.

This business is not unusual. It happens about three times a year. It does not mean the British police, who have to keep the mercurial population in order, are anticipating trouble. But since the bloody riots of August, 1929, they are taking no chances.

This year the police were being unusually careful because three festivals of the three religions of the country happened to coincide—a rare event. The Christian Easter came together with the Jewish Passover and the Moslem "Nebi Mussa." Chances for disturbance, unless the police were firm and vigilant, were excellent.

No such precautions were necessary before the war under the régime of the old Turkish empire. There were fights, of course, at Christmas and at Easter—between warring sects of Christians. The Turkish police restored order good humoredly and kept Christians from hurting each other too much.

At that time some 50,000 Jews lived in Palestine as permanent residents. They lived in peace with the Mohammedans. Both parties treated religion as a matter of private concern.

The necessity for strong measures today indicates the change in atmosphere. It is not that Moslems and Jews are more pious than they were. It is because religion has become a badge of race hatred. And this race hatred has been roused because the Arabs have seen a country which they consider theirs colonized by Jews, a people whom they hold as aliens.

The Jews in Palestine once were a small fraction of the population, some 50,000 out of about 800,000. Today they number nearly 400,000 out of about 1,200,000. Proportionately they have gone up from one-sixteenth to nearly one-third. That is sufficient, not to mention other grievances, to keep the Arab reminded of the presence of another religion and ever ready to defend his own. He can be roused on the mere suspicion that the holy places are in danger.

On the Jewish side is a most peculiar situation. Every Jew in Palestine observes some of the forms of his religion.

The point on which they lay most stress is the observance of the Sabbath [Saturday].

Arabs look at these evidences of national religious fanaticism with dismay. They see a day coming when the coercion which Jews now can apply only to their fellow Jews will be applied to all Palestine if ever the Jews should become its masters.

Independence, Ia., April 21.—I was greatly interested in what Henry A. Pershing wrote about Johnny Appleseed Chapman and am sending this item in corroboration of the fact, as he contends that Johnny Appleseed Chapman was a real person.

My mother, who was born in 1834, knew him as a child at her home in Ohio. Grandfather had a cider press, and the neighbors for miles around brought their apples to be made into cider, and Johnny Appleseed Chapman came there to pick the apple seeds out of the pulp mess. He had his meals at grandfather's, but insisted on sleeping on the hay, because his work made him so dirty, and that was the remembrance my mother had of him.

Among our friends here in Iowa were Chapmans, who were distant relatives of Johnny Appleseed. We have a history of Johnny Appleseed, written by Dwight Hillis, D. D., "The Quest of John Chapman."

JESSIE LOUISE SMITH.

ASSIGNMENT FOR MR. HULL.

Chicago, April 23.—You report that the Mackenzie river basin of western Canada continued yesterday to pile chilled air over the central west, making the month the coldest April in ten years. I say the coal buyers in the central west and in fact almost our entire country ought to send in their excess coal bills for the entire winter to Uncle Sam with instructions to demand of Canada damages because of the villainous and repeated misconduct this winter of the aforesaid Mackenzie river basin, over which Canada alone has jurisdiction.

AN AMERICAN SCOTCHMAN.

THE AMERICAN ECONOMIC SYSTEM.

Chicago, April 22.—Your front page editorial last Sunday was very interesting. But why do you wrestle with a dummy? You argue as if everybody in the streets had at the tip of his tongue the definition of the American economic system. I wager a dinner from soup to nuts that not one person of your editorial brain trust can give a correct, nay, an approximate, definition of the so-called American economic system. [Please except the copy boys; they may hit upon it by chance.]

JULIUS BAUER.

FROM A WPA WORKER.

Chicago, April 22.—I wish to protest against the cartoon which you published on the front page of your paper April 22.

I am a young man, 20 years old, employed as a clerk on the WPA. In the cartoon you stated "What's the use of working? It won't get you anywhere." Well, when I first received my assignment it was as a laborer on a sewer project. I worked along on that project for a while, did as I was told and minded my business. I was transferred and continued to go along, and the first thing I knew I was promoted to a junior clerkship.

You also stated "the work is useless. You might as well loaf." Well, I invite you to come over to the 28th ward and see the "useless work" we are doing, making playgrounds for the children so as to keep them off the streets. Again you state "There is no hope for you." Well, if you have anything better to suggest that would make us WPA men more hopeful than the WPA has I wish you would trot it out. At least we have more self-respect for ourselves by earning our keep.

ROBERT BANKS.

INCESSANT HAMMERING.

Chicago, April 20.—I am wondering when you will discontinue your incessant hammering, knocking and pounding at the Roosevelt administration. You are overdoing it to a point of repugnancy. In fact, it is sickening. Your editorials, which were formerly read with interest, are now not only overlooked but passed with disdain. Your overzealousness to promote the Republican party has so overcome and blinded you that you indirectly assume a conclusion that the readers are so unintelligent as to swallow your theories hook, line and sinker. Wake up!

ADAM S. PRZYBYSZEWSKI.

AMBULANCE CHASERS.

Chicago, April 23.—My widowed mother was struck by an automobile and we are nearly crazy fighting off high pressure men and women. A woman got into the hospital on a false pretext and had my mother sign a lawyer's contract. We had a man investigate this for us and we learned that there is a big ambulance-chasing ring headed by a woman. They even have hospitals coöperating with them. It's bad enough to get hit without people anxious to make money out of your misfortune.

DISGUSTED.

WE'LL ASK MacCARTIE.

Chicago, April 17.—Every now and then, as for instance in one of your editorials yesterday, I am mystified by the expression "Copyright in all foreign countries, including the Scandinavian." Am I too dumb to see the significance in this reference to the Scandinavian, or is it you who are dumb in using it?

A. W. HILLTON.

PARABLE.

Elkhorn, Wis., April 22.—Two young men were standing on the bank of a very narrow but deep stream. One of them was feeling exceptionally strong that morning. He said, "Jim, I can throw you clear across to the other bank."

Jim said, "You can't do it."

Bill said, "I'll bet you a dollar I can."

Jim said, "I'll take your bet."

Bill grabbed him and gave him an awful heave, but he dropped in the stream. He scrambled out and blowing and brushing water from his face said: "I knew you couldn't do it; now give me the dollar."

"O no," said Bill. "I'll keep trying a different grip till I make it."

Applicable to Roosevelt's "Do something and if it don't work, do something else." In the meantime the public is continually getting soused.

ILLEGAL ENTRY.

Chicago, April 23.—[Friend of the People.]—1. Can an honest, respectable, steady working man who is in the United States illegally since May, 1922, obtain a first paper? He left a German steamer in New York. 2. Can he ever become a citizen of the United States and how? 3. If he wants to go to Germany for a few months, can he get a reentry permit? 4. If he gets a reëntry permit and goes to Germany, isn't he going to be stopped from landing in the United States when returning? R. K.

1. Under existing legislation, only those aliens who entered this country illegally prior to June 3, 1921, and have not been absent from the United States since that time, may apply for legalization of their entry. There is now pending in congress a bill to extend this privilege to those aliens who entered in this manner prior to July 1, 1924.

2. Under present conditions it does not appear that he is in a position to apply for citizenship papers unless he departs from the United States and makes a legal entry for permanent residence.

3. No; he would not be in a position to apply for a reëntry permit until he is legally admitted to the United States for permanent residence.

4. See answer to 3. If he left the United States he would have to obtain an appropriate immigration visa in order to make a legal entry.

Creates 11 Million Volts Energy, Scientists Hear.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—An atom gun shooting atomic projectiles at speeds of 15,000 miles per second, with energies of 11 million volts—more than double the power of any atom smashing device yet created by man, and capable of transmuting every element existing in nature—was announced here today before the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences by Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence and Dr. J. M. Cork, of the University of California.

With this new atomic "Big Bertha," Dr. Lawrence and his co-workers say they have succeeded at last in realizing, on a small scale, the alchemist's dream of creating gold out of another metal. The quantities made, however, Dr. Lawrence remarked, are not of a magnitude to affect the treasury.

The feat was achieved by the bombardment of platinum with water, or rather with the hearts of double-weight hydrogen atoms taken from heavy water, known as deuterons.

New Substances Created.

The California alchemists converted the platinum not only into gold, but created out of it other substances that do not even exist in nature. These include a radioactive form of platinum known as radio-platinum, and radio-irridium, which also is a radioactive element new in nature.

The new atom gun can shoot a stream of deuteron bullets for the first time out into the open air, without the need of any vacuum tube. This stream of atomic bullets, which casts an eerie greenish-blue glow of preternatural aspect, is the most concentrated and most powerful beam of radiation so far produced by science. Placing one's finger in its path for an instant would cause its loss, Dr. Lawrence said, and great precaution must be taken not to come too close to it.

The beam in air has the relatively enormous length of 25 centimeters, about ten inches; the most powerful high voltage X-ray machines have not created a beam even one-fifth of this giant beam's energy even in a vacuum. Prof. Lawrence expects to enclose the giant in a vacuum tube jacket, where its power is expected to be much greater.

More Powerful Than Radium.

The 11 million volt bullets, however, were created by Dr. Lawrence not out of heavy water atoms, but out of the hearts of atoms of helium gas, known as alpha particles, which weigh twice as much as the hearts of the heavy water atoms.

The alpha particles, which consist of two protons [cores of ordinary hydrogen atoms] and two neutrons [electrically neutral particles] are naturally emitted by radium, but the energy of the natural particles does not exceed 8 million volts and cannot be controlled in a beam.

Dr. Lawrence's artificially produced alpha particles thus are about one-third more powerful than the neutral radium particles, with the additional advantage that they can be made to go wherever wanted to do man's bidding.

Value Energy at 4 Billion Dollars.

The 11 million volt alpha particle bullets are the equivalent in energy of one hundred grams of radium, at $40,000 per gram, or 4 million dollars' worth. The energy in the beam, however, is the equivalent of about 250 pounds [100 kilograms] of radium, worth about 4 billion dollars, an amount far exceeding the entire world's supply.

With the new ability to shoot a beam of particles out into the open air, whereas heretofore it was confined inside the "atom gun," a new facility is obtained in the handling of powerful beams of neutrons, the most penetrating particles found in nature and far more powerful than the most penetrating X-rays, it was stated.

Preliminary studies on animals, made at Yale by Dr. John Lawrence, Dr. Lawrence's brother, have indicated that the neutron ray may be even more valuable in certain types of medical theraphy than the X-ray.

Rapp Is Rapped for $15 for Rapping Too Early

Mishawaka, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—John Rapp today was rapped for a $15 fine in City court by Judge E. J. Bower as a result of his insistent rapping on the door of Patrolman Ralph Howland at 1 a. m. today.

POLICE OFFICER ADMITS LYING IN FLOGGING QUIZ

Names 6 Associates in Trial of Case.

Bartow, Fla., April 27.—(AP)—A Tampa police lieutenant who testified it would have been "highly detrimental to my own interest to tell the truth" at a police investigation of the flogging of three labor organizers, today definitly identified six of his former fellow officers in connection with the case.

The witness, Lieut. J. L. Eddings, named all seven defendants except former Chief R. G. Tittsworth as those who brought the flogging victims to the police station. He also placed four of them at the scene of the abduction, outside the police station, to automobiles which delivered the victims to their assailants.

Admits Former Falsehoods.

On cross-examination Defense Attorney Pat Whitaker sought to show Eddings had testified before the police investigating commission that he could not identify the policemen involved. Eddings freely acknowledged much of his testimony at that inquiry was false.

"I didn't intend to tell the police commission any or all of the facts," he explained. "It was my impression it would be highly detrimental to my own interest to tell the truth."

"Who told you not to tell the truth?" Whitaker shouted.

"Nobody."

"Then it was your own decision to testify falsely?"

"Yes."

"You didn't decline to testify, did you?"

Indicates Future Defense Course.

With a transcript of Eddings' testimony before the police investigating commission, Whitaker read a long series of questions, asked the lieutenant at that time, with answers supposedly those of Eddings.

The pattern of Whitaker's cross-examination indicated how he plans to proceed when he cross examines Sam Rogers and Eugene F. Poulnot, two of the flogging victims who already have given their direct testimony, relating how they and Joseph Shoemaker, who later died, were abducted from the police station, beaten, tarred, and feathered.

With their transcript before him, Whitaker would be able to ask Rogers and Poulnot, too, whether their testimony at the present trial was not at variance with their previous stories.

SCIENTISTS DISCOVER TREATMENT TO CURB RADIUM POISONING

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Effective treatment of radium poisoning, formerly one of the diseases listed as incurable, was reported today to the National Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Robley D. Evans of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology described how, in conjunction with Dr. J. C. Aub of Harvard university, he had worked out a method for eliminating radium from the body and measuring the amount of the radioactive element present at any given time.

With a new instrument, an improved "screen-cathode quantum counter," he added, it now is possible to detect minute amounts of radium which sometimes escaped detection with old instruments.

The scientists found that by lowering the amount of calcium in the diet of a patient afflicted with radium poisoning it was possible to take from the marrow of the bones most of the reserve calcium stored up in them and at the same time eliminate the radium deposited there.

Threaten City-Wide Strike of Barbers in New York

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—A general strike of barbers which would tie up barber shops throughout the city employing approximately 25,000 men was threatened today by officials of the Journeymen Barbers International union. Brooklyn barbers already are on strike.

CREMATE BODY OF DRAMA CRITIC PERCY HAMMOND

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The body of Percy Hammond, dramatic critic for the Herald Tribune, who died of lobar pneumonia at midnight Saturday in the Rockefeller institute, was cremated today. This was in accordance with his own wishes and those of his son, John Hammond. Since the death of his wife, last November, Mr. Hammond has been living in the Algonquin.

Policeman Shoots 290 of 300, a New World Record

Los Angeles, April 27.—(AP)—Detective Lieutenant Emmet E. Jones of the police homicide squad claimed a world's record today at the Los Angeles County Peace Officers Pistol and Revolver Matches by shooting 290 out of a possible 300. The previous record, held by Claude Hemming of the Detroit police department, was 288.

WOMAN, 62, GETS LIFE TERM IN PENITENTIARY FOR SLAYING HER SON

Los Angeles, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Grace Warren Van Alstyne Du Bois, 62 and feeble, who claims descent from Virginia aristocracy, today was sentenced to prison for life for the murder of her son, Dr. Charles Warren R. Du Bois, last Dec. 17.

Witnesses testified Mrs. Du Bois had told her sons, including Charles and Ted, a witness at the trial, that they were of a family too aristocratic to cope with modern life.

Dr. Du Bois was shot as he sat in the kitchen of the home he and his mother occupied. Mrs. Du Bois testified that a young man who was to have gone hunting with her son accidentally discharged a gun he was cleaning, killing Dr. Du Bois. The youth fled, she asserted.

The prosecution contended that Mrs. Du Bois once had tried to make a suicide compact with her son, Charles, and had told both of them they should end their lives.

AIR TRANSPORT BOARD STUDIES SAFETY PLANS

Favors More Rigid Trafic Regulations.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Airplane trafic control on the federal airways and at terminal airports, and safety measures in general were considered yesterday in the Blackstone hotel by the directors of the Air Transport association at their first meeting since the trade organization was formed several months ago.

The group discussed also a corrective regulations to prevent repetition of such accidents as occurred this season at Uniontown, Pa., and Goodwin, Ark.

Such regulations probably will take the form of strict orders for new flying technique, particularly relating to fog flying and to low flying, to be issued to all pilot personnel.

At the meeting outlined a number of proposals for new airport trafic laws to be agreed upon by airline operators flying of a number of the busiest airports in the country. These trafic agreements will be similar to those now in operation here and at Newark.

Several of the directors informed Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, head of the organization, that they plan to add new services and new schedules for the summer.

Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental & Western Air, announced that beginning Friday his company would fly once daily from New York to Chicago non-stop. At this time TWA operates a non-stop trip from Chicago to New York once daily.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

500 Acres of Corn

April 27, 1936.

WITH all the spring sown wheat, oats, alfalfa, clover, and timothy in the ground, preparing ground for corn is next on the work schedules at the Tribune experimental farms, near Yorkville and Wheaton. More than 500 acres of corn will be planted on the two farms' 2,300 acres this spring. Hybrid corn has made such an outstanding showing on the farms during the last two years that the managers are planning to expand the acreage this season. About 200 acres of various hybrid strains of corn will be planted. According to present plans only hybrid corn will be planted on the Wheaton place, except for a small amount of corn to be grown in a special test.

The ground to be used in growing corn this season was plowed on the Wheaton farm last fall. After completing their job of sowing oats at the Yorkville farm the middle of last week the workers tuned up their tractors and plows and resumed their task of breaking corn ground.

Dodging the Cut Worms.

Approximately 100 acres of corn land have been turned under. Forty-five acres of clover and timothy sod broken up this spring have been double disked. The ground is being prepared for planting Smith's white corn early to avoid losses from cut worms. If this field cannot be planted soon the manager plans to delay the planting until late. He has found that the best way to avoid damage from cut worms in corn is to plant either early or late.

Corn planting was delayed by rains last spring and the planters were not started at the Yorkville farm until the third week in May. Rain is needed this spring. Showers drove men in out of the fields today. It rained and difficult to cut with the disks. enough to make the corn stalks tough

Scampering After Seed.

Collecting seed corn of different varieties which have been bought for planting this spring on the Yorkville place is one of this week's chores. None of the corn produced on the Tribune farms last year can be safely used for seed. The Yorkville farm manager has bought 21 bushels of grain strains of hybrids, 35 bushels of Krug, and 9 bushels of Smith's white corn, all will be used for seed.

More Lespedeza Sown.

Twelve acres of Corean lespedeza were sown at the Yorkville farm last week. The seed was broadcast in with oats used as a nurse crop. The Tribune farms are playing a leading part in pushing the lespedeza belt farther north. The acreage is being increased on both farms.

Lespedeza is considered valuable as a soil builder and for feed. It is used as a pasture or cut and cured for hay. The crop may be grown on thin land. Liming soil is not necessary in starting this crop, as is the case with clover and alfalfa.

"Patching" an Alfalfa Field.

Patching the bare spots in an alfalfa field was one of the odd jobs at the Yorkville place last week. The spots have been reseeded along with a nurse crop of oats.

Last 1935 Hogs Sold.

In making way for the new crop of pigs, the Yorkville farm has sold the last of the hogs from the 1935 spring pig crop. Twenty-two head of hogs, including two sows, were shipped to market last week. Ten head, weighing an average of 245 pounds, brought $10.70 a hundred pounds. Eight others that averaged a little over 200 pounds brought $10.35, while two light porkers, averaging 140 pounds, sold for $9 a hundred. The two sows weighed approximately 290 pounds each brought $9.50.

Beery Counts Trout Before They're Caught

Takes a Freezing Machine on Fishing Trip.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—Wallace Beery has arranged to go trout fishing into the high Sierras this week, and is taking a portable refrigerating machine along with him. It's to freeze the surplus trout that he can't eat, so he can bring them back if he catches the limit.

Director Joseph Santley is trying to find a special kind of cow for a scene in "We Went to College" at M. G. M. The cow has to be able to moo in the tone of C, one octave below middle C, which means a moo with 128 vibrations a second. The moo is supposed to punctuate a college song.

Claire Windsor has been informed she must take out a liquor importer's license, or relinquish her right to a one gallon keg of rum sent to her by a friend in Cuba. She has eight days to make up her mind.

Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy were idling a moment on the set of "To Mary, With Love," at Twentieth Century-Fox.

"I used to be a crooner with a small radio station at Burbank, and I was pretty good. They asked me back twice," Baxter said.

"Zat so? Let's hear you sing," Myrna said.

Baxter sang.

"Better than I thought it would be, but you're no Crosby," she said. "Myself, I used to be a dancer. I did a fast tap for my specialty and a back flip into another series of taps."

"Zat so?" said Baxter. "Let's see you flip."

Myrna gave him a mean look, and did a neat tap routine, without flip.

"Fair," said Baxter, half to himself. "But, of course, I have seen Eleanor Powell."

Just then John Cromwell, the director, who had been trying to urge more speed into the scenes, found the two.

"Hey," he said, "did you two know I used to be a stage actor. Did you ever hear me recite 'Boots'?"

"No," chorused Baxter and Loy, "and never will."

They all went back to work, which, of course, was what Cromwell wanted.

On the set of Bing Crosby's "Rhythm on the Range," quite the most attention is lavished, not on the $6,000 a week star, or on any of the beautiful actresses, but on a massive red bull with a white face, named for the purposes of this picture, Cuddles. In his private life, Cuddles, who is a majestic personage of one ton plus, rejoices in the more distinguished title of Beau Baldwin, and is the champion Hereford sire of the Baldwin farms, near Pleasanton, Cal., valued at $25,000. Cuddles has his own masseur and valet constantly on the set with him. The masseur's duties require him to give Cuddles a daily massage of bay rum and olive oil to keep his red hair sleek. What with the bay rum, the olive oil, and the new mown hay odor about the whole premises, stage nine at Paramount studio is fragrant with the smell of spring.

For a needed effect on the day I visited the set, Cuddles was supposed to twist his head and gaze up toward the top of the haymow. But neither Director Norman Taurog nor Cameraman Karl Struss could succeed in making the bull look up. Finally, Comedian Bob Burns, the "bazooka" player, had a bright idea. He climbed a ladder and blew some bass notes on the instrument. The bull thought it was a cow mooing upstairs some place, and slowly turned his head to look up. All the workmen on the set yelled in triumph when they got the shot.

Billy Lee, 6, has been given a new movie contract at Paramount, where at present he plays a nuisance kid in "Three Cheers for Love." Billy is drawing about $150 a week. His real name is Billy Schensker.

Joan Crawford has cooked Sunday breakfast for herself and Franchot Tone again. She delights in preparing breakfast when she has the chance. "I'll work up to luncheons and dinners later," she says.

Lionel Barrymore received a full set of records from the Boston Symphony orchestra after he said, during an interview, that he thought it the best orchestra in the world.

The big league baseball scores are phoned to George Raft on the movie set every afternoon.

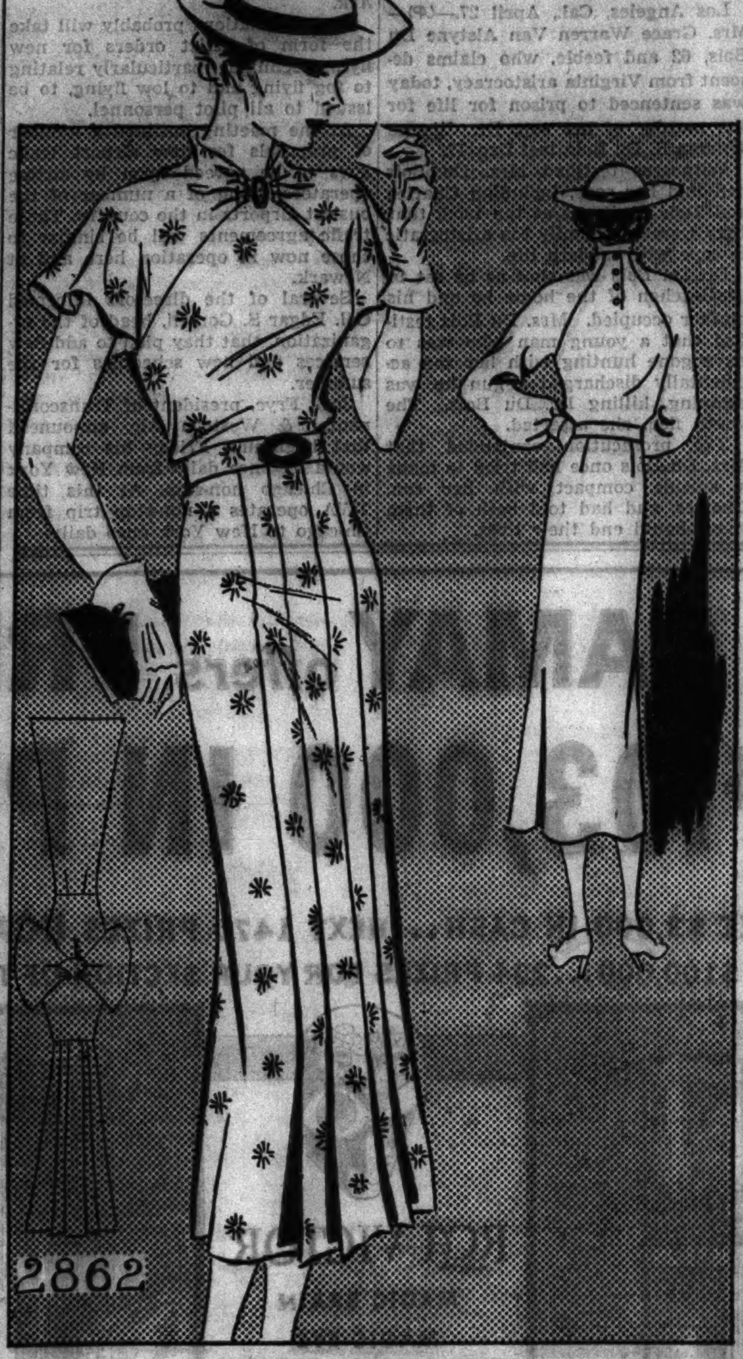
Neckline Highly Distinctive



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Novel treatment around the shoulderline is the rule for fashions of all types this season, and the stipulation holds especially true for afternoon frocks. The one pictured today is a lovely version of the traditional, simple, one piece dress which is appropriate for innumerable occasions in late spring and in summer. The major portion of its chic is found directly at the neckline, which is gathered in necklace fashion, allowing for the use of your favorite brooch or bunch of flowers. The raglan shoulder is cut more deeply than is usual, creating an effective new treatment of the bodice, giving an illusion of breadth to the shoulders and slimness to the waistline. The skirt is fitted snugly at the hips, flowing into lovely plaits which provide grace and fulness where they are desired.

The softness and simplicity of this frock make it especially adaptable to printed fabrics. The original is distinctive in a sheer, dahlia print crêpe.

Cottons in linen and shantung weaves, pastel linens, and tub silks are other lovely mediums, especially for summer.

Style No. 2862 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Mortality of Infants Can Be Decreased

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I find this touching plea quoted at the head of the folder sent me by the Infant Welfare society of Chicago, in connection with the Baby week campaign.

The Infant Welfare society of Chicago began Baby week in 1914 as a means of raisising funds to carry on its splendid work.

The first work that was done in this cause concerned itself with instructing mothers in the care and feeding of babies up to two years of age.

It was logical, of course, that this was not enough. The baby's health, or lack of it, dates far back of his birth. So, widespread efforts were made to get expectant mothers to put themselves in competent hands during the period of pregnancy.

Care of the mother before the baby is born and intelligent care and feeding of the baby after it is born—these are the things for which Baby week stands. For the mother who has no money, or little, for medical care, there are pre-natal clinics, maternity centers, baby stations—a dozen sources of help to which she can turn.

We have a leaflet giving reading references on pre-natal care, and also one suggesting where one may go to obtain medical and nursing care. These will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Movie Stunt Man Drives Despite Operation; Crashes

Hollywood, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—Robert J. Ward Jr., movie stunt man, today was in Hollywood Receiving hospital after his auto struck a post. He was found to have five drains in his abdomen, put there following an operation some weeks ago. Witnesses say Ward suddenly slumped over his wheel. He suffered a sprained back and other injuries.

ENGAGEMENTS

Of interest to their Chicago friends is the announcement by Mrs. Frank A. Houghton of Cambridge, Mass., formerly of Chicago, of the engagement of her daughter, Barbara, to George Julian Meyers Jr., son of Admiral and Mrs. George J. Meyers of Baltimore, Md., and Balboa Heights, Panama Canal Zone. Miss Houghton is a graduate of Radcliffe college, and Mr. Meyers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Cleveland, 8816 Essex avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Fransula Elaine Cleveland, to Clarence B. Clark, 1400 Lake Shore drive.

WEDDING

Miss Virginia Keller, daughter of Mrs. Zenobia W. Keller of Evanston, and William O. Campbell have set June 6 for their wedding day. They will be married at 4:30 o'clock in St. Luke's Pro-Cathedral, with a reception afterward at the Georgian hotel. Most of Miss Keller's attendants will come from out-of-town.

According to CULBERTSON

EXPERT ERRORS.

Since most of my articles deal with the errors, trials, and tribulations of average and weaker players, it is only fair to point out that the world's acknowledged experts also have their falls from grace.

The fact that a close and delicate partnership understanding extends from one expert partner to the other makes any violation of a convention, any garbling in the messages of signal cards, however slight, a definite error.

In the hand shown below, East and West were players who are ranked in the first ten of the world's experts, yet they allowed a vulnerable game contract to be stolen from under their noses.

West, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Double	1 spade	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	2 diamonds
Pass	2 spades	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding may seem strange to most players. East's spade bid over the take-out double was, of course, a weakness bid. West's pass to the spade bid, with a singleton spade and a six card heart suit, was simply a waiting measure. Since East had announced weakness, he felt that any contract undoubled was preferable to a higher one doubled. He would, of course, have rescued after North's second double if South's two diamond bid had not done this for him.

West opened the seven of hearts, dummy played low, and East's jack was won by the queen. Declarer promptly led back a heart, West took his ace, and now had to lead again. The exposed hand gave him a serious problem. If South had the queen of clubs West could tell that the suit would break for five tricks, which, together with the ace and king of spades in sight, the heart trick already taken, and the ten of hearts marked in declarer's hand, added up to nine. It was imperative to discover whether East or declarer held the club queen, but no sure way to do this existed. There was, however, a way to secure a subtle, though not positive, implication. West laid down the diamond king and watched avidly for East's follow suit card. And East slipped. He played the seven!

To the inexpert eye this may look like the correct play, to show the queen. Actually, it was a major error. The defenders had taken in only one trick before the diamond king was led. They needed not three, but four more to defeat the contract. East should have known that West was in doubt about a club stopper. He should have played his lowest diamond as a demand for a discontinuation. West then would have continued the heart suit and the contract would have been defeated. But after the diamond seven discard West continued with the king and the six, in the hope that declarer's forced diamond bid had been on five to the nine spot. On this defense, nine tricks became a lay-down.

Soap Facial Is First Step in Skin Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Every day and in every way we women are becoming saner in the pursuit of beauty. Diets are sensible now. The hair brush is in use again as it hasn't been for ages. And now soap and water scrubbings for the face are becoming a more popular invasion on skin troubles than they've ever been. Not only on troubled faces is the soap and water formula applied. Women really are becoming quite soap-minded altogether.

Not at the sacrifice of their cleansing creams, however, nor their nourishing creams. It is found that the combined use of soap and cream works greater magic for the many than dispensing with soap entirely. Of course, there are a few isolated cases in which the skin is so fine and so sensitive that not even the blandest soap can be used without discomfort. But this is a rare condition.

The reason why women are arming themselves with the soap and complexion brush is principally to correct skin sluggishness and to get so deeply into the pores that blackheads simply will not have a chance to develop. Blackheads are finally assuming a position of "shame" in people's minds. Time was when their presence was expected.

It certainly would seem that the youngsters of today would reach their deb years with wonderful complexions, since their mothers are putting the pressure on them good and plenty at face washing time. The brisk soap and brush cleaning is about the best way known to prevent the skin clouding that blackheads produce.

There is objection, I know, to the use of cleansing creams on an oily skin infested with blackheads. Yet I have an acquaintance who believes that fighting the facial oil with the cream ingredients is excellent as a preface to the soap and water use.

For the dry skin the first cleansing with a cleansing cream is indorsed to soften up the caked oil or makeup. Then, after the soap and water use, the dry skinned one should, by all means, use a lubricating oil or cream of some nourishing kind.

Making Aim of Popularity Is Disillusioning

BY DORIS BLAKE.

I want to be popular. How can I be popular? Why is it that other girls [or boys] are so much more popular than I?

The above constitutes an almost perpetual refrain in this department's correspondence.

The thought occurs that if the word "popularity" were ruled out of the consciousness of young folks there might be more progress. The word "popularity" suggests many dates and many beaux or sweethearts. It suggests that the favored one is ever on the go.

Suppose, instead of popularity, that having friends is substituted. We have a feeling that there would not be so hectic an urge to spur one on. Likewise, there would be less disappointment experienced.

Our observation, even with most attractive young men and women, is that many of them have a good many evenings which they have to struggle to fill in themselves.

In every social group, of course, there will be a youth or maid with exceptional charms and graces who is rushed more than are the others. But wouldn't all we average ones be in a horrible state of the doldrums if we measured our success with that of those whose names loom largely on financial pages, social pages, in professional screen and stage success reports? We don't, fortunately, and manage to get quite a kick out of life going along at our own jog trot.

That's what is meant by not making popularity too hectic an aim. A reasonable number of friends, a reasonable number of dates as are allotted the great average is not out of reach. Taking it easy, building slowly, taking advantage of social contacts as they come along, spreading and widening the social circle whenever the opportunity unfolds, always giving a little something worthwhile of yourself, is the average person's way of accumulating friends.

Stokowski Turns His Back on Welcome of "Music Goes Round"

Los Angeles, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—A near sellout crowd, including several hundred film players and executives, welcomed tonight's performance of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra under Conductor Leopold Stokowski at the Pan-Pacific auditorium, which seats 13,500.

The welcoming committee included Franchot Tone, motion picture actor. As Stokowski appeared on the train's rear platform a five piece Negro jaz band struck up the worn ditty about the music going round and round.

Stokowski turned and went back into the car. He reappeared as the tune died away.

The players appeared in appreciation of the fact that one of Stokowski's programs includes part of the "Afro-American Symphony" by the Mississippi Negro composer, Still.

A 2-Weeks Vacation gives you 12 Days of FUN in SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Even this crowded map cannot give an adequate idea of the varied opportunities for fun waiting for you in and around Los Angeles County. Every sport in the world, and every type of scenery; a host of interesting resort cities; the brilliant kaleidoscope of Hollywood; the shops and gay night life of Los Angeles—there's no limit to the things to be enjoyed. And you'll enjoy them doubly in Southern California's cool summer weather with its average temperature of only 69.4°—rainless days, and nights when you'll want blankets!

You can do it easily. A 2-weeks vacation is really 16 days—allows you 12 days here. And since you escape "peak prices" necessary in most short-season resorts, total costs are little, if any, more than for an ordinary vacation.

Junior Deweys Take House on Astor Street

Couple Will Move from South Bend.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MAY 1 will be moving day for many, but no one who is moving that day is pleasing relatives and friends more than the young Charles S. Deweys, who are giving up their South Bend, Ind., house and coming to Chicago to occupy one at 1349 Astor street. Their contemporaries are delighted for although the former Marjorie Goodman and "Bud" Dewey often have spent week-ends here since their marriage two and a half years ago, they usually were missing at parties given during the week; and their parents are more than pleased, of course, to have the "children" and their baby son in Chicago.

The young Deweys will be near neighbors of her grandmother, Mrs. William O. Goodman, who lives at 1355 Astor, and fairly near to the residences of both their parents, for the senior Deweys have a house at 1507 State parkway, and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins live in the apartment building at 1530 State parkway.

Mrs. Hopkins' younger daughter, Kay Goodman, will return home from school at Dobbs Ferry in May and according to present plans will spend at least most of the summer with her mother and Mr. Hopkins in their Lake Forest home.

Young Mr. Dewey's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Smith [Louise Dewey] live in an apartment at 1209 Astor street, so they, too, will be neighbors of the Deweys.

Edison Dicks to Spend Summer in Sweden.

The Edison Dicks' plans for the coming summer sound so ideal that every one who hears of them is envious. With their two children and a car they will sail on June 4 for Sweden where they have taken a house for three months at Saltsjobad, which is just about half an hour's drive from Stockholm. This will be the Dicks' first visit to Sweden.

Miss Nancy Doering has returned from a sojourn in Bermuda with her parents, the Edmund J. Doerings, and is now engaged in planning a trip abroad. So far her plans have not progressed beyond booking passage on the Rex on May 9.

Miss Doering's elder sister, Mrs. R. Martin Stevenson, and her husband are returning Sunday from Bermuda, and Mr. Doering is coming back the middle of the month. Mrs. Doering probably will return a little later.

The Willard N. Boydens are having an in-between seasons' vacation for they are leaving on Friday to spend a month on a dude ranch near Rimrock, Ariz.

Armours Leave for Dunn Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour left yesterday afternoon for Washington, D. C., to attend the last of the many prenuptial parties for their niece, Miss Marianna Dunn, and Count Guy de Baillet-Latour of Belgium, who are to be married Thursday at noon in St. Matthew's church. Mr. and Mrs. Armour will be the guests of the Wayne Chatfield-Taylors while they are in the capital. The Taylors are entertaining at dinner tonight for the Armours.

The A. Watson Armours and their sons and daughters, the W. Irving Osbornes and young Watson and his bride, the former Jean Schweppe, are leaving this evening for Washington. The young Armours are arriving at home this morning from a wedding trip to Honolulu, so they will have just about time to say "Hello" to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, before they take the train for Washington. The Armours flew to and from California.

The Belgian ambassador and Countess Van Der Straten-Ponthoz entertained at dinner last night at the embassy for Miss Dunn and the count and Sunday night the military aid to the President, Col. Edwin M. Watson and Mrs. Watson entertained at dinner in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin D. Trowbridge are returning this evening from a three weeks' motor trip to Sea Island. Ga.

Mrs. Virginia Thorne to Live in Des Moines.

Mrs. Virginia Hubbell Thorne and her small daughter, Ann, have been here for a few days while Mrs. Thorne closes her apartment on Delaware place. Tomorrow she is leaving for Des Moines, Ia., where she will make her home with her parents, the Grover Hubbells.

Mr. and Mrs. Botsford B. Young are joining the ever increasing list of year 'round residents of Lake Forest, for today they and their two sons are leaving their Grant place apartment to move into the house they have purchased in the north shore town.

Tapestries—
Variation—
Little Audrey—
Explanation.

AN announcement of particular interest is the exhibition of modern tapestries from the collection of Mme. Paul Cuttoli of Paris, to be held at the Arts club beginning Friday, May 1. It practically saves us a trip to New York, as we had been eager to see these twentieth century tapestries, woven from cartoons of Picasso, Bracque, Dufy, Lurcat, and other famous modern artists ever since reading of their arrival in New York several weeks ago.

It was an idea of Mme. Cuttoli, wife of France's senator from Constantine, Algeria, that the work of modern painters could be reproduced as well in tapestry as on canvas, thus giving fresh impetus to France's languishing tapestry industry and employment to weavers. The first artist she convinced was Georges Rouault, of the stained glass blues and reds; others quickly capitulated. One critic has pointed out that oil paints are natural enemies of color, and that tapestry weaving is the most satisfactory of reproductive processes, and that even the "blurred edges of pastel strokes" can be reproduced faithfully in needlework. However, these tapestries will be as unavailable to the average home as the famous tapestries of other days. Each square yard is said to require many months of work; the designs will not be repeated more than three times, and the price will be correspondingly high.

* *

SPEAKING of little Audrey stories, which have swept the country, and with the origin of which we are unfamiliar, a little Audrey song now is being sung. It was written by a Chicagoan, Jimmy Savage, theatrical publicity man. The original lyrics are in the possession of a radio-café act, "The King's Jesters." There are more than thirty-five choruses already and more are being added by people who hear them. Little Audrey's favorite people seem to be Mae West, Mussolini, Greta Garbo, and Tallulah Bankhead. Little Audrey's baby brother also comes in for sadistic experimentation. For instance, the verse about Little Audrey having a baby brother whom she heard her mother call a bouncing boy. So Little Audrey pushed him off the roof, and laughed and laughed. . . . "Her ma was wrong on several counts, 'cause baby brother didn't bounce." Another chorus says:

"She's Little Audrey, Lit-tle Aud-rey,
Now lots of people think she's cute;
Once she went up to learn to fly
And then she heard the pilot cry—
'We're gonna crash—put on your parachute!'

But Little Audrey, Little Audrey,
Just laughed and laughed because she knew
She didn't need a parachute,
'Cause she had on her light fall suit,
That's Little Audrey for you."

A FEW mornings ago a Chicago motorist was driving through Lincoln park, at an hour early enough so there was no congestion, when the automobile ahead of him drove straight into an electric light post in the middle of the boulevard. Stopping his car and hastening over, he found the driver of the other car a woman sitting behind the wheel looking very dazed. She offered an explanation of her surprising behavior.

"I was thinking how mean Tom was to me this morning," she said simply.

Ladies of Song Win Praise in Chorus Recital

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Ladies of Song, a poetically named women's chorus, drew a sizable audience to Kimball hall last night. Director Cathryne Bennett had planned a program which set off the virtues of the group to good advantage and, at the same time, permitted the use of several soloists, both vocal and instrumental, for the sake of that variety which only this device can give.

A little less than thirty in number, the Ladies of Song have been able to work out some nice effects under the tutelage of Mrs. Bennett. Their singing is free and fresh, the individual voices blend into a satisfactory whole.

"Flower of Dreams" and "A Bird Flew" [both by Clokey] displayed the talents of the group for quiet, lyrical singing; an old English "Chit-Chat" demanded an alert rhythmic sense.

Among the soloists were Margaret Sweeney, harpist; Helen Jones, soprano, and Frank Bennett, baritone.

The twentieth and final season of Jessie B. Hall's Young American Artists series opened last night with a joint recital in Curtiss hall by Marion Butler, pianist, and Ada Belle Files, contralto.

Miss Butler's good points are her developing flair for nuance and effective phrasing, and a growing care for tone in passages where the technical difficulties of her trying numbers gave her some rest. The principal melody of the C sharp minor waltz was played in sprightly style.

Ada Belle Files has a naturally rich contralto voice capable of a good measure of sensuous beauty when it is not forced above a mezzo-forte. The performance of "Estrellita" displayed both the suavity of her easier type of delivery and the somewhat noticeable vibrato in the climaxes.

Facts of Diet Are Reduced to Single Sentence

BY KAY HALL.

A simple diet, stated in one sentence, was offered to women at the second annual midwest conference on homemaking at 209 South State street yesterday by Dr. Clifford J. Barborka of the medical school of Northwestern university.

"In a 24 hour period the adult should have a pint of milk, one egg or a substitute like cheese; two servings of fruit, one raw; three servings of vegetables, including potatoes; two ounces of meat, fish or fowl, and 1½ teaspoonfuls of butter," Dr. Barborka said. "I don't care what you eat after that. These cover the basic requirements and of course other foods may be added for varying energy needs."

Dr. Barborka attacked the diet theories that carbohydrates and proteins should not be eaten at the same meal.

"In fact God so made the world that it is difficult to find foods in which these elements are separated," he said. "Reducing, however, is the most asinine effort women are making today in trying to change the contours of the body. Remember the palsy machines? Do you think for a minute they will shake that fat off?"

Fish as brain food, onions for a cold, celery as a nerve tonic and other "fallacies ad nauseam" were ridiculed by Dr. Barborka with "You might as well say eat a heart muscle for courage."

The all day session of the conference was devoted to a study of marketing values and consumer education. Dr. A. J. Carlson of the department of physiology of the University of Chicago urged passage of a more rigid food and drugs act.

Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, retiring president of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations, which sponsored the conference, and Mrs. Walter Hermsdorf, new president, presided.

ClubFederation Asks Extension of Merit Rule

Joins Women Voters' Attack on Patronage.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., April 27.—[Special.]—Declaring that organized club women's strength will count next November as never before, Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson opened the seventeenth council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs here tonight. Mrs. Lawson, federation president, addressed 400 council delegates at dinner in the Miami Biltmore hotel.

"While the general federation does not in any way presume to dictate the party vote, we do urge the registered expression of every woman voter. Women are a balance of power politically," Mrs. Lawson said.

Mrs. Lawson said the federation, with its 3,000,000 members, will join with the National League of Women Voters in the fight for the extension of civil service.

"For more than 30 years the general federation has actively interested itself in civil service reform," Mrs. Lawson said. We are especially interested in protecting the civil service rights of women."

Mrs. Lawson urged aggressive action to obtain repeal of section 213 of the economy act of 1932. This objective binds the federation to still another great organization, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

"Section 213 provides that in any reduction of personnel in government service married persons having a spouse also employed shall be dismissed first and that preference shall be given to other than such persons in subsequent appointments," Mrs. Lawson explains. "A survey shows that the persons who lost their jobs were largely among the lower paid employés."

A campaign was launched today to make Chicago the hostess city for the federation's 1938 triennial convention. Illinois leaders hope to convince the council delegates that Chicago offers the most in attractions, comfort, and convenience.

Chicago's only rival is Kansas City, Mo. The decision will be made by the general federation board at a post council meeting Friday.

It is estimated that the triennial convention will mean a million and a half dollars to the hostess city.

Chicago has not been hostess to the general federation since 1914, but Kansas City points out that it never has been accorded this privilege. The 1935 triennial was held in Detroit.

Representatives of the Chicago Association of Commerce have joined the Illinois women here to help them with their campaign. They have presented a gold embossed book on Chicago to each one of the board members and have given each delegate a fan for comfort in this warm climate. Chair backs proclaiming Chicago's attractions are ready to be placed on each seat in the room.

WOMEN VOTERS ACT

Cincinnati, O., April 27.—(AP)—The National League of Women Voters pushed its fight for abolition of the spoils system in politics today by urging congress to approve a bill to place 13,000 postmasters under civil service.

On the eve of the opening of the league's four day convention the board of directors issued a statement urging passage of the Ramspeck bill to transfer first, second and third class postmasters to civil service and stating a belief "the temporizing attitude of congress on the Ramspeck bill is a mistake in an election year."

"In mobilizing public opinion in favor of the merit principle in general and for the Ramspeck bill specifically," the statement said, "the league of women voters is convinced it is helping to free the members in the political parties who have hold of a bear by the tail.

"The league believes it would be a relief to the congressmen who are to be elected next November if they did not have to look forward to the enemies they will make every time they indorse a political friend for a job."

Good Morning!

The big idea about going to the Chicago this week is to see the "Our Gang" kids in the stage show.

They're immense—from their master of ceremonies—Joe [Fatty] Cobb to young Spanky MacFarland who croons, dances and wisecracks in a manner that has mammas in the audience positively maudlin.

Their little show is spontaneous, childlike and has been beautifully directed. Even the dog, Mascot—sings! Believe it or not.

As for the picture—a sort of night-overland-bus affair staged in a cross-country airplane. Joan Bennett is a more or less mysterious maiden in distress. Fred MacMurray is a doughty senior pilot. And there are a lot of other folks flying around loose to complicate the plot.

A well acted film with some suspense, a number of well chosen wisecracks, and a lot of apt acting. The only trouble with it is that the story's sort of whooshy.

"THE LAND OF PROMISE."

Directed by George Kraska.
Presented at McVicker's theater.

The Cast.

The Jewish People Who Are Rebuilding Palestine.

Time taken out to visit McVicker's theater where "The Land of Promise"—which received the International Motion Picture award in Venice some time ago—is showing, will be well repaid in a yield of interest and information.

The film is the first sound picture to be produced in Palestine and is presented for the benefit of the Jewish people who, after many years are reclaiming their homeland and it is a fine, honest and inspiring piece of work.

The film starts with views of Palestine as it once was. Barren soil. Primitive methods of labor. The old Jerusalem. Then—you see the New Jerusalem which is springing up around it. Flourishing cities. Rich fields and vineyards. Orchard trees heavy with luscious fruit. Universities, libraries. Paved roads where the coyotes used to howl. Beaches. . . .

Almost unbelievable the changes that have been wrought in the last twenty years—but understandable when you take into consideration the surgings of homesick longing that have inundated the hearts of the Jewish people for so long, and contemplate the high enthusiasm of the young workers determined to face a new day in their own land. There are numerous scenes that are almost synonymous with many you have encountered in Russian pictures.

The film has been directed with skill and an earnest determination to leave out nothing. The photography is surprisingly good—striking at times—and narration is interesting. The music is highly effective.

I can't imagine any Jewish person staying away from McVicker's while "The Land of Promise" is there and it should appeal to those of every race who are concerned with world progress.

See you tomorrow.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

What the well dressed business woman can wear in the way of fragrances: A cologne of a scent almost as strong and lasting as perfume that is fresh and faintly sweet.

We've discovered a cologne for you with just about the most lasting fragrance you'll find in any cologne. You can use it as a body rub after the bath in the morning—and at night you'll find that the fragrance has lingered on remarkably.

We admit to being a great fan for colognes and body lotions; we think the subtle business of perfuming oneself really becomes an art when one perfumes the flesh generously with a cologne or lotion with a pleasing fragrance and supplements this with the judicious use of an actual perfume that echoes the scent. The fragrance achieves a double, subtle alliance with your own personality.

The cologne with the far from ephemeral scent is not long off the boat from France. It's quite new, created as a companion piece for the famous perfume of the same name. We could wish it were less expensive, but in this case the quality is there beyond question and the price is just. We wish we could afford quarts and quarts of it—it has supplanted an old favorite in our affections.

It isn't easy to describe a fragrance such as this cologne has. It isn't the coyly romantic kind, but it does have a sweetness that's appealing. But above and beyond that it has a clean, faintly lemony tone that makes it ideal for daytime use and wear with street clothes. It isn't one of those fragrances that must just stand around evaporating until the occasion arises for the super-sophisticated scent. Business girls could, during the day, use the cologne alone, rubbing it in well after the morning tubbing. The scent will be just right and not too strong.

New Smooth Underlayers Fit Every Need

Types for Evening Gowns and Sport Attire.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Complaining young shoppers with sleek streamlines who have protested the wave of popularity of underlayers have been pampered with some new models fully guaranteed to control without any restriction. They provide remote control of every incipient bulge or spare tire wrinkle even these very slim and willowy complainers undoubtedly do possess. These underlayers are sheaths of satin lastex trickily designed, cut, and molded to fit the body with emphasis on the smooth fitting.

There are three new arrivals . . . models for the most persnickity soul, a rollup affair of dull textured rubber elastic that goes on as easily as you pull on your stockings. This soft and supple underlayer comes in flesh, is plenty long and preserves a nice long streamline for daytime clothes or sport clothes and at the same time lets you bend and pull, use every muscle without a bit of binding or discomfort.

For afternoon dresses, for dressmaker suits, for printed silks that fit most revealingly over the hips and the ribline the satin lastex number is the favorite. It fits as smoothly as your own skin and has at the back a zipper that does away with side closing devices that show through thin wools or silks. The satin lastex in the back section stretches only down and up. You can buy this very effective zippered creation in flesh, white, and black.

For evening gowns and party frocks there is the newest evening model, every inch gleaming satin lastex, with either a lace or thin net brassiere. It's cut way down in back, is especially long, and hasn't the ghost of any fastening device. With this you can wear the most clinging and revealing of satin gowns without a worry about wrinkles or ridges. This, too, is available in flesh, white, or black.

Freddie's Mother Seeks Control of Cash in New Suit

Los Angeles, April 27.—(AP)—A new petition, asking for all money on hand earned by the child actor, Freddie Bartholomew, was filed today by his mother in further action against his guardian-aunt.

The mother, Mrs. Lillian Bartholomew, recently denied a petition to end the guardianship, again asked for such action, charging the boy was taken from England contrary to the laws of the country.

Mrs. Bartholomew asked that Freddie's aunt, Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, be required to give an accounting of his earnings.

Her Husband's Past

By Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Nell Martin meets and falls in love with Eric Cameron from London, an older divorced man, who is visiting in Wellsport. She ignores her parents' pleas to forget him and accept Dick Holmes, her childhood sweetheart. Nell elopes with Eric to London. On their honeymoon she learns Eric has two children, Meg, 17, and Robin, 15; that she must make her home with them and with Mrs. Beaumont, the mother of Hilda, his first wife. Hilda has married again. Her children believe her dead. Nell discovers the household is hard pressed for money. Her first day there a collector comes to shut off the gas. Nell goes for her purse to pay him. She finds Mrs. Beaumont has gone through her belongings. Her money is gone. Nell accuses the old woman of theft. When Eric comes home he tells Nell he had deposited her money.

INSTALMENT VIII.

ANOTHER WOMAN'S LEAVINGS.

By the time Nell reached Mrs. Beaumont's door, however, her courage began to fizzle out, and she wished she had accepted Eric's support.

She knocked, not too loudly, rather hoping the old woman might be asleep. But no, granny was awake, expecting her supper tray, in fact. Her face froze when she saw who her visitor was and from the way she sat up it looked as though her spine had suddenly turned into a ramrod.

"To what do I owe this pleasure?" she boomed.

"I've come to say how very sorry I am," Nell began. "Really, I hardly know——"

"So you found your money after all. Ha!"

"Eric took it. He took it to the bank without telling me. Will you forgive me, Mrs. Beaumont?"

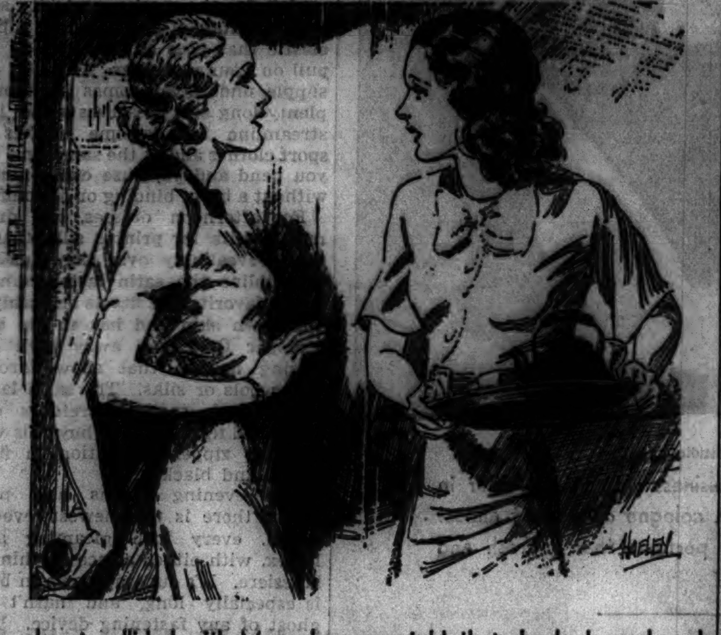
The old woman gave a sarcastic snicker.

"I can forgive—that's a lot sight easier'n forgetting. I'm not likely to forget in a hurry."

"Thank you. But while you are holding it against me, don't forget, too, that you gave me some reason for accusing you. I don't like people opening my drawers and cupboards when my back is turned. Please don't do it again and we shall be able to avoid future misunderstandings."

There was a sneer in the beady little eyes, as granny relaxed upon her pillows.

"Not so much to see to make a fuss about, but I wouldn't go near your room again, and I'll thank you to keep out o' mine, as I told you before. Think you've made a grand match, don't you? But all you've picked up is another woman's leavings—and pretty poor leavings, at that. If my Hilda ever came back—I mean, if she could come back—you'd soon find out how leetle you counted for. He'd send you packing."



She almost collided with Meg—her eyes told that she had overheard.

Nell's face went deadly white.

"Yes, I know Hilda isn't dead," she said. "Eric told me. But I gathered from him there wasn't much likelihood of her coming into his life again. Please try to remember, Mrs. Beaumont, that I am his wife now. We shall get along much better if you will keep that in mind."

Before the old woman could boom at her again, Nell stepped quickly out of the room. She had moved backwards and as she closed the door almost collided with Meg who stood there with her grandmother's supper tray.

One glance into the stricken eyes of the young girl told her that Meg had heard—Meg, who had adored Hilda and had to be kept in ignorance of the fact that her mother was not dead.

But Meg said nothing except: "Would you mind opening the door again for me, please?"

Nell opened the door and rushed headlong down the hall to her own room.

Eric, who was washing his hands in the bathroom, called out to her cheerily: "Did you and granny kiss and make up?"

She made no reply and he came to her door in his shirtsleeves and a towel in his hands.

"You haven't started a real feud with granny, have you?" he asked anxiously, as he beheld her sitting on the edge of the bed with an utterly hopeless and forlorn expression on her face.

No . . . on top of the trouble with Mrs. Beaumont, she simply could not tell him what inadvertently she had done to Meg. He would find out soon enough.

She sighed deeply. "I'm sorry, Eric. Perhaps I wasn't as humble as I ought to have been."

"O, come, now—forget all about it. Leave a thing alone and it will right itself in time. I brought home a bottle of claret for supper to have a little celebration. And I'm as hungry as a hunter. Come along, darling, and let's eat."

Nell wanted to change her dress—anything to gain a little time—but Eric was impatient and said never mind that, she looked very nice in the dress she had on. She felt as though being dragged to the scaffold as she followed him downstairs. How could she face Meg, knowing what a blow she had dealt the child! It almost put granny's stinging insults out of her mind.

In the lower hall they encountered Robin who appeared to be on the point of leaving the house.

It seemed he had a message to deliver from his sister. Meg was tired and did not want any supper, but she had left everything prepared. Robin, himself, had an invitation to supper at a friend's house. He and this friend were going to do their homework together afterwards.

"Very well, son," Eric said.

He looked a little disappointed.

When he and his young wife were settled at table he said anxiously: "Meggie has too much to do and granny's illness must have kept her on the trot. Also, of course, she had a big shock today."

Nell started guiltily. "Why—why what do you mean?" she asked.

Eric smiled in a forlorn sort of way.

"I'm such a blunderbuss—as you are finding out. I kept putting off telling the children about us, just as I put off telling you about them."

Nell nodded, avoiding his eyes. She remembered what Meg had said about him in that respect. He always put off disagreeable things as long as he possibly could. Well, it was a very human fault.

"It isn't that I'm exactly a coward," he went on with a whimsical smile. "It's—well, we do try to be honest with each other, don't we? At least we started out that way."

Nell winced inwardly, but she smiled as she agreed.

"Yes—we try," she said.

"Darling, until I met you I was about the unhappiest man in the whole world, I do believe. There were the children, of course. But even they are a torment in one way. They remind me of so much—so many things that I want to put clean out of my mind."

"You mean—Hilda?"

"Of things concerned with Hilda. And there was—and apparently always will be—granny. That's why I always went away whenever I had a particularly tricky piece of work on hand. I could give my whole attention to it. They're very decent to me at the office. Sir Isaac Humber, my chief, began his career under my father. He's by way of being an old friend. One of these days—and not too far off, either—I shall be free of debt. Darling, you'll stick by me, won't you?"

"I wonder if you'd want me if Hilda decided she wanted you and came back again?"

Nell couldn't help herself. It seemed as though it had been nothing but Hilda—Hilda—Hilda ever since she set foot over the threshold of this house. If it went on like that she felt she simply could not bear it, and there was every reason to believe that it would go on. There had hardly been a moment throughout the whole of this ghastly day that she had not been tormented by reminders of Eric's first wife.

He poured out a glass of the wine he had brought for a celebration and passed it to her.

"I don't think we'll discuss such an unlikely possibility," he said. "And I'd be grateful, my darling, if you'd do me the honor of believing in my love for you. Are you trying to punish me for what happened years before we met? Is that quite fair? I believe even a dog is allowed two bites before he is condemned."

Nell shook her head, unable to speak.

Of course it wasn't fair.

"Then let's drink a little toast to the future—our future—yours and mine. May it bring us all the joy and happiness we're going to make it our business to deserve."

Junior Deweys Take House on Astor Street

Couple Will Move from South Bend.

The Stevensons and their children will move to Lake Forest for the month of May to occupy the Chatfield-Taylor home.

Count and Countess Giulio Bolognesi, who have been spending the winter in Chicago, are leaving at the end of this week for their Wisconsin farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. are expected to arrive at home from Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., in about two weeks. Miss Gwendolyn, who returned from the ranch several weeks ago, is staying in town with her grandmother, the senior Mrs. Bowen, until her parents return to their Lake Forest home.

Mrs. Edward Hines, who is busy dismantling her apartment on Lake Shore drive plans to spend May and June with her daughter, Mrs. Howell Howard, in Dayton, O., and although she has no further plans than that, Mrs. Hines probably will summer wherever the Howards and their three children are. Ralph Hines, who has been living in town with his mother, is moving to his Lake Forest house on May 1.

Welthyan Harmon Will Stay in East Until Fall.

Miss Welthyan Harmon did not return to Chicago after a Caribbean cruise, but remained in New York with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loomis Harmon, who live in Irvington. Miss Harmon plans to remain in the east until fall at least. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Harmon, have sold their Highland Park house and are moving to the Parkway hotel this week. Later they plan to build in Winnetka.

The Harmons' elder son, Hubert, is studying in Paris and the younger one, Holbrook, has returned to Cornell, where he is majoring in architecture.

Mrs. Foster Hannaford and Miss Tayloe Hannaford will return from Europe the middle of May. Mrs. Hannaford sailed several weeks ago to join her daughter, who has been studying at the Sorbonne for some months.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson Jr. have moved from the north side to a house in Crescent place, Glencoe.

William A. Ryans Return from Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ryan have returned to their Wheaton home from a trip to the Virginia Hot Springs.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Pierce have returned to Chicago after a vacation in California. While there they visited Mrs. Pierce's brother-in-law and sister, the J. Findley Torrances, who gave a tea for the Chicagoans which also celebrated Dr. and Mrs. Pierce's wedding anniversary.

James W. Good Jr. and his bride, the former Virginia Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Foster of Lincoln, Neb., returned on Sunday from their wedding trip to Bermuda. They will live in the apartment over the garage at Mr. Good's mother's [Mrs. James W. Good's] house on Forest avenue in Evanston. Young Mr. and Mrs. Good were married April 11 in Lincoln.

James O. McKinseys Will Move Today.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. McKinsey are moving today, but that did not prevent Mrs. McKinsey from giving a luncheon and bridge party for fifty women yesterday afternoon at her home in Wheaton as a benefit for the Friendly Aid society. The McKinseys have leased the Lucius Teters' house adjoining the Knollwood club grounds, and are expecting to be out there at least a year or two.

Now that the 1935-'36 season of the Chicago Symphony orchestra is over the women's committee is starting work to secure subscribers for the 1936-'37 season. The active chairman, or chairwoman, as Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne calls herself, has called a meeting for this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the directors' room in Orchestra Hall building.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and Mrs. Clyde M. Carr are honorary chairmen of the committee. The vice chairmen are Mrs. Carl Meyer, Mrs. John Paul Welling, and Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood, and the secretary is Miss Ruth Hughes.

Board members of Grove House for Convalescents will be up bright and early tomorrow morning so as to be on hand for the opening at 9 o'clock of their annual rummage sale, which will be held at 615 Davis street, Evanston.

Learning to Keep House

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Jane Ballard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Ballard of Geneva, is one of the daughters of well known families who are learning to keep house at the School of Domestic Arts and Science.

Domestic Arts School Trains Homemakers

The women who direct the activities of the School of Domestic Arts and Science feel that the business of making a house a home is an important one, so everything pertaining to managing a household, including cooking, budgeting, scientific care of children, and sewing, is taught at the school.

Mrs. Lynden Evans is honorary president of the board of trustees and Mrs. Charles S. Williamson is active president. John S. Miller Jr. is vice president, Mrs. James B. Herrick, secretary, and Mrs. Homer W. Chandler, treasurer.

The others of the board are Mrs. Clay Baird, Alfred T. Carton, Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, Mrs. Alfred H. Gross, Miss Ruth Hagerty, Mrs. William S. Monroe, Roy C. Osgood, and Mrs. Robert G. Peck.

The school was started 35 years ago and all during the years it has had the support of many of Chicago's best known men and women. The first Mrs. Phil D. Armour gave most of the equipment for the school when it was started at 1901 Fifth avenue. Two years later the school was moved to larger quarters at State and Lake streets.

In 1908 the endowment funds were established by the bequest of Mrs. Lucretia J. Tilton and these were added to later by Mrs. Lawrence A. Carton and Mrs. Charles Dangler. In the fall of 1915 the school moved to the Tower building where new equipment was placed with the assistance of many.

In 1917 the school was selected by the first Mrs. Potter Palmer as the recipient of the memorial fund of the board of lady managers of the World's Columbian exposition, a fund amounting to $96,905.

In 1921 the Adams house at 350 Belden avenue was purchased as a permanent home for the school. The house was rebuilt and added to until by the spring of 1933 the entire school had been moved from downtown Chicago into its own Belden avenue property.

As the school grows it is necessary to make improvements in equipment and to add new buildings so with this in view the trustees are arranging a campaign for funds.

Mrs. Palmer gave as the reason for the selection her own deep conviction that education of women for homemaking was a fundamental necessity in all generations.

BY MARY MEADE.

We don't want to meddle with your breakfast pattern. No, ma'am! If your family says "fruit, eggs, bread, and coffee," no more, no less, we wouldn't dream of suggesting a change. Or if they refuse anything but "fruit, toast, and something to drink" or if they demand a breakfast cereal, cooked or packaged, or a regular rasher of bacon or lamb chops or what-they-will—we know that breakfast habits are pretty well fixed and that radical changes from the accepted pattern aren't to be welcomed.

Still it's spring. And spring often means temperamental appetites and hurried breakfasts. And all of that sums up to tell you that your regular winter breakfast menus may not have the same dependable appeal that they flaunted during cold weather.

A few spring fillips on the breakfast table [carefully fitted into the accepted menu pattern of the household] may be just the spring tonic your family needs. So why not prescribe something like this to be administered on May mornings:

First, play up the spring fruits [canned ones, too] for all they're worth. A chilled fruit juice beginning and a second fruit to be sprinkled over the cereal, folded into an omelet, or served hot with the broiled bacon or ham may be the double appeal trick that will give your breakfasts new acclaim. A strawberry or rhubarb omelet with crisp Melba toast and coffee, following a glass of chilled pineapple juice—that's a favorite at our house at this time of year. Little grilled sausages, served hot with peach halves which have been lightly heated in the sausage drippings, suggest a spring variation of a popular winter breakfast.

Winter griddle cakes [we've mentioned these before but it's worthy of repetition] pack a lot more breakfast punch at this season when they're rolled or folded around a fruit sauce filling. Canned red raspberries, sliced apricots or pears sweetened with honey make novel and tempting fillings for these spring hot cakes.

Variety in the breakfast breads—there's another point to mull over, along with the increased fruit allotment. Spread the toast with a little minced ham to accompany the eggs. Mix the butter with peanut butter, half and half, and serve the toast thus temptingly spread with crisp bacon slices.

Crisp, hard dinner rolls, hollowed out for a filling of scrambled eggs and minced ham make a simple "surprise" offering for the breakfasters. Or heat the same rolls with an inside spread of softened butter and spiced apple butter.

You may find breakfast a good time to initiate honey sweetened coffee. A tiny drizzle of honey in place of the usual sugar is an innovation that a great many people, especially men, are likely to praise.

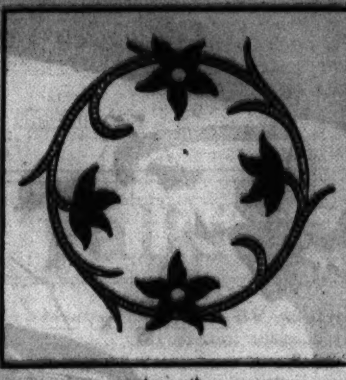
Quilt Pattern Is One of Loveliest Jonquil Designs

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Jonquils.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Of all the lovely jonquil quilt patterns, today's design is one of the most beautiful and also one of the easiest applique patterns discovered to date. The large block measures 24 inches square, and there are only 12 blocks required for an entire coverlet which measures 82 by 106 inches when completed. The squares are surrounded by a five inch border and finished with a half inch binding.

Jugo-Slav Minister Guest at Luncheon at Union League Club

Dr. Constantin Fotich, Jugo-Slav minister to the United States, was the special guest at a luncheon meeting of prominent Chicagoans yesterday at the Union League club. The luncheon was given by John R. Palandech, president of the Foregin Language Press association and two Jugo-Slav newspapers here.

Dr. Fotich said the chief aim of his country is to obtain prolonged peace for the world. The minister represented Jugo-Slavia at recent meetings of the league of nations and is one of his country's outstanding diplomats.

Rockefeller Board Gives 3 Million for Hospital for Cancer

New York, April 27.—(AP)—A $3,000,000 gift from the Rockefeller-founded general education board to build a new hospital for cancer research was announced tonight by Harry Pelham Robbins, president of the Memorial hospital for the treatment of cancer and allied diseases.

Robbins said the gift "will create in North America for the first time a modern cancer institute even more broadly organized than those already existing in Rome, Milan, and Buenos Aires."

The plot on which the hospital will be erected has been held by the Rockefeller institute. It is near the East river at 67th street. The new unit will have approximately 200 beds and complete equipment in every detail.

Memorial hospital, the announcement said, founded in 1884, is the oldest special cancer hospital in the world and "probably has the largest active cancer service in the world."

The hospital has been affiliated with the Cornell university medical college since 1913.

Talking X-Ray Movies Are Demonstrated at Engineers' Meeting

Talking X-ray motion pictures, which clearly showed the movements of the internal speech organs, were demonstrated for the first time in the United States yesterday before the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, which opened its annual convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The X-ray films were made by R. Janker, of the University of Bonn, Germany. X-ray motion pictures are expected to offer new aid in the study of medicine and surgery, the motion picture technicians said.

Homer G. Tasker, sound recording engineer for Universal Pictures, president of the society, presided. G. L. Dimmick, of the RCA Manufacturing company, Camden, N. J., described the use of ultra-violet rays to increase sound fidelity in motion pictures.

HOLLYROOD AND TINTAGEL ARE OUT OF DERBY

Indian Broom in Speedy Drill.

"Unwise to Start"

NEW YORK, April 27.—[Special.]—Hollyrood, the Hal Price Headley nominee for the Kentucky Derby, was withdrawn today by Trainer Duval Headley, who said he was disappointed over the colt's showing in the Wood Memorial last Saturday at Jamaica. Hollyrood ran last in a field of seven in the final eastern trial of Derby candidates.

Trainer Headley, nephew of the owner, said "Hollyrood's poor showing in the Wood makes it unwise to send him to the Derby."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—The big Derby train from the east rolled into Churchill Downs this afternoon and after the passengers had dropped off, the field for the 62d Derby on Saturday was complete.

The Derby colts arriving from New York were William Woodward's Granville, the Wheatley stable's Teufel, Willis Sharp Kilmer's Ned Reigh, William du Pont's Gold Seeker, and the unheralded and unsung Merry Pete, also owned by Mr. Woodward.

The easterners who came along are confident the Derby is going to a representative from between the Alleghanies and the Atlantic seaboard; for aside from this brilliant array of talent which arrived today the east also lays claim to the favorite, Brevity, owned by Joseph E. Widener, and to Bold Venture, which will run in the silks of M. L. Schwartz.

How Can They Lose? Well—

"How are they going to beat us?" eastern Derby fans asked one another.

The more outspoken westerners ventured the suggestion that it could be done easily by The Fighter, Coldstream, Banister, Bien Joli, or, in fact, by any of the other colts in western silks.

Indian Broom, the California speed sensation, didn't even wait until the easterners arrived to demonstrate that the far west also holds a powerful hand. During the training hour this morning, he streaked three-eighths of a mile in :34 1-5 under full Derby weight. It was the finest speed display of the Derby training season and Indian Broom left no doubt in anybody's mind about his being able to go out with the pacemakers in the early stages of the Derby.

There is grave doubt, however, about whether or not he will be able to continue such a clip for a mile and a quarter.

Three Definitly Out.

When Hal Price Headley's Hollyrood, C. V. Whitney's Bright Plumage, and Marshall Field's Tintagel were not included in the shipment from New York, it was definite that these colts are out of the Derby. This cut the probable starting field to 18.

One or two more may drop out after the Derby Preparation purse tomorrow. This race at a mile attracted an overnight field of nine and it promises to provide a lot more dope for the Derby pickers.

It brings together the great Detroit colt, Grand Slam, noted as a mud runner, but not rated highly in fast going, and the popular Chicago colt, The Fighter, which is here fresh from his impressive triumph in the Texas Derby. Grand Slam's stablemate, Forest Play, will be his running companion and the speedster Sangreal will run coupled in the betting with The Fighter.

Schmidt Favors Longshot.

Warren Wright's Derby hope, the royally bred Count Morse, son of Reigh Count, out of Nellie Morse, also was included in the overnight field. This will be his only test before he parades to the post for the Derby. Holl Image, still another Chicago color brearer from the barn of William Schmidt, is also another starter in tomorrow's trial. He won the Arkansas Derby at Hot Springs and finished third back of The Fighter and Rushaway in the Texas Derby. He is lightly regarded by everybody but his owner, who is confident a long shot will scamper home in Saturday's race.

The Fighter Is Favorite.

Other starters in the Derby trial will be Dnieper, which on Derby day will be a running companion of the favorite, Brevity. Mrs. Silas B. Mason's He Did and Noble Star, which hails from Coldstream farm. The latter will have to do a lot of tall and fancy running tomorrow to earn a place in the Derby as the running mate of the speedy Coldstream.

The overnight betting for the Derby trial found The Fighter as the favorite, but Grand Slam backers were numerous in the big crowd and it is possible he may be the choice at post time tomorrow. The weather was hot today and the track was lightning fast. The weather man said there was very little likelihood that

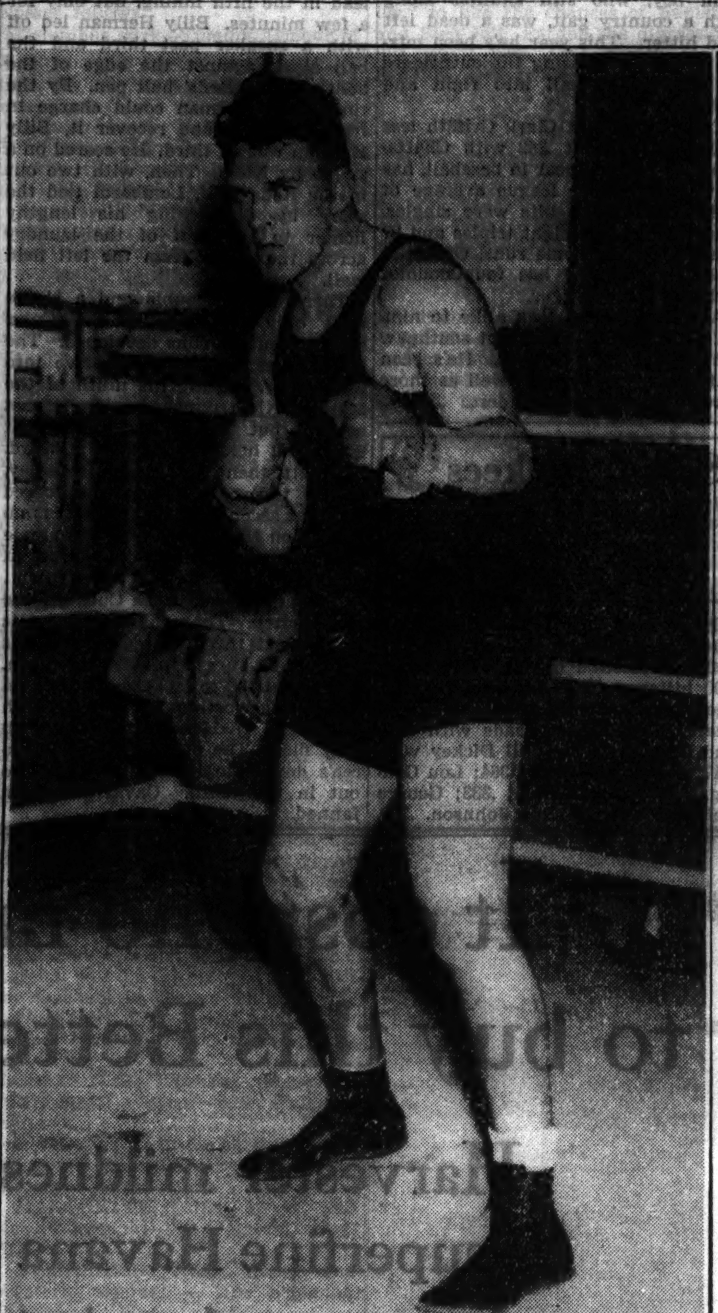
OLYMPIC HOPES WHO FIGHT HERE



Tiny Jim Brown, University of Syracuse heavyweight, who will represent the National Collegiate association in the national Golden Gloves at the International amphitheater May 7 and 8, is a leading contestant for an Olympic boxing berth, which go to the winners of the national Golden Gloves tournament.

Brooklyn says John Lasinski is already on the Olympic team. He is the National A. A. U. 175 pound representative and reminds the experts of Harry Greb.

Joe Church of Batavia, N. Y., will represent the National A. A. U. in the featherweight division. He is a puncher and in New York they say he is a cinch.

Chicago Woman Bowler Leads International Meet

Omaha, Neb., April 27.—(AP)—Beatrice Hochstadter of Chicago established herself as the outstanding performer thus far in the women's international bowling tournament here today by taking the lead in the all-events competition with a score of 1,625. This was the first day that all-events scores were tabulated.

BROOKLYN SAYS WHIP LASINSKI OR MISS BERLIN

Easterner Ready for U. S. Golden Gloves.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Brooklyn boasts that its boxers not only are good but they're tough. Right now Brooklyn is backing Johnny Lasinski, a 20 year old Polish boy, light heavyweight champion of the National A. A. U., to outlast all others in the National Golden Gloves tournament at the International Amphitheater May 7 and 8. From this meet will come the United States Olympic boxing team, and if you listen to the east Lasinski is on it.

Lasinski isn't a spectacular fighter. He follows the idea that if he keeps swinging longer than the other fellow he'll win. This was just what he did at Cleveland in the national amateur championships. He started with a victory over Carl Inman of the New England association in a bruising three round scrap. Then he outpointed John Hawthorne of Chicago's C. Y. O. by the same method, and wound up his campaign by hammering Robert Tucker of East Rockaway, N. Y., into submission.

He Keeps Pitching 'Em.

Lasinski, a tall, husky, powerful lad, kept throwing punches. For two rounds in every one of his fights he just held his own. But in the last round Johnny would step up the pace and invariably received the approval of the judges and referee.

Lasinski has been fighting for three years. For that length of time, while representing the Trinity club, he has held the light heavyweight championship of King's county.

Lasinski also has played basketball for the last two years, holding down a forward position on the Trinity club's senior championship five.

Old Rivals Here.

Lasinski will find three of his A. A. U. rivals in the National Golden Gloves May 7. These boys who qualified by reaching the semi-finals at Cleveland are Hawthorne, Tucker, and Tommy Roche, an Irish lad from Niagara university. Carl Vinciquerra, the Golden Gloves 175 pound champion from Creighton, also will lend an intercollegiate atmosphere to the Olympic trials at the International Amphitheater in addition to the boys who qualified from the national collegiate tournament at the University of Virginia last month.

Lasinski will have this advantage, or so he says. All bouts in the Golden Gloves meet will consist of three rounds of three minutes each instead of the usual two minute rounds. The longer Lasinski fights the better he goes, so tremendous is his endurance.

Collegians Are Boxers.

Ray Matulewicz, the national college light heavyweight champion from Duke university, is not a slugger, nor is Max Novich, the runner up from North Carolina. Both are fast, sharp boxers, and while the Duke fighter doesn't stand and trade punches, when he hits cleanly his

Tribune Golf School Pupils Take Second Lesson Tonight

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The second lesson of the fourth annual free golf school of THE TRIBUNE will open tonight on the courses of the Chicago park district and the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, when all of the women and girls who took the first class last weel on the grip and stance report for instruction on the middle phase of the curriculum, the pivot and backswing.

Last week's classes attracted a gathering of 26,200 men, women and children to the park and daily fee classrooms, in the face of two raw, bone chilling evenings. It was the largest single attendance in the four year history of the school, 10,000 women and girls coming out Tuesday night despite temperatures in the low 30's, while a combined class of 16,200 men and women, boys and girls, appeared for instruction by the faculty of P. G. A. professionals on Thursday night.

W-G-N to Broadcast Announcements.

This week's lesson on the pivot and backswing, with special incidental attention to the rules, etiquet and terminology of the game, will be given at the same courses on the same nights, for feminine students tonight, and for men and boys on Thursday. Early weather forecasts yesterday indicated occasional showers throughout today, but it is hoped that the elements, the one noncoöperating unit of the school, will relent at school time. Radio station W-G-N will broadcast announcements of any postponement or of the definite continuance of the school through the late afternoon hours today.

Potential pupils in the school who were stymied by last week's weather enough to cause them to miss the first lesson are still eligible to take part in the final lessons, this week and next. The P. G. A. instructors in charge at the various courses will summarize the points of the grip and stance this week as well as concentrating on the pivot and backswing.

You May Still Catch Up.

If you didn't attend last week's lessons, you will have no trouble in catching up this week and finishing the school with next week's final classes. All lessons begin promptly at 7:15 o'clock. Every pupil is asked to appear fifteen minutes before that time, if possible, in order to speed up the opening of class.

Each student this week also is asked to bring an iron club to the classes, whether attending tonight's or Thursday's lessons. If you don't own one, borrow one. This club will aid the instructors who go through the classes giving individual attention to adjust your grip or stance the better and give you practical suggestions.

Tournament Stars to Appear.

Regardless of how large the attendance at the park courses is, each student will be able to understand the teachers in charge. Each course is equipped with a platform constructed by the park district to which has been attached a loud speaker system supplied by THE TRIBUNE.

In addition to the instruction on

Golden Gloves Tickets

The amateur boxing champions of the United States will be crowned in the Golden Gloves Olympic tournament at the International Amphitheater May 7 and 8 and at Chicago Stadium May 20. Winners will represent Uncle Sam in the world games at Berlin.

Tickets are easy to buy. If you can't get to the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 S. Dearborn, or Tribune Tower, and if you don't want to order by mail, simply telephone Superior 0100 and ask for "Golden Gloves Tickets". Your seats will be held for you until you are able to pick them up.

The prices for the bouts on May 7 and 8 are 55 cents, $1.10, and $1.65. The finals, May 20, sell for 55 cents, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, and $3.30. All seats are reserved.

MINOR LEAGUES ASK BIG LEAGUE BROADCAST BAN

Landis to Weigh Plea at Meeting Today.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The prohibition of major league game broadcasts into minor league territory will be demanded today of Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball.

Contending that minor league fans listen to descriptions of major league games rather than attend contests in their own city, minor league officials protested to Landis. He called a meeting for today to which W. G. Branham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues; William Harridge, president of the American league, and members of the National association executive committee were invited.

For Some It Helps.

"Some of the minor leaguers have complained that descriptions of big league games have kept the fans away from their own parks," Landis said last night. "The minor league clubs playing night games have not objected as they figure the broadcasts stimulate interest. Those playing afternoon ball, however, strenuously object."

Harridge said the American league had no particular interest in the broadcast of games, but if broadcasts were desired there would be no objections.

Big Stations Lop Over.

Numerous powerful stations, broadcasting games from major league cities, have radio range of several hundred miles, reaching thousands of fans in minor league areas. Just what action Landis could take was not fully explained, but as high commissioner of the game he has the interests of the minor leagues to look after as well as those of the major leagues.

This is the first organized move against the broadcasts which has been made for several years.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 27.—Ernie Lombardi, the husky Italian, made two hits today to heap defeat on the Cubs in ten innings of battling with the raging Reds. The ponderous catcher whistled a homer out of the park to tie the score in the fifth and then in the tenth, after doubling off the wall, he raced home with the deciding run when Tommy Thevenow singled. The score was 5 to 4.

The loss in this rubber battle of the three game series with the Reds was charged to Lon Warneke, No. 1 man of the Cub staf, who was serving as a finisher. He went in at the start of the sixth just after the Lombardi homer had convinced Manager Charles Grimm that Larry French, his starting pitcher, needed assistance. Warneke did nobly by surrendering only one hit in the next four innings, but the pair of safeties in the tenth made his effort futile and gave the Reds a record of four out of six against the Cubs this season.

Trouble Arrives Late.

Two were out when these decisive blows were struck. The first out was accomplished on Ival Goodman's tap to Cavarretta. The next was on a wicked drive by Babe Herman, which Augie Galan gathered in after a dash into right center. Then Lombardi, who had barely missed the fence and cleared it once in four previous appearances, lashed out his double. An instant later Thevenow, who didn't get into the contest until the seventh, lined a single to center and Lombardi was over the plate far ahead of Galan's throw in.

The unhappy finish was in keeping with about everything the champions did during the afternoon. At one stage they had a three run lead. They surrendered it by blundering in the field, Jurges and Galan being the offenders. And then after scoring in the fifth and being yanked back into a tie in the same inning by the Lombardi homer they went into eclipse as hitters. In the last five innings they made only four hits off Al Hollingsworth, a lefty, who went the distance.

Cubs Get Busy.

Hollingsworth fanned W. Herman and Klein in the first inning, but the Cubs atoned for this with a couple of hits and a run in the second. Hartnett opened the scoring incident with a single which Myers knocked down. Demaree lined into Kampouris' hands and Gabby was about to be doubled off first when Kampouris dropped the ball. He then had to confine his effort to forcing Hartnett at second. Cavarretta looped a single into right center, Demaree taking third. Cavarretta was forced by Hack, Demaree scoring. Hollingsworth picked Hack off first for the third out.

Business in the third, when two Cubs scored, began with a dribbling infield single by French after one out. Galan walked. W. Herman was stopped when Handley dashed back for an over the shoulder catch of a pop foul. Klein, who isn't supposed to hit left handers, singled through second to score French. Hartnett came up with another single, this one a clean drive to left, scoring Galan. The inning ended with Demaree popping to McQuinn.

Reds Begin Rally.

The run with which the Reds began their scoring in the third inning was principally a gift from Jurges. After two were out, Jurges picked up Kampouris' grounder and threw it into the grandstand, Kampouris going to second. Alumnus Babe Herman then paid his respects to his alma mater by slapping a single to left, scoring Kampouris. The inning closed with Galan sprinting back to the fence for a long drive by Lombardi.

The Reds invited the Cubs to some

SHIKAT FILES ANSWER TO SUIT OF MATCHMAKER

Court Grants Continuance Until May 12.

Columbus, O., April 27.—(AP)—Dick Shikat, deposed champion of the wrestling heavyweights, used up about 3,000 words today in filing a federal court answer and counterclaim to the charge of Joe Alvarez, Boston matchmaker, that he had "jumped" a managerial contract.

Alvarez was not in court to hear the answer, evidently having lost interest in the proceedings since Shikat dropped his title to Ali Baba in a Detroit ring Friday night.

Only Fred Rector, counsel for Alvarez, was present, and he asked a continuance so he might obtain the deposition of Paul Bowser, Boston promoter, whom Shikat claims is one of the leaders in his prosecution.

Shikat May Wrestle.

Judge Mell G. Underwood granted a continuance to May 12 and permitted Shikat to take part in any matches he has booked up to that time. Shikat's end of the Detroit purse, however, was ordered impounded until the case is settled.

Shikat's answer denied he entered into a contract with Alvarez, and contended Bowser was to be the manager. It charged that the Bostonians had never arranged or paid him for a match, and that a promise to return to him $15,000 of a $20,000 forfeit had never been fulfilled, and it declared that he had never received 12½ per cent of the gate for any of his bouts, as called for in the contract.

The answer also declared that he was forced to put up the $20,000 forfeit to show that he would obey orders relative to winning or losing matches and stated that he was ordered by Jack Curley and Rudy Dusek of New York to lose to Danno O'Mahoney in the world title match March 2 in Madison Square Garden, but that he "crossed" them and won.

ALVAREZ NOT INTERESTED.

Boston, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—Joe Alvarez, Boston wrestling matchmaker, whose contract suit in federal court at Columbus, O., against Dick Shikat has been continued until May 12 indicated tonight he had lost all interest in the German wrestler.

"Shikat is now worthless to me from a financial standpoint," Alvarez said on his return home. "His defeat at the hands of Ali Baba removes him from the ranks of the big money getters and I think it would be a waste of time to battle for him in a court or elsewhere."

MISS WETHERED, PATTY BERG STAR IN GOLF MATCHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Northfield, England, April 27.—Patty Berg, young Minneapolis golf star, and Joyce Wethered of England stood out today in a series of exhibition charity foursome matches involving members of America's Curtis cup team and British players.

Miss Berg teamed with Enid Wilson, three times British champion, to defeat Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., and Miss Wethered, 5 and 4, in one of the matches. In a second match with Kathleen Garnham as her partner Miss Berg again was on a winning team, defeating Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews of Coral Cables, Fla., and Gwen Hartrop, 3 and 2. Miss Berg had lone putts for deuces on the third and fifteenth holes.

Miss Wethered, a former British champion and now a business woman golfer, turned in the best shots of the day, however. Teamed with Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, Tex., Miss Wethered needed only pars on the last three holes to equal the men's professional record of 70. Par for the Sandy lodge course is 73. The record is held by Abe Mitchell. Miss Wethered and Mrs. Goldthwaite defeated Glenna Collett Vare, American team captain, and Miss Wilson, 4 and 3.

Other results: Mrs. Crews and Diana Fishwick defeated Mrs. Vare and Molly Gourlay, 3 and 1; Mrs. Goldthwaite and Miss Hartrop defeated Mrs. Opal Hill, Kansas City, and Dorothy Pearson, 6 and 5; Charlotte Glutting, South Orange, N. J., and Miss Garnham defeated Mrs. Leona Cheney, Santa Monica, Cal., and Betty Dixperkins, 5 and 4; Mrs. Cheney and Miss Fishwick defeated Miss Glutting and Miss Pearson, 1 up; Miss Miley and Miss Perkins defeated Mrs. Hill and Miss Gourlay, 4 and 3.

Sox Move Plate

WITH Al Simmons no longer a member of the White Sox, work was started yesterday on moving home plate back 14 feet to its old location at Comiskey park. When the Sox acquired Simmons it was thought to be a good idea to advance the plate so that Al might benefit on his long drives. Al didn't however.

When the plate is securely anchored in place the left and right field walls will be 352 feet distant, while dead center will be 486 feet away. The infield also will be reconstructed, as will the pitcher's mound.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., April 27.—The White Sox are here to engage the Red Sox in a series of three baseball encounters starting tomorrow. In their last four games the White Sox have given their manager, James Dykes, severe headaches. But this agony has been nothing compared with the suffering during the last week of Joseph Cronin, $250,000 manager of the Red Sox. Joseph has seen his team licked twice in a row by the terrible Philadelphia Athletics and then toss off a 6 to 0 first inning lead to lose to the Yankees before a big home crowd yesterday.

Mr. Cronin's suffering has been greater than that of Dykes because Owner Tom Yawkey has been having a few victory thoughts in connection with his expenditures of $3,000,000 in building up the Red Sox. It is not believed that Owner Lou Comiskey has spent quite that much on the current White Sox.

Grove Brings Solace.

On the solace side, Cronin finds gratification in the early showing of his veteran southpaw, Mose Grove, and he knows he can expect much of Wes Ferrell, despite embarrassments in the series with the Athletics. Dykes has found little to make him happy, except the work of John Whitehead in the Detroit opener. Johnny lost two games since then.

The Chicago pitchers on several days have received wickedly ragged support. There have been days when the quantity of hitting was abundant, but rather tragically wasted, especially last Friday at Cleveland and in Saturday's game against Detroit in Chicago.

Several owners have offered to sell the Sox players better than many now on the Chicago roster. But they figure Dykes knows his outfit is curling a bit and have asked prices out of all reason. For instance, one good outfielder, appraised at about $15,000 by unbiased observers, has been quoted at $25,000 by an eastern club. The White Sox may not be as good as their sponsors may have hoped, but it is not to be expected that Owner Comiskey stands for a gouge of $10,000 on one transaction.

Stratton Hurls Today.

Regardless of these possibilities, young Monty Stratton will make his fourth start tomorrow afternoon. Then Les Tietje and Vern Kennedy are slated to pitch in that order. Whitehead, no doubt, will open the two game series against the Yankees Friday.

Though it will be the big Texan's fifth start and a try for his second victory, Whitehead has not pitched a bad game. He has been beset with some bush league work by his own infield, which should get back in stride before many more games are played.

FOOTBALL STAR SURVIVES 3 YEARS; HURT AT PICNIC

Notre Dame, Ind., April 27.—[Special.]—Bill Shakespeare, Notre Dame's left half back who completed three years of varsity football play without once taking time out, was in the campus infirmary today with an injury suffered at a picnic of students from nearby St. Mary's college for women and from Notre Dame.

While the Notre Dame boys, several of them footballers, were demonstrating to their admirers some of the intricacies of the game, Shakespeare stepped into a chuck hole and suffered a severely wrenched right leg. Several ligaments were torn and the bone was at first believed to have been broken. He will not be able to walk for several weeks, and then only with the aid of crutches.

Germany Beats Spain, 4-1, in Davis Cup Zone Play

BARCELONA, Spain, April 27.—(AP)—Germany, which already had clinched the series, split the final two singles matches of its Davis cup tennis play with Spain today. The score of the series was 4 to 1. Gottfried von Cramm, German, lost to Enrique Maier, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1, and Heiner Henkel defeated Manuel Alonso, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

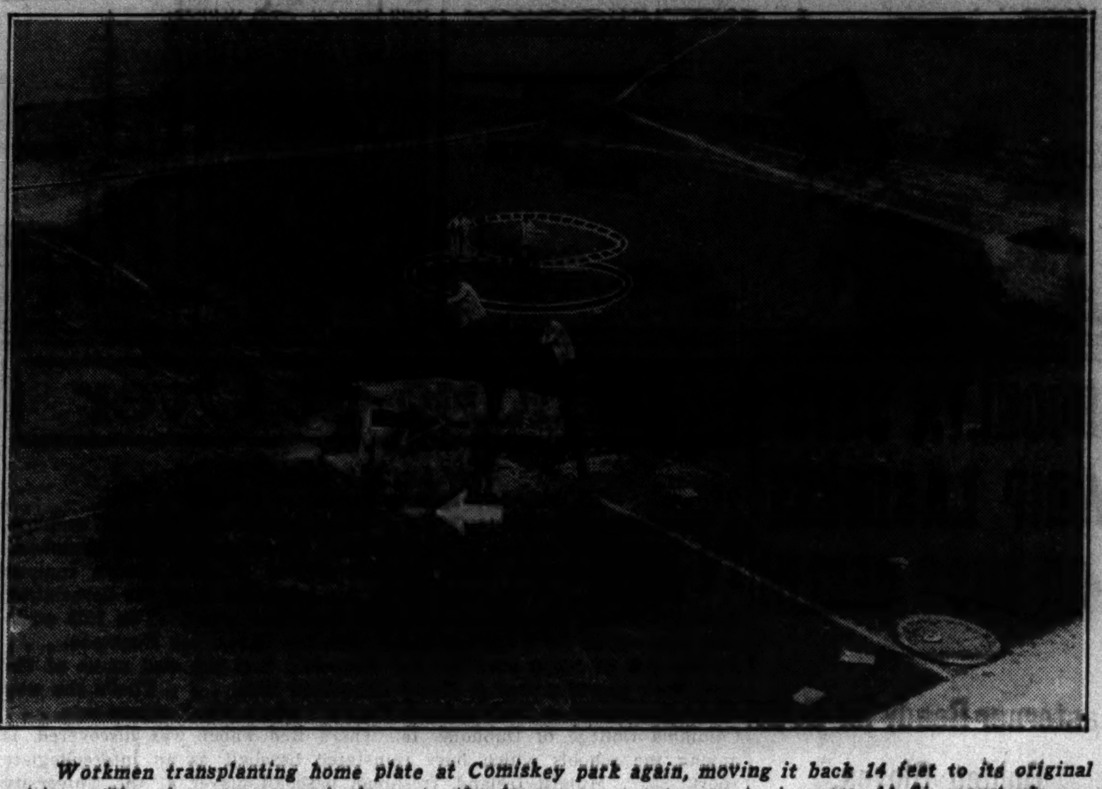
Boston, Mass., April 27.—(AP)—The state senate killed a bill today that called for immediate repeal of horse and dog racing legislation in Massachusetts.

WHITE SOX MOVE HOME PLATE AGAIN



Workmen transplanting home plate at Comiskey park again, moving it back 14 feet to its original position. The plate was moved closer to the fences two years ago to increase Al Simmons' chances of hitting home runs. Restoring the park to its original dimensions is expected to be a greater handicap to opposing batsmen than it is to the White Sox, who are not rated as long ball hitters. The black arrow indicates where the plate was moved for Simmons when he was a White Sox. The white arrow indicates where the plate is being located for Simmons now that he is a Tiger. The broken line marks the old pitcher's mound and the solid line the mound as it will be with the plate moved back. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Indians Take Pitching Duel from Browns

Cleveland, O., April 27.—(AP)—George Blaeholder's seven hit pitching and Bruce Campbell's homer in the seventh inning gave the Cleveland Indians a 2 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Browns today and kept the Indians in first place in the American league.

Cleveland was held to eight hits by Russ Van Atta, and the game was tied when Campbell drove his home run over the wall in deep right center.

The Browns came back and tied the score in the fourth on Harland Clift's triple and Rollie Hemsley's single. Then each team made only two hits in the next three innings, but one was Campbell's home run.

The victory was Cleveland's fifth in six games with the Browns and the eighth in eleven games this season.

SPORTS EXHIBIT TO BE FEATURE OF YOUTH PROGRAM

One of the most comprehensive exhibits of sport activities will be presented during the Exposition of Youth which opens Tuesday night, May 5, at the International amphitheater, and continues until Sunday night, May 10. Boxing, basketball, volley ball, wrestling, and track are listed among the major sports to be demonstrated. Outstanding stars in the city and state will participate. Badminton games, archery exhibitions, carpet bowling, table tennis and weight lifting also are listed on the program.

Each Chicago recreational agency has been given an afternoon or evening for its own demonstration, in addition to the general sport program which will be continuous during the exposition. Their schedule is as follows:

May 5—Chicago Settlements.
May 6—Boys' Clubs of Chicago.
May 7—Y. M. C. A.
May 8—Board of Education.
May 9—Catholic Youth organization.
May 10—B'nai B'rith Youth organization [afternoon]; Chicago Park district [night].

Day Finishes Mike Primich in 4th Round

Davey Day last night resumed his campaign for a lightweight championship bout with Tony Canzoneri by scoring a four round knockout over Mike [Little Pal] Primich of Indiana Harbor, Ind., at Marigold Gardens. The Chicago boxer displayed his old skill despite a layoff since November. And he needed every bit of it, for Primich handed his taller opponent a body beating in the first session and almost dropped him with a terrific right to the head in the second.

Day found the range in the third, scoring with punishing blows to the face. In the next round Primich continued his offensive to the stomach until Davey reached his chin with a crushing left hook and then followed it up with a right to the ear to end it. The time was 1 minute and 54 seconds.

Approximately 1,500 crowded into the arena to see the bout. Gross receipts were $1,202. Day weighed 137 pounds and Primich 134½.

George Dungey, Bloomington, Ind., welterweight, continued his march by registering a two round knockout over Joe Wiley.

Sammy Scoglio, Chicago, beat Wilmer Van, Green Bay, Wis., in a four round junior lightweight fight and Mickey O'Shea and Einar Hedquist, both of this city, battled four rounds to a draw.

Complete the "Hair Cycle" and HAIR LOSS STOPS says Charles Nessler

NO. You can't stop hair from falling out with Charles Nessler's PRO-KER Treatment. Nor with anything else, for that matter. Nature intends that hair should fall out; and should be constantly replaced with new healthy hair.

The trouble is, following unscientific advice, we go at the proposition backwards. We fail to help Nature replace fallen hair. In fact, we often hinder natural replacement.

LOMBARDI LEADS REDS TO VICTORY OVER CUBS, 5 TO 4

carnage in the fourth, but the champions spurned the bid. Cavarretta led off with a bounder to short and survived when Myers threw wild to McQuinn. Hack sacrificed and Jurges walked. French tried to bunt to avoid a possible double play, but wound up by popping to Kampouris. This put the matter of scoring up to Galan, but the young man's batting average suffered another shrinkage when he rolled into a force-out at second.

Call Out the Guards.

The Reds started the fourth as if they were indulging in batting practice. They were stopped on two runs, tying the score, but the foray was sufficient to send Warneke into the bull pen. Byrd's single to left began the activity. Handley singled to center and, when Galan fumbled, Byrd scored and Handley took second. Handley scored on McQuinn's single to right. Then French was able to effect a halt. Myers forced McQuinn, Hollingsworth popped out, and Cuyler bounced to Cavarretta.

The champions went back into the lead in the fifth inning, but only for a few minutes. Billy Herman led off with a sneaker past third and the ball stuck against the edge of the bench in the Reds' bull pen. By the time Babe Herman could charge in from left field and recover it, Billy Herman was on third. He scored on a single by Klein. Then, with two out in the Reds' half, Lombardi tied the score by dispatching his lengthy homer to the roof of the laundry across the street from the left field wall.

There was a double and a single with only one out in the Cubs' seventh, but no runs developed. The double was W. Herman's drive into left center, making his ninth of the season. Klein punched a single past second, but Kampouris knocked it down and held W. Herman at third. Hartnett then bounced to Handley, whose throw to Kampouris forced Klein at second and as Hartnett is no gazelle on the bases there was ample time for Kampouris to double him at first.

After the seventh the Cubs offense was limited. They got only two hits in the last three innings. One was a single by Jurges to start the ninth. Warneke tried to sacrifice, but bunted to Hollingsworth on the fly. Both Galan and W. Herman followed with easy flies. The other hit was Demaree's double to left center with two out in the tenth. Cavarretta then fanned.

$300 Senator Rookie Piles Up .389 Average

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Tab Cecil Travis, the Senators' young shortstop, as a likely contender for the American league batting championship this year.

The 22 year old infielder, doing well afield after his shift from third base, has slapped the ball at a .389 clip during the first two weeks of the year.

Not a long hitter, Travis has learned to place his hits. In his two previous years with Washington the ex-Georgia farm boy, who still shuffles along with a country gait, was a dead left field hitter. This year he's been mixing 'em up, surprising the outfielders by pulling the ball into right and right center.

Travis, who cost Clark Griffith less than $300 and hit .362 with Chattanooga in his first year in baseball, has a two year major league average of .318. Most of his hits were singles. Last year he had eight triples and 27 doubles, but no home runs. Of his 21 hits this year, he has four doubles and one three bagger.

Seven Yankees Are Hitting in .300 Percentage

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The Yankees today boasted the unusual distinction of harboring seven .300 hitters. This situation has not been matched on the club in many years. Myril Hoag leads with .428, and then there are Bill Dickey with .417; Frankie Crosetti, .364; Lou Gehrig, .362; Dixie Walker, .333; George Selkirk, .304, and Roy Johnson, .300.

Dodgers to Open Series of 3 Games at Cub Park Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., April 27.—The Cubs skipped out of here tonight for Chicago, where they open tomorrow their first lengthy at home stay of the season. The first arrivals will be the Brooklyn Dodgers, who are booked for a three game series. Bill Lee will pitch tomorrow's opener.

The Boston Bees, who start a series with the Reds tomorrow, came to town this morning and most of them turned up at the game. They registered only three victories in ten starts this season, so they probably came out with the idea that they might learn something to their advantage.

N. U. Football Practice Will End with Game

A regulation game between picked squads will wind up spring practice for Northwestern's football team at Dyche stadium Saturday. The game, which will be open to the public, will be a regulation affair. Big Ten officials will be in charge.

Coach Lynn Waldorf has divided the squad of sixty players into two evenly matched teams. A number of freshmen who will be called upon to fill a number of positions left vacant by graduation will make their first public appearance in the intrasquad game.

Four freshmen will be in the starting lineup of the White-clad team. They are Fred Flato, half back, of Corpus Christi, Tex.; Dick Wells, guard, and Bob Voights, tackle, of Evanston, and Cleo Diehl, end, of East Chicago, Ind. Among the new men who will see action on the Purple team are Jack Majors, half back, of Oak Park; Bernard Jefferson, half back, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Iggy Mesec, full back, of Waukegan, Ill., and Tom Eby, end, of Evanston.

Don Geyer and Steve Toth, who played blocking quarter on last year's team, have been shifted to full back this spring and will be rivals Saturday. Don Heap, star ball carrier last fall, will play left half for the Whites while Ollie Adelman, fleet-footed back, will be at left half for the Purple team.

HORTON SMITH LEADS PROS IN WINTER EARNINGS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Horton Smith, Oak Park professional who would have settled for a $2,000 slice of the winter golf prize money, grabbed the biggest bankroll of them all—$7,048. Enjoying his best season in the money belt since 1929-'30, Smith was so good he went far beyond his quota to work up a big edge over Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., pro, who collected $5,310, a checkup showed yesterday.

Cooper Picks Up $3,939.

In third place was Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, who brought down $3,939 between Nov. 12 and April 14.

Smith figured when he started out he would have to win $2,000 for expense money before shooting for the profits. However, the Miami-Biltmore open took care of things and started Smith working for himself. A 72 hole score of 281 won the tournament and the grand prize of $2,500.

Horton's second triumph in the Augusta national invitational tournament added $1,500, and victory in the Pasadena open was worth $1,000 to him. The rest of the bankroll was picked up in amounts ranging from $50 in the Miami four-ball tournament to $500 in the north and south open at Pinehurst, N. C.

Here's What They Received.

The professionals battled for a total of $87,674 in 26 tournaments during the winter campaign. Following Smith, Picard, and Cooper, the big winners were:

Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y., $3,611; Willie Hunter, Culver City, Cal., $3,358; Johnny Revolta, Evanston, $3,309; Ray Mangrum, Pittsburgh, $3,246; Ky Laffoon, Northmoor, $3,043; Gene Sarazen, Flushing, N. Y., $2,761; Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., $2,308; Victor Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., $2,237; Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr, $2,129; Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, Va., $2,000, and Orville White, Olympia fields, $1,507.

N. U. Golfers Rally to Beat Iowa, 13 to 8

After trailing 5 to 4 at the end of the morning round Northwestern's golf team came back in the afternoon single matches to defeat Iowa, 13 to 8, at Kildeer yesterday. It was Northwestern's fourth straight victory of the year and its second consecutive Big Ten conquest.

Despite a steady downpour, members of both teams turned in creditable scores. Capt. James Gardner of Iowa and Bill Kostilecky of Northwestern tied for medal honors, with 73s in the afternoon.

the mechanics rules, and etiquet of the game, all of this week's pupils, as was the case last week, will witness demonstrations by several of the game's leading tournament stars, who will hit shots in connection with the lectures being given by the master teachers. The schedule of professional stars who will appear at tonight's classes follows:

Columbus park—Tommy Armour of Medinah, only winner of every major title for which a professional can compete.

Diversey [Lincoln park]—Horton Smith, winner of the Masters' tournament three weeks ago for the second time in its three years.

Espinosa at Evergreen.

Evergreen—Abe Espinosa, former western open champion and a veteran exponent of group instruction who will concentrate on group teaching at Evergreen throughout the season.

Elmgate—Dick Metz of the Mill Road farm course and Tom Kelly of Sunset Valley, a tournament star and a teacher who knows how to hold the interest of a class.

In addition to the lessons this week and next, a fourth lesson summing up all the principles of the first three will be given for all pupils at a central location to be announced later.

Here's List of Courses.

The complete list of courses where lessons will be given tonight, with the teachers in charge, follows:

FEED BOX DOPE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 27.—When in Florida last winter The Wake asked Mose Cossman, betting commissioner for Col. E. R. Bradley, whether the Idle Hour farm, perennial Derby winner, had any promising candidates for this year's 62d blue grass classic. "Bet Mosie," as he is called, and for whom a noted Bradley stake winner once was named, with the conservatism of all members of the Bradley ménage, replied, "Not unless something develops between now and May 2."

Well, something has developed in the meantime, enough at least for that clientele which subscribes to the axiom "When in doubt, play Bradley," to like the chances of Banister and Bien Joli. Pardon the digression, but you'll note that names of all Bradley bred racers begin with the letter B. Both are sons of Blue Larkspur, perhaps the greatest of all Bradley horses. Blue Larkspur finished fourth to Clyde Van Dusen in 1929 over a heavy track, but reversed the result in the Arlington Classic, won the Belmont Stakes and went on the 3 year old championship of the year.

Neither Banister nor Bien Joli was outstanding as a 2 year old. In fact, Banister, supposed to be better liked by his stable than Bien Joli, is a maiden, but that means nothing in Bradley annals, as Brokers Tip was a maiden when he won the Derby of 1933. Bien Joli, racing with the topnotchers, started 14 times in his 2 year old form with three brackets, three seconds, two thirds, and six times outside the money. Both are called fast track performers for which their daddy had a preference.

What, then, has caused the public advanced appraisal of Bradley chances? First, a favorable workout by Banister on heavy going. Second, the finish of both Bien Joli and Banister in the race at seven furlongs Saturday which Brevity won but in which both of the Bradley pair were closing fast at the finish—you remember the Derby is at 1¼ miles.

Therefore we sought the Idle Hour farm's barn this morning for our daily conversation with the Derby candidates.

As we had overslept we arrived at Churchill Downs by taxicab [auditing department, please note anent expense account] after the pair had finished their morning breezes. In fact, we don't even know what they had for breakfast. Both were lolling in front of the Bradley barn clad in informal garments of the Idle Hour green and white.

Since we had heard that Banister was a bit offish and taciturn, we addressed Bien Joli with "Well, what are the Bradley chances this year?"

The son of Blue Larkspur-Bessie Alix, a good looking bay fellow, who impressed us as being of the rough and ready type, replied, "Well, what are always the chances of the Bradleys? Usually at a false price on the long side, but I don't know why. Ed—I mean the colonel—has won four Derbies, more than any other owner, yet we Idle Hour fellows usually are at pretty fair odds. Behave Yourself and Black Servant in 1921 were 9 to 1. Bubbling Over and Baggenbaggage, also an entry, were 2 to 1 in 1926. Burgoo King was 6 to 1 in 1932, and Brokers' Tip was 9 to 1 in 1933. What better than that do you want?

"This is a tough Derby. All Derbies are tough and you'd realize that yourself if you had to run it instead of just pound a typewriter on the result. Of course, Brevity is logical favorite, but I don't think he'll win, although he beat both me and Banister Saturday. Jocky Wright had to whip him to make him win, yet both Banister and I were making up ground at the end of the seven furlongs. You know the Derby is 1¼ miles.

"I understand Brevity went to Harvard, like President Roosevelt, and can say 'My fr-ien-nds' almost as effectively, but look out for us Ohio Wesleyan fellows, either Phi Psis or Phi Delts—I happen to be a Phi Psi—when it comes to a finish.

"Banny started seven times as a 2 year old with nary a bracket, one second and one third. I went out 14 times among the good ones with three wins, three seconds, and two thirds; earnings $8,425. Not very impressive, I hear you say. Well, we're 3 year olds now, trained by Dick Thompson, and we carry the Bradley Derby winning tradition. Bet as you like, that's all right with me, but don't say afterward that I didn't tell you. By the way, have you a guest card to the Pendennis club?"

"Yes," we replied; "Jack Doyle outfitted me and French."

"Nothing I can do for you then," answered Bien Joli. "I don't know whether the club was named after the whisky or the whisky was named after the club, but they're both good."

Meantime Banister had not said a word. "What do you think, Banny?" we inquired.

"Uh, huh, all Bien Joli says goes for me," replied the other son of Blue Larkspur which had been playing with a crossword puzzle during the interview.

Casting Meet a Feature of Sports Show

BY BOB BECKER.

Those who like fishing, hunting, boating and other outdoor sports will receive a preview of their favorite activities next week at the Navy Pier, where the National Boat and Sports show will be held. The show opens Sunday, and continues through the following Sunday, May 10.

Hubbard Erickson, manager of the show, reports an unusual amount of interest this year among the boat enthusiasts, entries for boat exhibits exceeding those in all previous years. Opening day has been officially designated as Yachtsmen's day.

Tribune Sponsors Contest.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE again will sponsor the casting tournament at the show. Coöperating in the contests are the Illinois Casting club, the Chicago Fly Casting club, the Lincoln Park Casting club and the National Association of Scientific Angling clubs.

The schedule of events for the tournament is as follows:

Monday, May 4—Lincoln Park Casting club events.
Tuesday, May 5—Illinois Casting club events.
Wednesday, May 6—Chicago Fly Casting club events.
Thursday, May 7—Fishermen's Casting events [casters not affiliated with any of the casting clubs].
Friday, May 8—Women casters.
Saturday afternoon, May 9—Boy and girl casters [under 16].
Saturday evening, May 9—Men's finals.
Sunday, May 10—Exhibition by champion bait and fly casters.

Silver trophies will be awarded to the winners of all events, and in some events to the winners of second and third places. Entry is free and open to every one. Those who enter the contest will be admitted without charge to the Boat and Sports show.

Everybody Eligible.

Out-of-town entrants should send their entries to this department any time before they are scheduled to compete. Casters affiliated with Chicago clubs will enter the meet through their club officers.

NEW TIRE SAVES LIVES
Gives months of extra mileage, too

MOST motorists would no more gamble on tires they knew to be unsafe, than a card gambler would "open blind" in a big poker game. And here's why. Today's high speeds generate terrific heat inside the tire. This heat causes rubber and fabric to separate. A blister forms and grows bigger and BIGGER until—sooner or later—BANG! A blow-out! If you could only realize the damage that one blow-out might cause, you'd start right in tomorrow to ride around on Goodrich Silvertowns.

Why? Because Silvertowns are the only tires built with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, a special layer of full-floating cords scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. Thus the Golden Ply keeps blisters from forming—protects you from these dangerous, high-speed blow-outs.

No extra cost

Equip your car with the safest, toughest, longest-lasting tire that money can buy. See us about a set of these Goodrich Golden Ply Silvertowns. Remember, they cost not a penny more than other standard tires!

TOLD FOR THE FIRST TIME
—the real secret of why PHILLIES is America's largest-selling cigar

For years, you men have been dissatisfied with cigars. You've switched from this brand to that brand—and with the same result . . . a bitter, biting, rasping taste. Millions of cigars thrown away in disappointment, half smoked.

Then came Bayuk PHILLIES for 5c. Smokers tried it—and in a few months made it America's largest-selling cigar. Why? Because it had rich, smooth tobacco taste all through. No bitterness—no harshness—no biting the tongue.

WHY THIS DIFFERENCE IN CIGARS?

All cigar tobaccos—in the raw—contain certain bitter oils and harsh elements If left in—you get a cigar with a bitter, biting, rasping taste. Taken out—you get a cigar that's a real pleasure to smoke . . . mild, mellow and retaining all its real tobacco taste.

Bayuk takes them out—and by a process used by no other cigar manufacturer in America. Bayuk's process begins where ordinary methods end.

This process—invented by Bayuk and covered by patent protection—more perfectly conditions tobacco for cigars than any other method known. As a result—no harshness, no bitterness, no rawness get into PHILLIES.

This picture shows an important unit in the exclusive Bayuk Process for extracting the bitter oils and harsh elements from fine cigar tobaccos. This Process—invented by Bayuk—begins where other methods leave off. It enables you to enjoy the full flavor of the fine tobaccos used in PHILLIES without any bitter, bitey, harsh taste. No other cigar manufacturer uses this process. Bayuk invites you to visit its factory to see this process in operation and what it does to the tobaccos in PHILLIES.

PROVE THIS FOR YOURSELF

Get a PHILLIES—and smoke it. Note the absence of bitterness or bitey taste—even to the last draw. You taste the pure flavor of its fine Havana and Domestic tobaccos—and nothing else.

Don't be fooled by claims! It's easy to make extravagant claims about cigars—and many are now being made. But you can't smoke claims!

FACTS—NOT CLAIMS ABOUT PHILLIES

PHILLIES' tobaccos are treated by an exclusive Bayuk process to remove rawness, harshness and bitterness. No other cigar manufacturer uses this process.

PHILLIES contains 100% fine, mild Havana and Domestic long-filler—and the finest Imported Sumatra wrapper.

PHILLIES is America's former largest-selling 10c brand reduced to 5c—not a cigar made to sell for 5c.

PHILLIES is smoked by more men than any other cigar in America—proof that it is the cigar most smokers like best.

RACE OFFICIAL APPROVES WORK DONE AT AURORA

Commission Secretary Inspects Plant.

The Illinois Racing commission's approval has been placed upon both the resurfaced racing strip and the rebuilt mutuel plant at Aurora. This was announced yesterday following an inspection of the Fox Valley race course by Secretary George Foster.

"The 30,000 yards of new soil added as a top dressing at Aurora has provided a much softer cushion," Foster said. "With fair weather and the usual amount of work the track should be in excellent condition for the opening Friday and should remain so all the way up to the Illinois Derby, May 22."

Windows in Single Line.

"The enlargement of the mutuel department by placing of the windows in the main betting ring into a single line has also been a decided improvement," Foster said. "The space beneath the stands has been more than doubled."

Other commission officials are expected to check in at Aurora today or tomorrow, in order to begin the preliminary work necessary to the opening. Oscar Bachman, the commission's representative in the mutuels, who was in conference in Chicago over the week-end with Aurora's mutuels manager, Joseph Cattarinich, is expected to spend today at Aurora with Cattarinich straightening out final details of operation.

Steward to Arrive Today.

The commission steward, Chris FitzGerald, is expected to arrive from New York today and begin the task of passing upon license applications which will occupy much of his time until the opening bugle sounds Friday. The demand for licenses is always heavier at Aurora than at any other Chicago track, because horsemen who expect to remain during the season need not renew the permits they obtain at the Fox Valley track.

The names of the three patrol judges, announced yesterday by President Robert S. Eddy at Aurora, are Tom Craven, Frank Otis, and George Swain.

Brooklyn Says Whip Lasinski or Stay Home

blows have more immediate effect than Lasinski's.

The parade of talent for May 7 insures better bouts in the preliminaries than in any other tournament ever held in Chicago. Each fight would be worthy of a place on the card of the championships at the Chicago Stadium May 20.

Tickets for the two nights at the International Amphitheater, as well as the championships, now may be purchased at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. Tickets for May 7 and 8 are priced at 55 cents, $1.10, and $1.65. For the finals the prices are 55 cents, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20, and $3.30. All seats at all shows are reserved.

Brown to Arrive Early.

Jim Brown, Syracuse university heavyweight, informed the tournament committee yesterday he would arrive several days early. Although beaten in the national collegiate tournament, one of his few reverses this year, Brown figures he can take the boys in Chicago. The trip to Germany for the Olympics is incentive enough, of course, to have the boys on edge for the preliminaries as well as the finals.

The tournament at the International Amphitheater will start each night at 7:30 o'clock. Each program will last no longer than four hours.

The ten boxers representing the Hawaiian department of the army, now on the U. S. S. Republic, will land in San Francisco Thursday and leave that night for Chicago. The team will reach here May 3. It is in charge of Lieut. Russel C. Emry, 21st infantry, and Lieut. John Lovell, Coast Artillery corps.

Division Street Y Wins Open Volleyball Title

The Division street Y. M. C. A. defeated Davenport to win the central states open volley ball championship at the Duncan Y. M. C. A. over the week-end. Division street won the deciding game of the final match, 16 to 14, after breaking even with Davenport in the first two games.

*Field. Two dollar mutuels paid: Miss Dolphin, $15.10 straight, $5.90 place, $4.40 show; Harry's Dream, $4.60 place, $3.60 show; America First, $4.90 show.

MISS DOLPHIN assumed command leaving the back stretch and had to be hustled hard nearing the finish to stall off HARRY'S DREAM. Latter rallied to punishment and was gaining strongly at the close. AMERICA FIRST closed strongly in the late stages. TIDY LADY was hurried along all the way and held on courageously. MONOLOGUE closed a good gap. FRISCO KID tired under a hard drive. OVERPLAY could not reach a forward position.

Hollyrood and Tintagel Are Out of Derby

Louisville became a carnival mad metropolis tonight as the celebration which marks Derby week began. Gay flags and bunting are flying in the downtown district. There is street dancing everywhere, and bands and orchestras are playing.

Gov. Chandler and Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson came over from Frankfort to join in the opening festivities. Chicagoans, who come to the Derby in jubilant mood and who by chance may transgress, need not worry about spending Derby week-end in the jail house. Judge John H. Brachey announced this afternoon he will conduct night court starting at 7 o'clock on Derby night "for the convenience of Derby visitors who are arrested."

BREVITY IS 8 TO 5

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The results of the races Saturday caused changes in the odds on prospective starters in the Kentucky Derby. In Tom Shaw's future book, Joseph E. Widener's Brevity, which turned in a sparkling performance in the Sophomore stake, was cut from 13 to 5 to 8 to 5. Shaw believes Brevity's price will go to even money before the end of the week and that the colt will go to the post the shortest priced favorite since Morvich won at 7 to 10 in 1932.

Because of their showing in the Wood Memorial, Granville and Teufel have become equal second choices at 8 to 1. The Bomar Stable's Grand Slam also is held at 8 to 1. Prices in Shaw's book tonight were:

Horse	Owners.	Odds.
Brevity	J. E. Widener	8 to 5
Granville	William Woodward	8 to 1
Teufel	H. C. Phipps	8 to 1
Grand Slam	Bomar Stable	8 to 1
Bold Venture	M. L. Schwartz	10 to 1
Bien Joli	E. R. Bradley	12 to 1
Coldstream	E. D. Shaffer	12 to 1
Indian Broom	Austin Taylor	15 to 1
The Fighter	Mrs. E. V. Mars	15 to 1

Merry Pete	William Woodward	60 to 1

CHAMPION BLUE RIBBONS HAVE BUSY DAYS AHEAD

Even though they won both the tournament and traveling division championships of the Classic league, Chicago's strongest bowling organization, the Pabst Blue Ribbons, are far from through with their season's chores.

On Saturday the Pabst quintet of Ernie Schanz, Eddie Zajac, Herb Freitag, Eddie Krems, and Ad Carlson will defend its championship in the central states tournament at Peoria, and a week from tomorrow will defend its title in the Illinois state meet at the Gold Coast alleys on North Clark street. After that the team will start thinking about the Kentucky Derby festival tourney at Louisville May 8 and 9 and matches May 12 at Elgin and May 14, 16 and 17 at Milwaukee.

During his career, Carlson, anchor man of the Pabsts, has shot 13 perfect games, four of which were made in the last five weeks.

JOCKY LONGDEN BANNED 10 DAYS FOR FOUL RIDE

Austin, Tex., April 27.—[Special.]—Jocky J. Longden was suspended for 10 days by the Texas racing commission today for a foul committed last Saturday in the $10,000 Centennial Exposition handicap at Arlington Downs. Longden, astride Rushaway, was charged with fouling Time Supply in the stretch turn. Rushaway finished third and Time Supply ran fourth, but was moved up to third when the officials disqualified Rushaway.

Helen Jacobs Wins First Match in Budapest Meet

BUDAPEST, April 27.—(AP)—Helen Jacobs, American champion, defeated Esther Denko of Hungary, 6-1, 6-1, in the first round of the Budapest lawn tennis tournament today. Miss Jacobs and Schreder defeated Szupka and Schummer, 6-2, 6-4 in the doubles.

BOXING BOARD MEMBERS FAIL TO HOLD MEET

Moran to Meet Mendoza at Arena Tomorrow.

Yesterday's scheduled meeting of the Illinois Athletic commission was supplanted by an impromptu affair held in the main floor lobby of the Mallers building after it was learned the assembly in the commission offices on the thirteenth floor had been postponed until next week because none of the three commissioners was able to be present.

Chairman Joe Triner was reported to be ill and Commissioner Packey McFarland of Joliet telephoned that his car broke down at Pontiac en route. The other commissioner, George Getz, is on a fishing trip in the Florida keys, from which he will return within eight days.

Moran Meets Mendoza Tomorrow.

1. That Jack Moran, Chicago middleweight, will meet Joe Mendoza, also of this city, in a six round match at Chicago arena tomorrow as scheduled and not Bud Creed at Milwaukee on that date as advertised by Promoter Billy Mitchell of the Badger Athletic club. Ernie Kulasik, north side welterweight, and Pat Murphy, Danville slugger, meet in an additional attraction at six rounds. In a previous meeting between the two March 23 Kulasik won on a foul in six rounds.

2. That the heavyweight fight card at Arcadia Gardens Thursday has been completed. Cowboy Frankie Edgren, Colorado, is matched to clash with Harry Nelson, Detroit, for eight rounds. Other contests at this distance involve Harry Thomas and Vincent Parrille, and Johnny Erjavec and Sandy McDonald. Preliminary events match Bobby Kraft with Eddie Boyle at six rounds, and Pete Malone, Smithville, Ky., with Steve Roberts, and Jack De Vashey, Chattanooga, Tenn., with Stanley Savoldi at four rounds.

Wrestling Show Goes On.

3. That the heavyweight wrestling show at the Coliseum will go on as scheduled despite the turmoil created by a lawsuit involving Dick Shikat, former champion, and Joe Alvarez, a matchmaker. Ed [Strangler] Lewis opposes Sun Jennings, and Danno O'Mahoney tackles Jim McMillen in two bouts, which feature the program Thursday.

4. That Billy Cepak, southwest side promoter, is attempting to force Izzy Gastanaga, Spanish heavyweight who knocked out Steve Dudas at New York Saturday, to fulfill a three year old contract which he holds for a bout with Jack Roper. Gastanaga is willing to go through with the original agreement, at the Arcadia arena within the next few weeks, but now Cepak wants him to fight Harry Thomas instead of Roper.

Woronick Meets Malcewicz.

5. Julius [Mephisto] Woronick, Detroit light heavyweight wrestler, will make his second appearance this week at Arcadia Gardens tomorrow against Frank Malcewicz of Utica, N. Y. A co-feature brings together John Swenski and Stan Buresch.

Ruby Keeler Scores 98 in California Women's Golf

Los Angeles, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Pretty Ruby Keeler blew up today in the qualifying round of the California women's golf tourney. Playing under her married name of Mrs. Al Jolson, the actress had a 10 on the first hole, five over par, then settled down to card a 51—47—98. Women's par for the Los Angeles Country club course is 38—41—79.

C. K. M'CLATCHY, EDITOR, LEAGUE FOE, DIES AT 77

Sacramento, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—Charles Kenny McClatchy, editor and owner of the McClatchy newspapers and noted for his opposition to America's entrance into the league of nations, died here today of pneumonia. He was 77 years old.

Mr. McClatchy was an advocate of many government reforms. He was a pioneer in the nation-wide crusade for an amendment to the constitution to provide that future amendments should be ratified only by a majority vote of all the people at the polls, regardless of states.

Mr. McClatchy was born on Nov. 1, 1858, in Sacramento. He was educated in Sacramento schools and at Santa Clara college. He owned the Sacramento Bee, the Fresno Bee, the Modesto Bee, and 5 radio stations. His father founded the Sacramento Bee.

Mr. McClatchy had been in poor health for months. He died at his country home in Carmichael.

The editor received considerable attention in 1923 as the result of a letter written him by United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, who then was a prospective candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

The senator was incensed by publication of his private letter, in which he expressed doubt that he could carry his own state because of the surrender of progressive Republicans to the old guard element in California.

SHEIL IN CHARGE OF SERVICES FOR REV. HALABURT

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, bishop of the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, will celebrate the funeral mass at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Andrew church, 3546 North Paulina street, for the Rev. Leonard J. Halaburt, assistant pastor of the church. Father Halaburt was killed in an automobile accident at Stafford, Ariz., while returning from convalescence in Queen of Angeles hospital, Los Angeles.

Bishop Sheil, who is pastor of the church, will be assisted by the Rev. William Gentleman, as deacon, and the Rev. Anthony Moran, as sub-deacon. The Rev. John McCarthy, a classmate of Father Halaburt's at the Seminary in Mundelein, will preach the sermon.

Father Halaburt was 29 years old, and was ordained four years ago by Cardinal Mundelein. He is survived by his parents, who live at 6643 Glenwood avenue, two sisters, and four brothers.

FATHER HALGAS DIES ON HOSPITAL OPERATING TABLE

The Very Rev. Msgr. Anthony Halgas, pastor of St. Casimir's church, 2226 South Whipple street, died yesterday on the operating table at Alexian Brothers hospital as physicians were preparing to operate for a renal ailment. He was 55 years old. Bishop Stanislaus Bona of Grand Island, Neb., will officiate at services in the church Friday morning. Burial will be in Resurrection cemetery.

Msgr. Halgas was born in Poland, came to this country in 1904, was ordained two years later in Detroit, and assigned as assistant pastor at St. Casimir's church.

For 11 years he was pastor of St. Andrew's church, Calumet City, and was elevated to the rank of monsignor in 1928. He was made pastor of St. Casimir's parish four years ago.

Count Stroganoff, Who Lost Claim to $200,000,000, Dies

PARIS, April 27.—(AP)—Count Nicholas Stroganoff, who claimed to be the last male representative of the famous Russian family whose forebears conquered Siberia, died yesterday. Despite the count's pretentions, the civil court at Nice last year rejected his claim to the $200,000,000 Stroganoff fortune left by Count Serge Stroganoff who died in 1923.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

When Sophie Tucker brings her band to the Terrace room of the Morrison hotel on Friday, May 8, she will face a W-G-N-Mutual microphone instead of the NBC instrument which has been there for several years. W-G-N is adding another orchestra pickup to its varied list because Al Kavelin has left the Blackstone and the room has been closed, leaving several choice spots on the station's schedule. Jack Fulton Jr., former Whiteman tenor, will assist Miss Tucker with the singing.

A couple of other changes are in the offing on W-G-N's dance schedule. Freddie Martin will wind up at the Aragon on May 8 and be supplanted by Griff Williams, a San Francisco bandsman, playing his first engagement here. Jack Hylton will finish at the Drake on Saturday, May 9. The dining room will be closed for several days for refurbishing and then Horace Heidt will return for the summer while Hylton plays several theater engagements.

Ted Weems will remain at the Palmer house for several weeks longer. Guy Lombardo will arrive there at the end of May for the summer season. Ralph Ginsburg's music from the same hostelry will continue to brighten the W-G-N schedules. Joe Sanders will continue at the Blackhawk. Kay Kyser is attracting such crowds to the Trianon that a long stay is in prospect for him.

WM. KENNISON, 81, DIES; KINSMAN OF SOLDIER OF 1776

William Kennison, 81 years old, a descendant of David Kennison, last survivor of the Boston Tea Party, whose life was closely connected with the early history of Chicago, died last night of a heart attack in his home at 609 Dole avenue.

Before coming to Chicago 20 years ago Kennison, a retired carpenter, lived at Freeport, Ill., and Denver, Colo. He was born on a farm near Monroe, Wis., after his father nad made the journey by wagon from the family home in the east.

His ancestor, David Kennison is buried in one of the few graves left in Lincoln park, which formerly was a cemetery. He served in the revolutionary and in the war of 1812, and was a veteran of the Fort Dearborn massacre, being stationed here as a soldier at that time. He died here in 1852 in his 116th year.

QUIET MOVING DAY PREDICTED BY REALTY MEN

BY AL CHASE.

While real estate men predicted yesterday May 1 will be the quietest moving day in Chicago's history, other sources indicated a slightly larger movement will occur this year than last.

Faced with another small increase in rents and with an abnormally small list of new apartments to choose from, Mr. and Mrs. John Public are renewing their leases and sitting tight, realtors said.

But Alfred E. Braun, president of the Movers' Association of Chicago, predicted a slight increase in business, compared with last year. Several moving firms, he said, already are booked to capacity.

Moving Requests Increase.

According to the Illinois Bell Telephone company, during the first 22 days of April, 11,022 requests to move telephones have been received, against 10,131 in the same period last year. This increase of 891, however, does not mean as much as the figures indicate, an official pointed out, for there are 31,293 more phones in service this year than last.

"Telephones have increased 3.7 per cent while moving orders have gained 8.7 per cent," he said.

"There'll be considerable less moving in Chicago than there has ever been before in the city's history," said Howard E. Haynie, vice president of the Chicago Real Estate board, and chairman of its renting and management division.

Report Leases Renewed.

"A majority of tenants whose leases expire May 1 are renewing them. There are few vacancies to choose from. In the one, two, three and four room suites only 1 per cent are vacant. In the larger apartments vacancies are only 3 per cent. This is considerably below a normal of from 5 to 7 per cent.

"Rents generally throughout the city will be increased from $2.50 to $5 per month in the smaller apartments. In the larger suites, where there is less demand, there may not be any increase. Most tenants are accepting the advance in small flat rents and staying where they are."

According to McKey & Poague, 85 per cent of their apartment tenants are renewing their May 1 leases. Ten per cent less are moving than did last year at this time. Small flats, it was said, would raise rents from $2.50 to $5, with no increase in the larger apartments of six and seven rooms.

Moving in loop office buildings will be abnormally small, according to George M. Tobey, secretary of the Building Managers' association of Chicago.

AGGRESSIVE BUYING LIFTS EGG PRICES; BUTTER OFF

Fairly aggressive buying of egg futures on the Mercantile exchange yesterday lifted prices ⅛ to ⅜ cent with October closing at 22¾ cents per dozen, equalling the highest level of the season. An advance of ¼ to ½ cent in the cash market, combined with favorable statistics and short covering, was responsible for the upturn in futures. Sales of the latter aggregated 64 cars.

Butter futures closed unchanged to ¾ cent lower on selling induced by a decline of ½ cent in the spot market. A total of 76,800 pounds was bought by the government for relief purposes. November closed at 26¾ cents per pound. Sales of futures were 16 cars. Prices follow:

The following is a brief outline of part of the information contained in the Offering Prospectus and the Registration Statement (including the exhibits thereto and the financial statements filed therewith), which also include important information not outlined or indicated herein, and to which reference is made. The offer of these Bonds is made only by means of the Offering Prospectus, which should be read prior to any purchase of these Bonds.

THE COMPANY: Pacific Gas and Electric Company (a California Corporation organized October 10, 1905) and certain of its subsidiaries, are principally engaged in the production (including purchase) of electric energy, the purchase of natural gas, and the transmission, distribution and sale of electric energy and natural gas throughout a large part of Northern and Central California, including the principal cities therein. The franchises (constitutional, municipal and county) and certain litigation with respect thereto are described in the Offering Prospectus to which reference is made. The electric properties include 47 hydro-electric generating plants and 10 steam electric generating plants having a total installed rated capacity of 1,637,525 horsepower, and approximately 6,000 miles of transmission lines and 29,000 miles of distribution lines. Some of the hydro-electric generating plants and parts of the works appurtenant to most of the hydro-electric generating plants are located on United States Government lands under permits or licenses. The gas properties include about 640 miles of transmission lines (including a pipe line from natural gas fields about 200 miles south of San Francisco to various points in the distribution system), about 6,800 miles of distribution lines and 15 artificial gas plants, most of which are used as stand-by plants. The Company and its subsidiaries intend to continue their present business. Mt. Shasta Power Corporation, Sierra and San Francisco Power Company, Great Western Power Company of California and certain other subsidiaries of the Company are now inactive and in process of dissolution and since December 31, 1935, substantially all of their properties have been transferred to, and their liabilities assumed by, the Company.

* On December 31, 1935, the Company was obligated by agreement with its subsidiary, Sierra and San Francisco Power Company, to pay the interest on $12,000,000 bonds of such subsidiary (of which $11,000,000 are included in this table; and $455,000 held in the treasury of the Company and $555,000 pledged under an underlying mortgage, are not included in this table).

Since December 31, 1935, in connection with the dissolution of certain subsidiaries (a) the Company has assumed $30,697,000 of the "Bonds of subsidiary companies" included in this table (including the above mentioned bonds of Sierra and San Francisco Power Company and the bonds of Great Western Power Company hereinafter mentioned), $29,446,000 of which (plus $555,000 pledged under an underlying mortgage) the Company intends to redeem out of the proceeds of this additional issue of Series H Bonds and other treasury funds, and (b) $2,744,900, par value, preferred stocks of subsidiaries (included in "Minority Interest" in this table) have been or are being retired.

On March 31, 1936, the Company issued and sold $90,000,000, Series H Bonds, the proceeds of which, with other treasury funds, are being applied to the redemption of the $84,585,000, Series E and Series F, First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds and $3,964,000 of underlying bonds. Such Series E and Series F Bonds and such underlying bonds are included in this table.

Reference is also made to Pro forma balance sheets included in the Offering Prospectus.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The estimated net proceeds to the Company from the sale of this additional issue of Series H Bonds will be $30,046,478.50 (exclusive of accrued interest, but after deducting estimated expenses in connection with such sale). Such net proceeds will be applied to the redemption on July 1, 1936, of $18,446,000* Great Western Power Company First Mortgage Five Per Cent Sinking Fund Forty Year Gold Bonds at 106% and interest, and to the redemption on August 1, 1936, of $11,555,000* Sierra and San Francisco Power Company First Mortgage 5% Forty Year Gold Bonds at 110% and interest. The additional amount required for such redemptions (principal, premium and interest) is estimated to be $2,942,231.50 and will be supplied from treasury funds.

* Said amounts do not include bonds held in treasury (which will be surrendered for cancellation) but include bonds pledged.

CONSOLIDATED EARNINGS: From the Financial Statements filed with the Registration Statement it appears that for the years 1933, 1934, and 1935 consolidated gross income, including certain gas revenues in dispute, after deduction of all operating expenses and provision for depreciation but before Federal Income tax, was respectively 2.21, 2.34, and 2.61 times the aggregate of all interest charges, amortization of bond discount and expense, and dividends on preferred stocks of subsidiaries held by the public and that, excluding the computed amounts of such gas revenues in dispute, such consolidated gross income was respectively 2.16, 2.22, and 2.46 times such charges, amortization and dividends.

SERIES H BONDS: The additional Series H Bonds, which are authorized but unissued, will be issued under the First and Refunding Mortgage of the Company and Mt. Shasta Power Corporation. The latter is in process of dissolution and has transferred its properties to the Company. The Mortgage is, in the opinion of counsel for the Company, a first lien on the properties so transferred (net depreciated value on books of Company about $34,000,000) and a junior lien on substantially all other properties of the Company and on the capital stocks of certain of its subsidiaries, subject to the liens so far as they attach, of mortgages securing various issues of underlying bonds of which $78,511,100 were outstanding in the hands of the public on April 1, 1936, including $3,694,000 bonds which have been called for redemption on June 1, 1936, and $29,446,000 of the bonds which the Company intends to redeem out of the proceeds of this additional issue of Series H Bonds and other treasury funds.

$288,426,000 First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds were outstanding in the hands of the public on April 1, 1936, including both $90,000,000 of Series H issued and sold on March 31, 1936, and $84,571,000 of the Series E and F Bonds called for redemption on June 1, 1936. The Mortgage permits the issuance of additional First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds of Series H or other series for various purposes, provided that the aggregate amount outstanding and reserved shall not exceed $500,000,000 unless and until the authorized bonded indebtedness of the Company is increased in accordance with law. All series of First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are equally secured by the lien of the Mortgage.

The Mortgage permits, without notice to the Bondholders, the release, under certain conditions, of properties covered thereby, including the capital stocks of subsidiaries pledged thereunder if the properties of such subsidiaries are conveyed to the Company and subjected to the lien of the Mortgage.

The Mortgage provides for semi-annual sinking fund payments in substance amounting to ½% of the bonded indebtedness of the Company (as defined in the Mortgage) less certain credits, chiefly payments made for sinking funds of underlying mortgages. The total sinking fund payment in 1933 was $199,983, in 1934 no payment was required or made, and in 1935 such payment was $735,525. Sinking fund moneys are applied to the purchase or redemption of First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds of such series as may be directed by the Company. The Mortgage also provides that under certain circumstances the Company shall make certain payments to a General Reserve Fund, which may be applied to various purposes, including the purchase of First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds. No payments have ever been made into the General Reserve Fund.

OTHER INFORMATION: Other information concerning the Company set forth in the Registration Statement and Offering Prospectus includes, among other things, statements concerning Boulder Dam, the Central Valley Project, competition of public agencies including certain pending or threatened condemnation proceedings, the Hetch-Hetchy power project and the plan for the purchase by San Francisco of part of the distribution system in that City, self insurance (earthquake and fire), foreign currency bonds, the Federal Public Utility Act, and the dissolution of certain subsidiaries.

UNDERWRITING: Subject to approval of counsel and to certain other terms and conditions, the Underwriters named in the Offering Prospectus have severally agreed to purchase this additional issue of Series H Bonds from the Company, for delivery and payment on or about May 4, 1936 at 100¾% or a total of $30,225,000, plus accrued interest. Such Bonds are to be offered to the public at 102¾%, or a total of $30,825,000, plus accrued interest. The underwriting discounts are 2% or a total of $600,000.

Offering Price: 102¾% and accrued interest

Further information, in particular financial statements, is contained in the Registration Statement on file with the Commission, and in the Offering Prospectus which must be furnished to each purchaser and is obtainable only from such of the undersigned as are registered dealers in securities in this State.

STOCKS TUMBLE IN WORST BREAK SINCE JULY, 1934

Roosevelt's Speech One of Factors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—Following hard on the heels of President Roosevelt's belated Jefferson day dinner speech, bear traders today enjoyed themselves immensely as stock prices tumbled in the largest break since July 26, 1934. Losses ranging from 2 to 5 points in the general list and to as much as 10 points in the more volatile issues were liberally scattered throughout the final table.

On several occasions the tape lagged minutes behind operations on the floor as the tempo of the market was accelerated on the decline. Busier than the market has been in six weeks, total transactions amounted to around 2,445,440 shares. Selling orders, it was reported, flowed into the market from all sections of the country, and the absence of bidders disheartened the weary bulls.

Selling Slackens Near Close.

Liquidation slackened somewhat in the final minutes of the session, but prices for leading issues were around their lows of the day.

A variety of reasons was advanced for the renewal of pressure on the list. According to commentators, alarm was felt in Wall street over the outcome of the French elections, with the figures showing a victory for the left. Uncertainty was displayed over the pending tax legislation in congress, accentuated by the announcement by Senator La Follette that he would fight for amendments to the corporate tax bill boosting individual income taxes and surtaxes. The Security and Exchange commission's threat to market operators in pressing investigations and nervousness over the break in wheat were other disturbing influences.

Roosevelt Policies Feared.

The President's determination to continue his policies with respect to economic reform was especially disliked by the financial community. In the opinion of some it was confirmed as strengthening the conviction that Mr. Roosevelt's economic views are mainly of the vote getting variety—more government money for the farmer, increased wages for the industrial worker, and less work all around.

Another disappointment to the bulls was the failure of the Supreme court to hand down a decision in the Guffey coal case law.

Fighting for the leadership in the decline were the "blue chip" issues and railroad shares. One recognized set of averages put the loss of the industrial group on the day at 4.88 points. According to one statistician more than 200 stocks went to new low marks for the year.

Some of Weakest Issues.

Among issues to record new lows were American Water Works, American Radiator, Baldwin preferred, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Gold Dust, Hudson Motors, Standard Oil of California, Standard Brands, A. O. Smith, and United Aircraft.

Carrier issues to lose 2 to 4 points included Atchison, Delaware and Hudson, New York Central, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, and Northern Pacific.

The widest losses of the day, ranging from 3 to 9 points, were recorded by Case Threshing, Allied Chemical, Checker Cab, Hercules Powder, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Ingersoll Rand, American Chain, Amerada Oil, Columbia Carbon, Eastman Kodak, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, Midland Steel, U. S. Gypsum, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL'S PLEA FOR 7½ MILLION RFC LOAN APPROVED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—The interstate commerce commission today approved an application of the Illinois Central railroad for an additional loan of $7,449,667 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The Illinois Central has outstanding loans of $17,755,333 from the RFC.

At the same time the commerce commission agreed to the extension of time for payment of a $2,483,333 RFC loan for a period ending not later than May 31, 1937. A decision on an application for the extension of remaining RFC loans totaling $15,272,000 maturing June 18 and Dec. 6 was deferred.

The I. C. C. found that the Illinois Central was not in need of financial reorganization and that it was reasonable to expect that on the basis of present and prospective earnings the road would be able to meet its fixed charges. On this basis the action on the loans was approved.

The application for the additional loan will be applied toward the payment July 1, 1936, of an issue of $8,000,000 of gold fifteen year 6½ per cent collateral trust bonds of the Illinois Central.

EXPECT EMPIRE, EQUITABLE BANKS TO MAKE REFUNDS

Possibility of a further repayment to depositors of the closed Empire Trust and Savings bank and a refund by the Equitable Trust company was indicated yesterday in the quarterly report of William L. O'Connell, receiver. The receiver showed total repayments to date of 15 per cent for the Equitable Trust company and indicated efforts are being made to make another 5 per cent repayment within 90 days.

No repayments have been made as yet to depositors of the closed Empire Trust and Savings bank but unless definite plans are not produced for taking the bank out of receivership a 10 per cent repayment may be made within this quarter, the report indicated. Analyzed quarterly reports covering other closed Cook county state banks will appear in the Metropolitan section of next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

Business failures in the United States for the week ended April 23 totaled 193, against 174 the previous week and 214 in the same period of 1935.

Stockholders Like Avery's Candid Talk

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Sewell L. Avery, president of Montgomery Ward & Co., disclosed yesterday that the candid discussion of company affairs at the annual stockholders' meeting had been met with a generally favorable reaction on the part of the stockholders and the public generally, as far as he could determine from reports coming to the management.

Avery's remarks at the meeting on the subject of dividend distributions, his own salary and the economic situation were generally regarded in business circles as setting a new high in frankness, and his frequent use of "damns" and "hells" created somewhat of a sensation among other corporation executives whose policy on such occasions has been to tread with extreme care on controversial topics and leave as much as possible unsaid.

Precipitates Discussion.

Sought for an interview. Avery disclosed that he purposely had cleared the proceedings of routine matters early in order that he might deliberately precipitate discussion of the salary and dividend questions. Even the "damns" and "hells," he hinted, were not entirely extemporaneous.

"I was a little bit fearful at first," he said, "that my use of strong language might be misinterpreted as expression of a 'public be damned' attitude by those who were not present at the meeting and familiar with the whole context of my remarks. Over the week-end the reactions that came to me from stockholders and others encouraged me to believe that my phrases had been received in the spirit in which they were intended.

"The discussion at the stockholders' meeting was carried out in a friendly spirit both on the part of the management and the stockholders who talked from the floor. The questions concerning company policy with respect to compensation and dividend payments were deliberately encourged by me. I have long felt that the best policy is one of frank and open discussion."

Forceful Language Necessary.

Use of forceful language, Avery said, was necessary to emphasize his point.

"I was extremely anxious," he continued, "to get across to the stockholders my firm belief in the necessity of building up sufficient surplus against emergencies before distributing a larger proportion of company earnings in dividends."

Possession of sizable reserves, he added, had been the company's life saver in the early years of the depression.

"I do not believe that any one who attended the meeting misinterpreted my attitude as belligerent. My reference to the 'damned' salary question was no loose resort to profanity on the spur of the moment. The word 'damned' was used advisedly. The salary has been frequently 'damned' in the sense of 'condemned.' My phraseology in this respect was perfectly understood by the audience and was received in the same good humored spirit as I intended."

Compared with Traylor.

In Chicago business circles Avery's method of dealing with a crowd caused many observers to compare him with the late Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank. It was Traylor who, during the mad days in early March, 1933, when depositors jammed the bank to withdraw their funds, had himself boosted onto a table in the lobby and delivered a brief but forceful speech which turned the long lines of excited depositors from the paying windows.

Traylor, it was recalled, resembled Avery in his forthright approach to controversial subjects and willingness to resort to forceful language to get across his point.

STEEL PRODUCTION ESTIMATE IS HIGHEST SINCE MAY OF 1930

Steel production in the United States this week is estimated by the American Iron and Steel institute at the highest rate since May, 1930. Operations are placed at 71.2 per cent of capacity.

The current rate compares with 70.4 per cent of capacity last week and 62 per cent a month ago. A year ago the rate was 43.1 per cent, about three-fifths of the present operating schedules.

The estimated increase in production marks the fifth consecutive weekly advance reported since the third week of March, although the rise of 0.8 of 1 per cent was considerably less than that of the preceding weeks.

Continental, First National Bank Stock Prices Weaken

Continental Illinois and First National bank stocks broke sharply yesterday in over-counter trading here. Continental dropped 8 points a share to 144 bid, 146 asked, and First National fell 7 points in bid price.

GRAINS CRASH AS RAIN FALLS IN 'DUST BOWL'

Wheat Drops 5 Cents in Kansas City.

Generous rains in the drouth area of the southwest, particularly in the so-called "dust bowl" section in southwestern Kansas and northwestern Oklahoma, sent wheat prices crashing here yesterday. Kansas City led the decline and closed 5 cents per bushel lower, the maximum recession permitted for one day under exchange regulations.

The July delivery on the Chicago Board of Trade, which represents the 1936 harvest, sold down to 86½ cents at the bottom, a drop of 4¼ cents from Saturday's finish. This compared with a high level last week of 93¾ cents. Net losses in the local market ranged from 2⅞ to 3⅞ cents, with May showing the least loss.

Rainfall Exceeds Inch.

The official weather bureau report for Kansas showed precipitation ranging up to 1.38 inches at Hanover, and the state as a whole averaged around ½ inch. Good rains were also received in the dry sections in the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles and in parts of Nebraska. The forecast indicated further precipitation was likely overnight.

All North American markets receded sharply. May wheat at Duluth closed 5 cents lower, Minneapolis dropped 3⅝ to 4⅛ cents and Winnipeg lost 1⅞ to 2 cents per bushel.

According to reports moisture received in the winter wheat belt completely changes the outlook for the new crop and will add many millions of bushels to the harvest.

Supply Figure Ignored.

Little attention was paid yesterday to routine developments, and a decrease of 2,385,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply failed to have any effect on the market. Buying of May against sales of July wheat widened the difference to 11 cents at the close, the greatest premium for the May so far this season.

Closing prices on the July delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yest.	Sat.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$0.86⅞	$0.90¾	$0.92¼
Corn	.60¼	.62	.61⅞
Oats	.26¼	.27⅛	.27⅝
Rye	.51¼	.52⅞	.53⅜

Action of corn and other grains was dominated by wheat. The former closed as much as 2 cents lower.

U. S. Will Increase Borrowing to Pay Veterans' Bonus Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today that weekly borrowings of bills would be increased by 50 million dollars for the two-fold purpose of defraying cash payments of the veterans' bonus and to provide a "comfortable" working cash balance in the face of "uncertain world conditions."

The veterans will receive their "baby" bonds in lieu of their adjusted service certificates during the last two weeks in June. The bonds are cashable on demand and Morgenthau estimated that if all were cashed the drain on the treasury would amount to approximately two billion dollars.

Will Continue Extra Borrowing.

The unusual procedure of borrowing an additional 50 millions a week on treasury bills—weekly borrowings up till now have been 50 millions—will continue "until further notice," according to Morgenthau. Instead of carrying a nine month maturity, the new bills will all fall due next Dec. 15, when they will be paid off, since they will bear no conversion privilege.

"Such a plan will lend elasticity to the borrowings of the treasury," said Morgenthau, "and will provide funds to meet every need until we are able to ascertain just how much will be required ultimately.

"At the present time we do not have enough in our tills to provide what I believe to be a comfortable margin, particularly in view of uncertain world conditions."

Refusing to amplify the latter statement, Morgenthau referred questioners to current headlines in the daily newspapers. The uncertainty mentioned by the secretary was taken to mean the Italian-Ethiopian conflict, German rearmament, and the clashes of Japanese and soviet troops on the Mongolian border.

"We feel this is the most intelligent way to do it," said Morgenthau, returning to the borrowing plan, "and will provide the leeway we need to pay every certificate presented. The cost will be almost nil since the treasury has been able to borrow all it desires on nine months' paper at less than ⅛ of 1 per cent.

"I could ask for bonds in June and overshoot the mark by getting more money than is needed for which I would have to pay more interest."

Will Borrow Still More.

Morgenthau said that the plan would not eliminate fresh borrowings on June 15. He inferred there would be a "healthy" issue on that date. At the same time an issue of $686,000,000 of 1½ per cent treasury notes falls due. It is expected holders will be offered a chance to exchange them for new notes or bonds.

The working cash balance of the treasury, according to the latest figures, is $2,068,000,000. Morgenthau, it was reported, regards a balance of between 500 millions and a billion as "comfortable."

However, daily expenditures of the government are far in excess of receipts, and the next financing period beginning June 15 is almost two months away. The daily treasury statement today showed federal expenditures tending toward $6,000,000,000 for the fiscal year, with the deficit above $2,500,000,000.

PARAMOUNT SEEKS SERVICES OF FORMER CHAIRMAN OF SEC

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Conversations looking to the affiliation of Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the securities and exchange commission, with Paramount Pictures corporation, are being carried on, it was admitted today by officers of the company.

The discussions have not yet reached the stage where a definite offer has been made to Kennedy, it was said. If he becomes affiliated with the corporation he will work in coöperation with John E. Otterson, president, it is understood.

A meeting of the directors of Paramount will be held Thursday and no announcement concerning Kennedy is expected before then. Kennedy declined today to discuss the matter. He recently devised the plan of recapitalizing Radio corporation.

NEW DEAL LAWS LIFT RAILROAD'S TAXES 2 MILLION

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad expects to pay $1,486,000 excise tax for federal retirement funds and $515,000 for taxes under the social security act this year, President H. A. Scandrett said in the pamphlet report for 1935 sent to stockholders yesterday.

The report confirmed the preliminary statement which gave the system's loss for the year as $18,008,748, an increase of $1,761,127 over the 1934 deficit.

Scandrett said passenger revenues have shown an increase. He said that in the first seven months of operation of Hiawatha, June to December, inclusive, its gross revenues averaged $3.23 per train mile. The cost of operation, including interest, depreciation, and maintenance of equipment was $1.05 per train mile, leaving the net revenue $2.18 per mile.

GENL. MOTORS' FIRST QUARTER BEST SINCE 1929

Profit Is Equal to $1.17 Per Share.

The General Motors corporation yesterday reported net income for the first three months of this year at $52,464,174, which was the largest first quarter profit since the boom year of 1929. The first quarter profit was equal to $1.17 a share on the common stock. For the first quarter of 1935 net income was $31,510,371, equal to 68 cents a share.

Net sales of the corporation, excluding inter-divisional transactions, totaled $341,306,065, compared with $246,325,357 in the corresponding 1935 period. This figure also was a record for any first quarter since 1929.

The Lion Oil Refining company reported net earnings of $107,956 after all charges but before federal taxes for the first quarter of 1936, compared with a loss of $164,930 for the corresponding 1935 period.

Net income of the recently reorganized Southern Natural Gas company amounted to $412,522 for the first quarter of 1936, equal to 74 cents per share on the class A stock. Net income for the corresponding 1935 period was $238,170.

Floods Cut Rail Earnings.

Floods in the east early this spring had an adverse effect on eastern railroad earnings in March according to reports issued yesterday. The New Haven had a bill of more than $500,000 for flood damage. The Baltimore and Ohio, while it did not specify its flood costs, reported a boost of $442,750 in maintenance of way and structures for the month over a year ago.

The New Haven had a net operating deficit of $375,934, compared with an operating income of $627,683 for March, 1935. Net operating income of the Baltimore and Ohio for March was $349,419, compared with $2,713,108 in March, 1935.

The Illinois Central reported net railway operating income of $174,989 for March, a gain of $8,378 over March, 1935.

POLITICS BLAMED BY BROKERS FOR SLUMP IN STOCKS

Margin Rules of Reserve Board Are Factor.

La Salle street brokers yesterday expressed the opinion that political influence rather than the federal reserve board's new margin requirements are responsible for curtailing activity in the stock market. They admitted, however, that the high margin of 55 per cent required for stocks purchased through brokers—on May 1 the same applies to banks—works hardship in a declining market.

Uncertainties over governmental policies, in the long run, precluding any heavy buying in the market, brokers asserted. Traders are unwilling to support the market because of the high margin requirements and the risk involved in buying heavily when another speech from high authority may bring further losses.

Debate Reserve Board Action.

The federal reserve board announced in Washington that its policy on margins was adopted for the purpose of curbing the flow of credit for speculation, while permitting free movement of funds for business enterprises.

A partner of one prominent house here pointed out that 65 per cent of recent business has been on a 100 per cent cash basis, while only 35 per cent was subject to the reserve board's margin requirement.

At another house, a partner said the ruling of the reserve board itself was part of a political move against business. No one wants to see another runaway market and the high margin requirements should be beneficial in restraining a boom market, according to one opinion.

Board Given Regulatory Power.

The securities exchange act of 1934 required the board of governors of the federal reserve system to issue regulations with respect to loans on registered securities by brokers and dealers in securities, and also authorized issuance of regulations concerning loans made by others for purchasing or carrying registered securities.

Regulation T of the reserve board, which applied to loans made by brokers and dealers, became effective Oct. 1, 1934, and called for margins of 25 to 45 per cent of market value. On Feb. 1, 1936, the maximum margin requirement was lifted from 45 to 55 per cent of market value, and on April 1 a 55 per cent minimum margin was required for stocks purchased through brokers.

On March 25 the board issued regulation U, relating to loans by banks for the purpose of purchasing or carrying stocks registered on national securities exchanges. The regulation becomes effective May 1.

SUPREME COURT FAILS TO RULE ON GUFFEY ACT

Opinions Handed Down in 12 Other Cases.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Another week of suspense over the questioned constitutionality of the Guffey coal act was produced today when the Supreme court again deferred its much awaited ruling on the law. Next Monday is now the earliest date on which a decision may be handed down.

The justices delivered twelve opinions, all unanimous, before beginning the final week of arguments prior to adjournment in early June for the summer vacation. Sixteen cases, including the Guffey act, have been argued and await decision.

Among those cases affirmed today was one in which the 1919 Illinois law placing farm produce dealers under license and bond was considered valid.

The ruling had been expected since March 31 when the court halted arguments after hearing counsel for the Hartford Accident and Indemnity company, who had attacked the 17 year old law.

Uphold Police Power of State.

The surety company had contended that the law, which required commission dealers to obtain a $10 license and post a $5,000 bond, was a burden on interstate commerce. Illinois replied it was a proper exercise of police power.

"The sole question presented," the opinion stated, "is the constitutional validity of the act as it affects the appellant's liability under its bonds. The statute is a police regulation. The business regulated is local, having its situs within the state and being conducted therein.

"The fact that the commission merchant contracts to sell, and sells, farm produce forwarded to him from points without, as well as points within the state is not enough to condemn the regulations of a business carried on within her borders."

The court indicated it would rule against the government in its efforts to bar Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago trader, from the nation's grain markets for two years. It did this by declining to hear counsel for Cutten argue against the order by the Federal Grain Futures commission. After Wendell Berge of the department of justice had argued for the government, Chief Justice Hughes told counsel for Cutten that he need not reply.

Affirm Anti-Trust Decree.

Other opinions returned were:

Affirmation of a decree by the southern New York federal District court holding the International Business Machines corporation of New York City had violated the anti-trust laws.

A ruling against the Pennsylvania and three other railroads who contended that coal mined in Pennsylvania and sold in Ohio should pay interstate freight rates instead of lower charges prescribed by the Ohio utilities commission.

The state of Idaho was upheld in its four year protest against abandonment by the Oregon Short Line Railroad company of a nine mile railroad track to the state's only coal mines.

The court dismissed the appeal of J. Harry Miles and Frank L. Moore, taxpayers of Marion county, Indiana, who had protested that the Indiana "gross income tax of 1933" violated federal and state constitutions.

Deny Rock Island Plea.

The court also refused to rule on an appeal by trustees for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad who are contesting use by the Northwestern National Bank and Trust company of Minneapolis of funds the railroad had on deposit. The funds are being used toward payment of the road's unmatured bonds held by the bank.

The tribunal granted a hearing to the Great Northern Railway company on its contention that a 1929 Washington state law, which imposed fees on the gross income of public utility companies to pay for state inspection and regulation, was invalid.

The receiver of the Austin National bank, Chicago, was allowed a hearing by the court on his claim that liability for assessments on stock in a closed national bank could be collected from an estate, even though other claims were barred by an Illinois state law. The court agreed to review a ruling by Illinois courts which denied the receiver, M. J. Pufahl, could collect the $1,200 liability on the stock from the estate of Elvira J. Parks.

Four Railroads Report Gains in Freight Trafic

Improvement in freight trafic last week over the preceding week and the corresponding period of 1935 was reported yesterday by four railroads. The Milwaukee road handled 26,412 cars, compared with 25,494 in the week ended April 18, and 22,584 last year. The North Western hauled 25,163 cars, compared with 23,887 and 22,205, respectively. The Baltimore and Ohio reported 45,761, against 44,026 and 35,315, and the Santa Fe 25,468 against 24,882 and 23,427.

FRENCH FRANC STEADY DESPITE ELECTION UPSET

Francs closed unchanged from Saturday in the New York, Paris and London markets. The New York price of 6.58⅜ cents placed the value of the dollar against francs at 100.75 cents, which still permitted profitable shipments of gold from Paris to New York, although no engagements were reported yesterday.

The stability of the franc was attributed in many quarters to the operation of control funds and it was generally predicted the franc would be subject to unsteadiness until after next Sunday's final balloting.

Trade in Exchange Normal.

Foreign exchange traders in New York, who arrived at their offices earlier than usual yesterday in anticipation of an inflow of business, due to the elections, were disappointed. The turnover was about on a par with recent sessions.

The discount on 90 day francs, however, widened to 27 points from 26 points on Saturday. This was expected in view of the uncertainties in the present situation, as the exchange funds ordinarily used to stabilize the spot franc do not operate in the futures market. Franc futures more directly reflect changes in sentiment in France.

Absence of disorders in the Sunday elections was interpreted as showing the calm view taken by Frenchmen on the present situation, although eventual devaluation is now considered more likely than before.

Dollar Gains on Pound.

In Paris the franc was equivalent to 6.58 cents, and in London the pound was equal to 75 francs. The pound was slightly lower in New York at $4.93¾, off ⅛ cent. The franc's companionate currencies in the gold bloc were unchanged to higher. Swiss francs were steady at 32.59 cents, while Dutch guilders improved 2 points to 67.85 cents.

French stocks and bonds dropped sharply yesterday on fears of what might happen to the franc. Shares of the Bank of France fell to the lowest level since immediately after the close of the world war.

The price of imported bar silver in the New York market declined ¼ of a cent to 44¾ cents an ounce. In the London market the price was unchanged at 20⅜ pence, equivalent to 45.33 cents an ounce.

The following is merely a brief outline of certain information contained in the Offering Prospectus and is subject to the more detailed statements in the Offering Prospectus and the Registration Statement, which also include important information not outlined or indicated herein. The Offering Prospectus, which must be furnished to each purchaser, should be read prior to any purchase of these Bonds.

THE COMPANY Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, organized under the laws of the State of New York on May 24, 1923, is a holding company owning or controlling directly or indirectly stocks and other securities of corporations which are engaged in the business of transportation and other related activities in the Boroughs of Brooklyn, Manhattan and Queens in the City of New York. The Company owns all of the outstanding capital stock of (a) New York Rapid Transit Corporation, which operates a system, partly owned and partly leased, of interconnected subway, open cut, and elevated lines in the Boroughs of Brooklyn, Manhattan and Queens in the City of New York, and (b) Williamsburgh Power Plant Corporation, which owns two power stations and supplies power, although not all, used by other subsidiaries of the Company. The Company and its subsidiaries also own more than a majority of the outstanding stocks of Brooklyn and Queens Transit Corporation and stock of other companies operating surface lines (both trolley and bus) and engaging in related activities in the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens.

Contract No. 4, under which the Company's subsidiary, New York Rapid Transit Corporation (which operates the system's rapid transit lines), leases certain properties from The City of New York, prescribes that the lessee shall be entitled to charge for a single fare the sum of five cents, but not more, for a continuous trip in the same general direction. Other information concerning the Company set forth in the Registration Statement and Offering Prospectus includes, among other things, statements concerning Employees' Representation Plan, New York State Unemployment Insurance and Fulton Street (Brooklyn) Elevated Line.

CAPITALIZATION AND PLEDGED COLLATERAL The following is a summary of (a) the capitalization as of March 31, 1936 of the Company, New York Rapid Transit Corporation and Williamsburgh Power Plant Corporation, respectively, adjusted to give effect to the sale and the application of the proceeds of these Bonds and transactions in connection therewith, and (b) the securities initially to be pledged to secure these Bonds.

Six months ended December 31, 1935*

Note: This summary does not purport to be complete, and should be read in conjunction with the Consolidated Profit and Loss Statement and the Consolidated Surplus Statement, appearing in the Offering Prospectus.

Balance Available for Debt Service as stated in this summary is before amortization of properties leased under Contract No. 4 and related certificates, for the respective periods amounting to approximately $500,000.00, $550,000.00, $580,000.00, and $304,000.00, and adjustments applicable to years prior to year of entry of such adjustments, and includes amounts earned on account of accumulated preferential deficits of prior years, for the respective periods amounting to $1,446,792.20, $910,561.21, $551,197.80, and $1,954.65, all as more fully set forth in the notes to said Consolidated Profit and Loss Statement.

The foregoing Summary of Earnings has been prepared or reviewed by Messrs. Niles & Niles, Certified Public Accountants, and is made on their authority as experts.

As indicated in the Offering Prospectus and subject to conditions set forth therein, the estimated combined annual debt service requirements on the $110,000,000 principal amount of these Bonds and on the $22,423,000 principal amount of underlying elevated bonds of New York Rapid Transit Corporation will be, for the year ending May 1, 1937, $7,581,230, of which $5,581,230 represents interest and $2,000,000 represents the serial maturity due May 1, 1937. In the year of estimated maximum combined debt service, i. e., the year ending May 1, 1946, such estimated combined requirements will be $8,506,480, of which $4,806,480 represents interest and $3,700,000 represents the serial maturity due May 1, 1946.

APPLICATION OF PROCEEDS The net proceeds to the Company from the sale of the Serial Bonds and the 4½% Series Bonds, which are estimated at $107,371,310, after deduction of expenses in connection therewith, will, together with general funds of the Company to the extent required, be used thus: (a) $99,922,800 to provide funds for the redemption on July 1, 1936 of $82,660,000 of the Company's Rapid Transit Six Per Cent. Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series A, at 105% and accrued interest, and $10,000,000 of the Company's Fifteen-Year Secured 6% Sinking Fund Bonds, Series A, at 103% and accrued interest, and (b) $10,488,450 to deposit with the Custodian Trustee under the Trust Indenture, subject to withdrawal for the purposes stated therein and summarized in the Offering Prospectus.

TRUST INDENTURE These Bonds will be issued under and secured by a Trust Indenture executed by the Company to City Bank Farmers Trust Company and Brooklyn Trust Company, as Trustees, under which City Bank Farmers Trust Company will act as Authenticating Trustee and Brooklyn Trust Company will act as Custodian Trustee, and will be additionally secured by a Supplemental Indenture executed by the Company to Mr. Gilbert H. Thirkield, as Individual Trustee. The Trust Indenture permits the issuance of additional 4½% Series Bonds or bonds of other series, subject to the restrictions of the Trust Indenture, which would rank, as to security, pari passu with the Serial Bonds and the 4½% Series Bonds. The aggregate principal amount of Bonds at any one time issued and outstanding under the Trust Indenture is limited to $200,000,000.

The Trust Indenture permits, under certain conditions, the substitution of pledged collateral, but does not permit any substitution for the bonds of New York Rapid Transit Corporation initially to be pledged, or any substitution other than bonds of New York Rapid Transit Corporation for the bonds of Williamsburgh Power Plant Corporation initially to be pledged. No notice is required to be given to Bondholders in connection with any such substitution, except on certain conditions. The Trust Indenture permits the withdrawal and cancellation of pledged bonds to meet sinking fund requirements for such bonds, and, within the limitations of the Trust Indenture, for other purposes, and contains other provisions concerning the pledged collateral which are summarized in the Registration Statement and Offering Prospectus. The Trust Indenture provides that, to the extent permitted, the Trust Indenture or any supplemental indenture may be modified, by the affirmative vote of the holders of two-thirds of the outstanding Bonds, or of the particular series thereof affected, at a meeting of the Bondholders.

SINKING FUND The final maturity of the Serial Bonds is May 1, 1951. The 4½% Series Bonds are subject to the operation of a cumulative sinking fund, beginning not later than November 1, 1951, designed to retire all such Bonds by maturity (assuming an average acquisition price of par).

UNIFICATION OF TRANSIT FACILITIES Discussions have been and are in progress with respect to the unification of transit facilities in the City of New York, including properties of certain subsidiaries of the Company, in which several points of substance remain to be negotiated. The memorandum of understanding, dated February 19, 1935, looking to the inclusion of the rapid transit and power facilities of subsidiaries of the Company, contemplates, subject to certain adjustments, an aggregate price therefor of $192,500,000, payable by assumption of said $22,423,000 elevated bonds, and the delivery of corporate stock of The City of New York and Board of Transit Control bonds or payment of cash, as more fully stated in the Offering Prospectus. It is contemplated that if such a unification plan is consummated these Bonds will be retired by redemption, voluntary exchange, or in some other manner.

UNDERWRITING Subject to certain terms and conditions, the Underwriters named in the Offering Prospectus have severally agreed to purchase from the Company $45,000,000 Serial Bonds at an average price of 99.7950% and $65,000,000 4½% Series Bonds at 97% or a total of $107,957,750, exclusive of accrued interest. The Serial Bonds are to be offered to the public at an average price of 101.42% and the 4½% Series Bonds at 100% or a total of $110,639,000, exclusive of accrued interest. The underwriting discounts for the Serial Bonds and the 4½% Series Bonds are 1.6250% and 3%, respectively, or a total of $2,681,250.

The Underwriters have agreed to purchase these Bonds when, as and if issued, and subject to the approval of Messrs. Cook, Nathan, Lehman & Greenman and Messrs. Chadbourne, Stanchfield & Levy, counsel for the Underwriters, and of Messrs. Mudge, Stern, Williams & Tucker, counsel for the Company. It is expected that delivery of the Bonds in temporary form, exchangeable for definitive Bonds when prepared, will be made at the office of Hayden, Stone & Co., 25 Broad Street, New York City, on or about May 1, 1936, against payment therefor in New York Clearing House funds.

Further information, in particular financial statements, is contained in the Registration Statement on file with the Commission, and in the Offering Prospectus which must be furnished to each purchaser and is obtainable only from such of the undersigned as are registered dealers in securities in this State.

POLAND BREAKS AWAY FROM GOLD BLOC IN EUROPE

Will Control Expert of All Metal and Currency.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Poland today became definitly divorced from the European gold bloc when a government decree, prohibiting the free purchase or export of gold and foreign currency, was generally interpreted in Wall street banking circles as a departure from the gold standard, a base to which the country had adhered since the stabilization of the zloty in 1927.

Under the regulations the Bank of Poland is empowered to regulate the transfer of foreign exchange for imported goods and to nationalize all foreign exchange coming into the country. The government explained the decree by saying that speculation in gold and foreign exchange in the last few months had endangered the money market at home.

Seeks to Maintain Value.

The fact that the government has decided to cope with the current situation by the exercise of controls, rather than devaluation or debasement, was considered significant in international banking circles. Today's action, bankers said, indicates that Poland is endeavoring to maintain the existing value of the zloty, thus ignoring the action taken by other governments in the last few years.

On March 30 holdings of the Bank of Poland aggregated approximately 426,700,000 zlotys, compared with 445,000,000 zlotys a month earlier. On Oct. 31 the supply of the yellow metal was 453,700,000 zlotys. This large diminution in gold within recent months is believed to have been responsible for the issuance of the decree. When the United States adjusted its gold price in 1934, however, the zloty became equivalent to $0.189938, or 5.265 zlotys being equal to $1.

Although Poland has not been generally considered a full member of the European gold bloc—France, Holland, Belgium, and Switzerland—it has held to the outskirts of that group and has been placed among the gold standard nations.

Forbid Use of Dollar.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, April 27.—Poland's second currency—the American dollar—was outlawed today when the government published a decree inaugurating currency restrictions and monopolizing deals in foreign exchanfe. Dollars, whose popularity as exchange tokens equals and in many districts surpasses that of the Polish zloty, may no longer be used in business transactions.

The population, which, according to local American authorities, now is hoarding tens of millions of dollars in bills, hereafter can only dispose of its holdings to the Bank of Poland or other authorized credit institutions.

HIDE FUTURES

NEW YORK, April 27.—[Special.]—Hide futures declined 9 to 11 points on sales of 12 lots or 480,000 lbs. Closing bids in cents per pound: June, 11.42c; September, 11.75c; December, 12.05c; March, 12.37c.

Chicago District Department Store Sales Show Big Upturn

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago yesterday reported that department store sales in March in the seventh reserve district made a sharp seasonal increase, automobile production was slightly under March of 1935, furniture bookings increased more than usual, and chain stores did not do quite as well as a year ago.

Department store sales for the district gained 21 per cent over February. Indianapolis store sales increased 41 per cent over February; Milwaukee, 28 per cent; Detroit, 17; Chicago, 17, and stores in the smaller cities, 31.

Chicago made the best showing for March in comparison with the same month a year ago, with an increase of 15 per cent. Detroit reported a small decline. Total sales for the district gained 9 per cent.

Dollar Volume Higher.

According to a report made by the department of commerce covering 349 independent stores in Chicago, there was an increase of 19 per cent in the dollar volume of retail sales—a little better showing than that in the federal reserve report. All but two kinds of businesses showed gains, the exceptions being groceries without meat departments and combination stores, both of which had 4 per cent declines.

The slight decline in March automobile production was attributed by the bank to the introduction of new passenger cars in the fall instead of early in the year. Passenger cars produced during the month for the whole country totaled 345,167 units, 52 per cent more than in February but 5 per cent under March, 1935. Truck output expanded 23 per cent over February and 17 per cent over March, 1935.

New car distribution in the middle west gained notably over February, although wholesale sales were a little under March, 1935. Sales to consumers were 7 per cent more in number and 22 per cent greater in value as compared with March, 1935.

Furniture Orders Increase.

After a larger than seasonal decline in February, furniture orders booked by manufacturers rose 39 per cent in March over the preceding month, compared with an increase of only 9 per cent in the 1927-'35 average for March. Comparisons with March, 1935, show gains of 28, 26½, and 6¼ per cent in orders, shipments, and unfilled orders respectively.

Although sales of twelve reporting chains, operating 2,729 stores, in the period expanded 4 per cent in the aggregate for March over February, they declined 1 per cent from March, 1935. The poorer showing was due to declines in sales of groceries, men's clothing, and 5 and 10 cent store chains. Gains were reported by drug, cigar, and musical instrument chains.

Retail shoe store trade improved, sales increasing 55½ per cent over the preceding month, compared with a gain in the 1926-'35 average of 48 per cent and 6 per cent over March, 1935.

NEW DEAL CROP TINKERS HURT MIDDLE WEST

South Raises Live Stock to Use Idle Land.

Middle western "corn belt" farmers are feeling to a greater extent the competition from southern farmers who ploughed up cotton lands and planted them in corn and other grains for feeding to live stock, figures made public yesterday by stockyards officials showed.

Southern farmers, who ploughed up their lands under the New Deal's program to reduce crop surpluses, are now strong competitors for feeder and stocker animals at the stockyards which they take to their own lands for feeding. Cheap labor gives the southern farmers a sharp advantage over the north.

Government inspectors at the stockyards report that shipments of thin cattle and hogs to the "cotton belt" for feeding show a far larger percentage of increase than shipments to farmers of the corn belt.

Purchases Heavier.

The east south central states in March purchased 12,802 cattle for feeding, compared with 7,587 a year ago and a four year average of 4,383. Farmers in the south Altantic area increased their purchases 105.8 per cent. Combined shipments of stockers and feeders in March to all south central states at 23,516 head compared with 18,442 a year ago and with an average of 15,452 from 1932 to 1935.

This is an increase of 52.1 per cent over the four year average, while purchases of replacement cattle to go into the north central feed lots show an increase of only 24.6 per cent compared with the average. Actual purchases for the latter section at all markets totaled 104,938 in March, compared with 101,702 in March, 1935, and with a four year average of 84,198.

Hog Buying Gains.

A similar situation confronts hog feeders of the corn belt buying replacement stock at the public markets. During March farmers in the south central states bought 6,064 hogs at the markets, compared with 4,872 in March, 1935, and with a four year average of 3,208. Increases in purchases of hogs for feeding in the various southern areas ranged from 42 to 171 per cent.

The north central states bought 18,622 hogs for feeding in March this year, against 13,836 a year ago and a four year average of 13,332. This is an increase of only 39.6 per cent over the average.

Southern cattle growers are striving to improve their herds of cattle and hogs, and according to representatives of packing houses who have built plants in the "cotton belt" in the last few months, the proportion of good live stock in the south is rapidly growing.

LAMBS AT NEW PEAK

Light receipts and sharply higher wholesale prices for lamb meat yesterday sent prices for live lambs to the highest levels in recent years at all markets in the country. Top wool lambs here reached $12.25, highest since June, 1930 and $1.85 above the low less than a month ago, while top shorn lambs at $10.35, sold highest since May, 1930, were $2 above April 2.

Packers sold dressed lamb carcasses wholesale 50 cents to $2.50 per 100 pounds higher than a week ago at the various distributing points, and were getting $4 to $5 per hundred pounds more than a year ago.

The available supply is below requirements of the trade and no severe setback in prices is anticipated. Receipts at Chicago this month are more than 100,000 head short of a year ago, and the smallest for April since 1920.

Hog Market Weakens.

The average price of hogs sank 20 cents to $10.45, lowest in four weeks, as receipts reached the heaviest volume in three months. Total arrivals at 19,000 were the largest since Jan. 30, and compared with 15,804 a week ago and 16,822 a year ago.

Trading here opened earlier as shipping orders from the east arrived an hour earlier due to the change to the eastern day light time. The market weakened as the session progressed, opening 10 cents lower and closing off 15 to 30 cents. Selected 180 to 210 pound hogs topped early at $10.85, similar kinds later going at $10.75, with the bulk of 200 to 300 pound averages selling at $10.15 to $10.70.

Cattle buyers preferred the lighter weight steers and cheaper kinds at steady to strong prices yesterday, others selling as much as 25 cents lower. This is the first time in months that light yearlings outsold medium and heavy steers.

LARD DIPS ON WEAKNESS IN OTHER COMMODITIES

Weakness in hogs, grain, and cotton seed oil was largely responsible for a decline of 5 to 12½ cents in lard futures yesterday. Final trades were at the bottom. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally 10 to 25 cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $10.90; loose, $10.35; leaf, $10.37, and clear bellies at $14 per 100 pounds. ASK I. C. C. EXTEND CHICAGO TRUCK ZONE 55 MILES

Illinois Roads Explain Requirements.

Recommendation that the Chicago commercial area include points a distance of fifty-miles from Chicago, both in Illinois and Wisconsin, was made to the interstate commerce commission in a brief filed yesterday on behalf of the Illinois Motor Truck association, which asks permission to intervene in proceedings seeking to define the limits of the Chicago zone.

The association also asked that the I. C. C. delay the exercise of its power to classify motor carriers insofar as operations within the Chicago zone are concerned pending the acquirement of more knowledge of truck operation procedure under the motor carrier act.

The brief was filed by Walter McCarron, secretary of the association, whose membership embraces 185 concerns which operate between 3,500 and 4,000 trucks.

Cite Differences.

In asking that the Chicago district embrace points within fifty-five miles, the association suggests that the requirements of the truck carriers be considered apart from those of the railroads whose sphere, it said, embraces the Chicago switching district.

The association recalled the steady growth of smaller industries in the Chicago territory extending out as far as fifty-five miles. The industries, it said, were located for one of two purposes, either to compete with their products directly in Chicago or for the purpose of being located conveniently for labor, raw materials and transportation. In either case, it added, they are financially and commercially a part of the Chicago zone.

The association asserted that the rail district was set up primarily on a basis of the capacity of the railroads to serve with a certain area. The motor carrier zone, it added, should be similarly defined, that is upon the basis of motor carriage operation, not at all upon the basis of rail operation.

Growth Limited.

"The commission knows that within recent years the growth of motor truck transportation has limited, if in many instances it has not entirely eliminated, the use of railroads for short haul service," the document says. "It is this fact more than any other that explains the failure of the rail switching area to expand more than it has."

In asking that he I. C. C. delay the classification of motor carriers in the Chicago zone, the association says that the record is still complete with respect to listing truck operators in accordance with the type of services they render. Another problem remaining to be solved, it says, is the position of truck operators and railroads in connection with the new free pickup and delivery service put into effect by the railroads.

SENATE TO PROBE PROPOSED SALE OF M. & ST. L. ROAD

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—An interstate commerce subcommittee of four senators was named today by Chairman Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], to hold hearings on a resolution asking a senate investigation of the proposed sale and dismemberment of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad.

Wheeler named Senator Shipstead [F.-L., Minn.] as chairman of the subcommittee. Other members are Benson [F.-L., Minn.], Dietrich [Dem., Ill.] and Truman [Dem., Mo.]. Shipstead said he would call the committee together soon to decide upon an opening date for the hearing.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Benson, also asks the interstate commerce committee to call Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction corporation, to explain the activity of his agency in behalf of the proposal. The RFC is creditor to roads which would buy the M. and St. L. under the plan.

REPORT SLIGHT GAIN IN RETAIL ADVERTISING

Retail advertising lineage in newspapers during the week ended April 18 was 0.4 per cent ahead of the corresponding week last year, Advertising Age reported yesterday. The comparison was based on the total volume of newspaper advertising placed by retailers in sixty-five cities.

For the year to date these newspapers carried a total of 253,661,364 lines of retail advertising, compared with 248,260,235 lines in the corresponding period last year, an increase of 2.2 per cent, the magazine said.

COMMODITY PRICES

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Associated Press weighted wholesale price index of 35 basic commodities today declined to 74.05. The previous day it was 74.21, a week ago 74.38, a month ago 74.13, a year ago 75.46. Range of recent years:

	1936.	1935.	1934.	1933.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was easier today under selling, promoted by the sharp break in the grain market. Final prices were 8 to 10 points net lower on the active positions. Sales were 46 contracts. Bleachable spot, nominal; May closed 9.21c per lb, July 9.30c, December 9.27c, October 9.09c.

RAW SILK.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—SILK—Raw: Futures closed easy, ½ to 2½ points lower. Sales, 2,110 bales. May, $1.52½; July, $1.47½; October, $1.44½ bid. Open market quotations [60 day basis]: Shanghai steam filature, 78% seriplant 20-22s, $1.½'; Canton double extra "A" 14-16s, $1.22½; Japanese special cracks double extra 81% seriplane 13-15s, $1.66.

WOOD REPORTS APRIL SALES OF SEARS RISE 14%

Tells Stockholders to Expect Bigger Profit.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—April sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. were estimated today by Gen. R. E. Wood, president, at 13 or 14 per cent ahead of sales in the same month last year.

He told stockholders at their annual meeting here that, provided the country did not "go into a nose dive," the company should make substantially better profits this year than last. The goal for sales this year is $500,000,000, he explained, but he said he did not expect that figure to be reached, although others in the organization did.

As sales run in line with farm income, Gen. Wood said sales so far this year had held at a "remarkably good level" despite the large reduction in government benefits to farmers. Of the business done, 60 per cent is retail and 40 per cent mail order.

Approve Boost in Stock.

Stockholders formally approved an increase in capital stock from 5,000,000 to 5,200,000 shares. The additional shares may be offered by action of the directors to officers and employés at $45 a share provided that not more than 30,000 shares be purchased by any one beneficiary of the plan. The stock sold today on the listed market at $63.75.

Wood said it is difficult to forecast accurately the effect of soldiers' bonus money on the company's business, but predicted a substantial temporary bulge in sales after July 1.

He said he felt the company did extremely well in the first quarter of 1936, citing the decrease in government benefit payments to farmers to $16,000,000 in that period, compared with $176,000,000 in the same months of last year. An expected increase in farm checks after May 1 should be reflected in the company's sales, he said.

Price Trends Lower.

Price trends have been slightly lower so far this year, said Wood, but this does not necessarily mean smaller profits. He said there is a tendency toward purchases of better quality goods by customers.

Answering a stockholder's question, Wood said he could not see where the federal trade commission ruling in the Goodyear Tire company case would affect Sears.

"It may simply mean that the company might have to enter into a contract with somebody else," he remarked.

Last year's directors were reëlected and Charles B. Roberts, in charge of Sears stores in Texas, was added to the board.

AMERICAN SILVER PARLEY IS URGED BY SENATOR KING

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—A resolution authorizing the President to call a conference of American nations on silver was introduced today by Senator King.

The conference would be for the purpose of "considering and devising plans to increase the use of silver for monetary and other purposes, to bring about stabilization of the price of silver, and to formulate a uniform policy for such governments with respect to silver." All Latin American countries and Canada would be invited to send representatives.

Senator King said the resolution was aimed at possible national agreements looking to the remonetization of silver. The resolution carries an appropriation of $100,000 for expenses of the conference.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—RUBBER—Crude: Futures closed barely steady, 5 to 7 points lower. May, 15.93c per lb; July, 16.05c; September, 16.15 bid. Smoked ribbed spot, 15.96c, nominal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—A selling wave which swept into the bond market today carried rails and industrial liens 1 to 5 points lower.

Jolted by severe losses in equities, bonds with stock conversion privileges bumped into heavy selling. The sharpest break was that of Studebaker 6s, off 11 to 92½.

Wide Declines Shown.

Losses running up to 6 points and more were recorded in Allegheny 5s of 1950, Allis Chalmers 4s, American Rolling Mills 4¼s, Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5s and convertible 4½s, Boston and Maine 5s, Botany Mills 6½s, Terre Haute income 5s, International Cement 4s, Lehigh Valley 5s, New Haven consolidated 4s and debenture 4s, Postal 5s, Pure Oil 4¼s, Southern Railway 6½s, and many others. One of the heaviest declines occurred in Chicago and North Western 1987 4s, which lost 6⅝.

U. S. List Steady.

A high spot in the trading was the steadiness of U. S. government obligations in the face of weakness in the corporate sector. Treasuries ended 3-32ds higher to 3-32ds lower.

Heaviest activity fell to the long term issues. Treasury 2⅞s finished off 1-32d at 101 31-32ds. The 3⅛s of 1946 at 105 29-32ds were 2-32ds higher. The 3¼s of 1941 rose 3-32ds to 108 31-32ds.

A drop in Italian bonds featured moderate activity in the foreign group. French bonds were unchanged and quiet. Little price movement was noted in other foreign issues.

Niagara Hudson Power.

Answer: Niagara Hudson Power corporation is a utility holding company. On its board of directors are members of J. P. Morgan & Co., Bonbright & Co., Inc., and United corporation.

Through operating subsidiaries it operates a completely interconnected electric system across New York state from Buffalo to Albany. Branch power lines extend north to Watertown and Ogdensburg.

The corporation has abundant cheap hydroelectric generating capacity. A large portion of output is to industrial consumers, the supplying of large quantities at low rates. These contracts call for minimum charges, which provisions help the company maintain its output and income when normal industrial takings are low.

Connections with other systems have proved beneficial by maintaining output at a fairly level rate during most of the day.

Gross operating revenues expanded again in 1935 for the third year and net income showed a gain over 1934. The earnings results for the last five years follow:

1935	$76,059,000	$4,387,000	$ .50
1934	73,567,000	4,052,000	.46
1933	69,000,000	5,778,000	.66
1932	71,806,000	9,378,000	1.07

Net income has not increased as rapidly as gross revenues because of higher taxes, rate reductions, larger sales to low rate users, and increased labor and material costs.

Niagara Hudson has no funded debt of its own, but subsidiary companies' total funded debt is $213,105,000. This has been reduced about $11,000,000 in the last two years. The company is now considering further debt refundings which may result in a saving of $2,000,000 annually. The system's structure is being simplified through consolidations of subsidiaries. In January, 1936, eight subsidiaries were merged.

Capitalization consists of 8,738,559 shares of $15 par capital stock on which no dividends have been paid since 1933.

The company operates in a rich territory that shows promise of future growth, and operating costs are comparatively low. Earnings, however, have not reacted quite satisfactorily to increase of gross revenues, due to taxes and other factors.

The company has discontinued all importation of power across state lines in the hope that this will make it an intrastate corporation and, therefore, exempt from federal jurisdiction.

COTTON DECLINES ON NEWS OF HEAVY RAINS IN TEXAS

Good rains in parts of Texas, ranging up to 3 inches in part of the Panhandle was largely responsible for a decline of 5 to 11 points in cotton futures in Chicago yesterday. Other markets lost 6 to 12 points. [A point is equal to 1-100 cents]. The rains relieved what has been regarded as the severest drouth in Texas since 1925, but were not general over the state. Spot cotton closed 6 to 15 points lower with New Orleans, 11.45 cents; Houston and Galveston, 11.50 cents, and New York at 11.77 cents per pound. Prices follow:

1936'S PARAMOUNT OPPORTUNITY

The most unusual opportunity ever offered now presents itself to a hard working, conscientious, ambitious clean-cut young man to connect himself with the F. N. I. A. A., the largest educational organization of its kind in the world. Man selected will be given thorough training and co-operation to succeed and to qualify for executive positions open from time to time in our great organization. Those who are familiar with our company know that the commission basis of remuneration assures its men excellent income. Qualified leads less than 48 hours old are furnished.

Applicants apply in person, Sherman Hotel, Room 219, Tuesday between 2 and 5 p. m. MR. J. A. MILLER.

DO YOU NEED MONEY?

A man selling our electrical unit is his own paymaster. That is why F. J. right here in Evanston has made, in cash commissions and bonuses over $1,000 to date this year of 1936. You can do the same provided you are really willing to work. No investment or deposit of any kind. We will interview applicants at Room 201, 905 Chicago-av., Evanston, Tuesday, 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Electrolux, Inc.

YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

IF YOU CAN QUALIFY, THE GOOD HUmor Corp. will give you the exclusive right to handle its famous ice cream in an established territory. Furnish all necessary equipment without cost, supply its merchandise on credit at liberal discounts, and pay practically all operating expenses. Applicants must be over 21, able to furnish at least 3 good references, neat appearing, gentlemanly, and not satisfied with earnings less than $40 per wk. Apply 1 to 3 p. m. week of April 27.

A NEW KIND OF LOAN!

If you have $5,000 to $10,000 available for a properly secured loan investment, and would like to put it into something that is a consistent, active money-maker with royalty and profit possibilities far beyond the usual interest return, we offer you something most unusual. It is entirely unlike the ordinary type of investment and the business has had an amazing growth during the last two years. Investor's principal is amortized and returned monthly from inception of investment with financial statements monthly from nationally known accountants. Royalty also payable monthly. No brokers or agents—deal direct with the principals. Will stand the test of the most searching investigation, and you have full opportunity to see the plan operate before making any decision.

Compare These Rates

This bank is one of the few companies in the country which will lend on the same rates and terms regardless of whether you borrow on a new car or a used one and so far as insurance is concerned Fire and Theft is all we require, although we strongly urge that every car owner insure himself against collision hazards. In all cases we want the insurance to be placed with the borrower's own broker or agent. Premiums may be added to the loan account, the broker paid in full, and the borrower settles up with us in monthly installments.
